Wheat harvest nearing end, moisture content still high

By KENDACE BORRY

LITITZ — With farmers estimating that the wheat harvest is now between 60 and 90 per cent done in the Lancaster Farming area, they are still calling the quality average to good and the mositure content high.

From Ephrata, Glenn Wissler reported that he thought the wheat looked pretty good, estimating that about 60 per cent of the area's crop had been harvested by Thursday night. He said moisture levels varied from about 12 to 16 per cent and reported that some farmers were getting 50 bushels per acre from their fields.

From the Marietta area in Lancaster County, J. Harold Frey noted that wheat was "just about all done". He

Rural crime assessed

By LAURIE KNOWLES
Lititz Record-Express

LITITZ — Most persons think of crime as a disease of the cities, where cars are stolen and houses are robbed, but many farmers in beautiful, supposedly crime-free rural areas are finding that that diease is spreading.

Just how quickly the crime problem is spreading is difficult to estimate. While farmers in some areas find the problem rapidly getting out of hand, area police have had a few cases to support a tremendous growth of crime in rural areas.

The reason is simple, according toTony Dobrosky, of the York County Extension Office. He considers that farm crimes like stolen equipment parts and vandalism to have much higher incidences than are ever reported to the police.

"The farmer knows what's happening, but what can he do?" he explained. "He doesn't think the police can do much about it after the fact, and for the most part, he's right."

Farm Safety Week declared

WASHINGTON, D.C. — President Jimmy Carter, in a special proclamation, has designated July 25 to 31 as National Farm Safety Week in America. The theme for this year's observance, "Manage to prevent Farm and Ranch Accidents," marks the 35th annual observance of National Farm Safety Week.

Sponsored jointly by the National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the observance emphasizes the need for farm safety as a means of reducing costly accidents that hamper agricultural productivity and cause great personal loss to thousands of farm families annually.

"All Americans, and a sizeable portion of the rest of the world's people, depend upon American agriculture for much of their food and fiber," the President noted in his proclamation.

"Anything that diminishes the ability of farmers and ranchers to meet these vital needs is of great concern."

"Farm safety leaders believe that most farm accidents could be prevented with greater care in con-

Lehigh County 4-H'ers win regional livestock judging event

NEW TRIPOLI — Seventy 4-H Club members from eight southeastern Pennsylvania counties competed near here this week in a livestock judging contest featuring beef cattle, swine and sheep. When the scores were tallied, two Lehigh County girls were the top individual winners and their county came out on top in both junior and senior team divisions.

Gail Snyder, 18, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Snyder,New Tripoli R1, and the reigning queen of the Pennsylvania Hereford Breeders Association, was the top individual in the senior division, collecting 385 out of a possible 400 points.

In the junior division, top individual honors belonged to Jane Sikorski, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sikorski of Emmaus R2. She spearheaded the county team with 272 points out of a possible 300.

Held at the Carl Snyder farm, here, the contest was organized by New Tripoli

Lanc. 4-H picks top stitchers

By JOANNE SPAHR

LANCASTER — The largest showing of seamstresses in over three years turned out to have a close encounter with fashion competition on Thursday when 110 Lancaster County 4-H stitchers took part in the that county's Fashion Revue. The climax to a Summer's-worth of work, this year's revue theme was "Fashion Encounter", a take-off from the currently popular movie, "Close Encounters of the Third Kind."

Out of the 110 girls who participated, only 18 were selected for special recognition. Eight senior seamstresses and several juniors will now go on to regional competition which is set for the Farm and Home Center this Thursday.

For many of the award-winning seamstesses, this

HUBBARD WHITE MT BROILERS

From mother to market, we formulate feeds and feeding programs with your profit in mind.

Does pork production represent a sizeable part of your income? Are you ready to devote an hour or so of your time planning for a more profitable future?

If your answer to both questions is yes, you owe it to yourself to read what we have to say.

Unlike many other feed companies, we develop feeding and management programs for each individual operation.

It all starts with a Pennfield man reviewing your operation with you. Your goals. Your records. Whether you farrow and finish your own pigs or buy feeder pigs. Your management practices The health and overall condition of your herd. And other factors that have an effect on your profit potential.

With the aid of computers, we then design programs that can improve your profits by reducing expenses, improving performance, or both.

For example, many producers who switched from a competitive program to a Pennfield program have cut their feed costs and their hogs go to market sooner. In effect, the Pennfield program is putting more money in their pockets.

There is no cost—or obligation—for this unique service. But you must take the first step by writing or phoning us. Do it today.

Purina Bio-Mittent Lighting Program

Early poultry experimental results indicated that layers did not have to have a constant or continuous amount of light during the light hours. It was demonstrated that if the lights were programmed in certain specific patterns, nearly equal production rates to a constant lighting program could be achieved.

The challenge to Purina researchers was to develop an intermittent lighting program that not only would give equal production rates, but would also improve feed efficiency. After four years of testing and modification, the Purina Bio-Mittent lighting program is now ready for both pullets and layers.

Tests show that Bio-Mittent lighting provides equal production rates to that acheived with a normal constant day length. However, in addition it can provide certain economics in electrical savings and feed efficiency. These are improvements that cannot be achieved on a program of constant daylight but are possible to have when the Bio-Mittent lighting program is used.

BBC and MF combined for good PR

Agriculture put before public's eye

Agribusiness can and does speak for farmers, thereby providing them with a public relations service which the farmers are reluctant to undertake on their own

Whether it's a full-page newspaper ad designed to stimulate public awareness of the importance of agriculture, a bumper sticker, or television documentary, a number of our most important agribusinesses are spending significant sums of money in order to tell the profound story of American agriculture

This week, for example, the Massey-Ferguson people presented an outstanding one-hour program on the nation's wheat harvest It was a "farmer's story," but it was one which any viewer should have found fascinating Produced by the British Broadcasting Corporation, and directed by Tim Slessor (who won acclaim as one of the producers of the Alistair Cooke series on America), Massey-Ferguson purchased the television rights for North America and is showing the documentary all over the continent

Granted, the Massey-Ferguson people hope to make points for themselves - as they should - but at the same time they are telling an important story which generally doesn't get told The beneficiaries of such public relations efforts are not just the stockholders of M-F The farmer is a better understood individual as a result of such campaigns, and the consuming public is more informed That's important

Entitled "Yellow Trail from Texas," the Massey-Ferguson sponsored program aired locally on Wednesday, 7 p m , over Channel 8, Lancaster It followed the NBC Nightly News program, which could mean that the viewing audience may have been very sizable

According to Massey-Ferguson's general marketing communications manager, Bill Kelsey, this week marked the second time that the program was shown on Canadian and U S television stations

For those who missed seeing it, a brief summary might be in order

Following a suggestion from Massey-Ferguson, the BBC sent a filming crew to the nation's wheat belt in 1975 They stayed for the duration of the season, following the combines from Texas to Canada Their mission was to tell of a harvest, its world-wide significance, the people involved, the problems and triumphs The BBC retained full control of the project, says Kelsey

Artistically filmed and presented, the documentary was a thrill to see After all, how many of us have had the opportunity to follow the annual combine trek in real life?

Brilliantly colorful scenes of sunrises and sunsets were shown as the giant machines paddled their way across oceans of wheat The scenes were inspiring, especially when one considers the special patriotic sound effects later in the program It was truly a joy to see the show and the Massey Ferguson people, as well as the BBC filming crews and producers, deserve a hearty applause

Dale Starks, a custom combine operator from Manchester, Okla , is the man the BBC followed from Texas to Canada Although it would be impossible to tell the complete story of the harvest in a one-hour show, the BBC people tried to include as much as possible

Also included in the show was a bit of history on how the nation's Great Plains came to be the breadbasket of the world A few more short minutes described the evolution of the combine, noting that the old Massey-Harris Company produced the first successful self-propelled combine in 1938 The innovation was such that the U S government made a special allocation of steel to the company during World War II so that more combines could be made

This editorial is not intended to endorse any particular brand of farm machinery But it is intended to point out and applaud the efforts that are being made by agribusiness for the good of American agriculture

Farmers oftentimes have a weak voice and their story isn't well known

Massey-Ferguson is by no means the only company which is concerned and involved with good public relations for the farmer It is true of most any company and their efforts should not go by unnoticed or without a special thank-you

All of us, especially farmers, should be grateful for the important words so many agribusinesses have to say on the farmer's behalf It is obvious that business, particularly agribusiness, is aware of the fact that farmers are the very keystone of our economy

TO BE ASHAMED OF THISTLE CONTROL

The local press has given considerable exposure to the presence of Canada Thistles during the past week; this noxious weed has matured and the seeds are blowing over most of the county

There's little doubt that all land owners are guilty of not making a special effort to reduce the thistle population I'm aware of a number of farmers that fail to prevent thistles from going to seed; also, I'm sure that the highway system needs to do a better job on their right-of-ways. Finally, why doesn't every farmer and land owner decide to prevent all thistles from maturing next year; it can be done by mowing or spraying with a weed killer. Why tolerate such a nuisance?

TO RECONGIZE THE VALUE OF FARM AND HOME SAFETY

The week of July 25 to July 31 has been declared National Farm Safety Week As in former years, this means very little to most of us because we feel that we are careful and accidents will not happen to us.

However, this is not always true; they can happen to any of us. We suggest that the above week be a time when all farmers and home-makers evaluate their daily practices and eliminate careless habits and hazards. Farm machinery has replaced the bull as the main causes of accidents in this country; I should say the operators of the machinery - not the machinery itself.

Most equipment carries the manufacturer's directions for safe performance. We urge everyone to take time to live and work safely. It could save your own life, or the life of a loved one.

TO PRACTICE GOOD MANAGEMENT

There's little doubt that good farm management is the key to success in today's agriculture. A farmer must manage his business, family, labor, and finances. All are important to succes. Also, he must pay attention to his non-farm neighbors; they may be of little help to him in his business, but they can cause a lot of problems when poor management is evident.

We are referring to the proper handling of livestock and poultry waste; this seems to be the area where many non-farm people can cause trouble. We urge all producers to be very careful in handling this waste to keep both air and water pollution to a minimum. An operation that included the very best methods of production and sanitation should

SOMETHING MUST GO!

Lesson for July 23, 1978

Background Scripture:
Acts 18 18 - 19:41
Devotional Reading:
2 Corinthians 10:3-8

Something would have to go! There could be no doubt about that. Christianity was bad for business and there seemed to be no ground for compromise.

The setting for the above scenario was Ephesus a free city on the Aegean coast of what is today the nation of Turkey. The "business" was that of making miniature silver shrines of the goddess Artemis, the patroness of the Ephesians who had built her a temple that was one of the seven wonders of the world The business was apparently a thriving enterprise among the silversmiths of that city

The Way

The "Christianity" that was "bad for business" was missionary enterprise of the Apostle Paul and Silas and the growing faith was known to many as simply "The Way." Wherever Paul and Silas went preaching and teaching the Good News of Jesus Christ there was ferment, upheaval and opposition. Luke seems to understand it somewhat in Acts 19:23 when he says: "About that time there arose no little stir concerning the Way " To be sure, with riots, imprisonment, beatings and organized opposition it can safely be said that "there was no little stir"!

The spokesman for the silversmiths of Ephesus was a man known to us as Demetrius. Although he was obviously an enemy of the Way, one can't help but respect him as an honest and forthright opponent. He "tells it as it is." Instead of appealing to their Patriotism, their religious sensibilities, Demetrius frankly states the real reason for their common concern: "Men, you know that from this business (of making silver shrines of Artemis) we have our wealth" (19:25).

There is no beating around the bush, Demetrius says plainly that Paul and his mission are threatening their business. It is not a matter of Artemis being in danger, but their pocketbooks.

Handmade Gods

Although Paul has probably not attacked the silversmiths by name, he has greatly hurt their business with his preaching and teaching against idols and the assertion that "gods made with hands are not gods" (19:26). This subversive religious teaching threatens, not only the silversmiths of Ephesus but the whole economy, much of which was dependent upon the heavy tourist and pilgrim traffic to Ephesus to see the great temple of Artemis.

Demetrius made a logical appeal to the silversmiths, but it was with their emotions that they answered, "Great is Artemis of the Ephesians!" It was the first century equivalent of "Hooray for our side" or "My country, right or wrong - my country!"

Demetrius was quite correct in his estimate of the situation. Sometimes Christianity is bad for business if that business is dependent upon something that is evil, false or harmful. Often, when the Gospel collides with our culture, something must go!

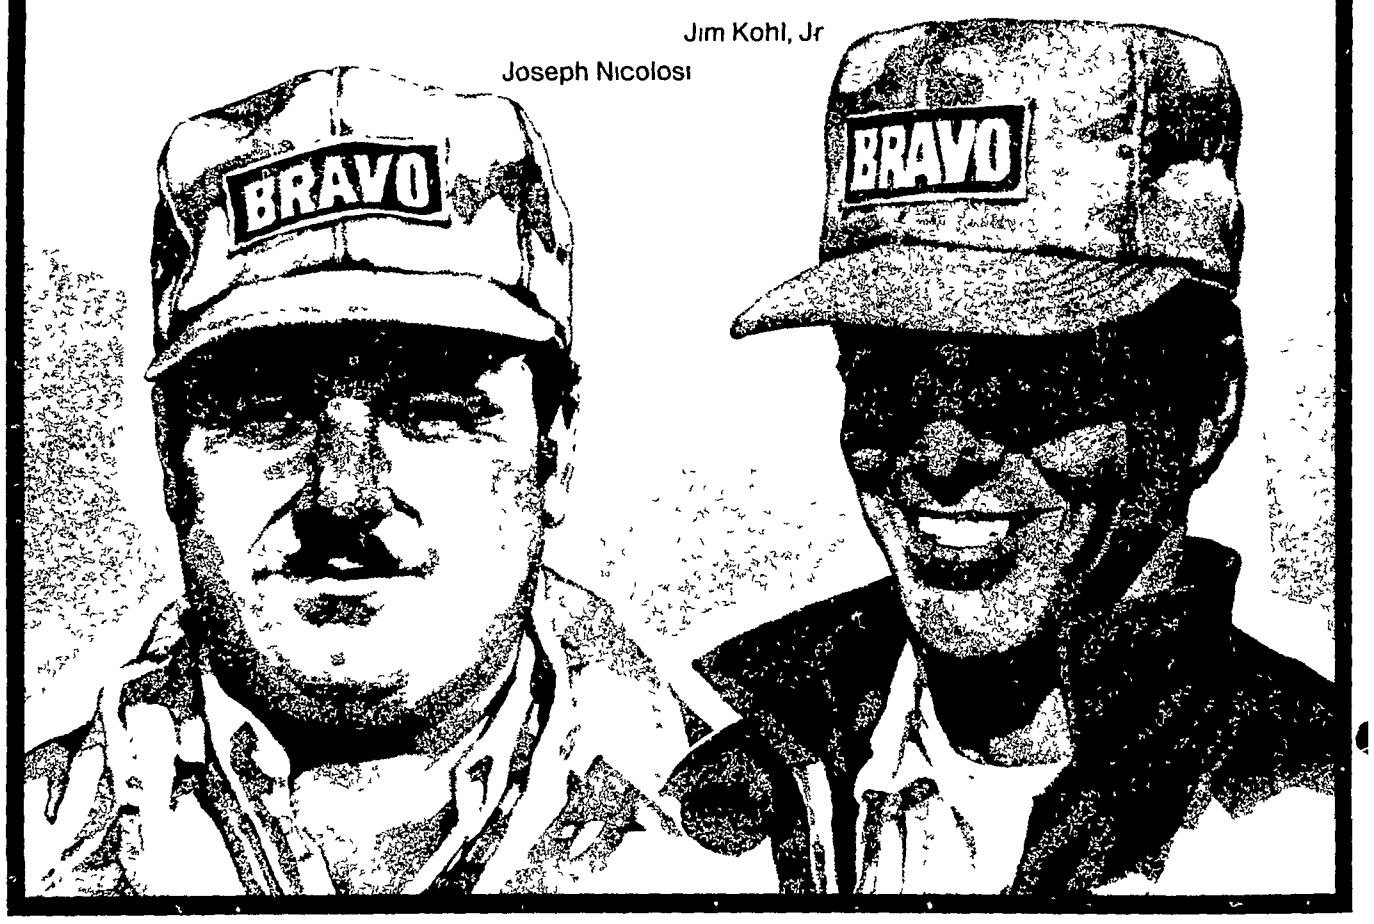
Why leading tomato growers use Bravo fungicide full-season.



Jim Kohl, Jr., Manager,
Furman Farms, Inc.
Northumberland, Pennsylvania.
Last year, Furman Farms was the Pennsylvania State Tomato Yield Champion for machine-harvested tomatoes Manager Jim Kohl reports, "With whole-pack tomatoes, anthracnose and early blight will affect your grade tremendously We have been on a full-season Bravo program since 1974 Last year we won the state yield title and had the highest grades we've had with machine harvest I attribute a lot of that to our Bravo program We start our Bravo program in June then we make 6 to 8 sprays during the season"

Joseph Nicolosi,
The Sarah Nicolosi & Sons Farm,
Swedesboro, New Jersey.
"We grow 100 acres of process tomatoes, all machine-harvested, and we've been on a full-season Bravo program for about three years," says Mr Joseph Nicolosi "With our Bravo program, we definitely get better yields And we control anthracnose better, close to 100% since we've gone to Bravo Our grades are excellent 95 to 100 percent saleable tomatoes"

Babcock's B-300V:

The layer that's never been beaten in Pennsylvania Random Sample Testing.

What characteristic do you look for in the layer you buy? High production numbers or efficient feed conversion? Large eggs or low mortality?

Why not pick the layer with the balanced performance that means profit for Pennsylvania egg producers — the Babcock B-300V.

In her very first year of testing, Babcock's B-300V swept the 20th Pennsylvania Random Sample Test, with the highest IOFCC for both divisions - cage and floor.

Test results below confirm field reports we've been receiving on the B-300V's outstanding performance - top egg production, great livability, competitive feed conversion, legendary resistance to stress, plus strong, beautiful shells.

Relying on homegrown grain and roughage this year? Make your cattle more feed-efficient by fortifying their rations with Bovotone 12-D

Grain and grain silage, while high in energy, are low in minerals, vitamins, and other nutrients that promote top performance Bovotone 12-D corrects these deficiencies and encourages maximum feed intake when high levels of silage are fed

Keep your out-of-pocket costs low throughout growing and finishing periods by using the most economical source of additional protein available

Bovotone 12-D makes a difference you can take to the bank Your figures will prove it

Use 10% less feed with Bovotone No. 76
If your feed supply is low, or you simply want better feed efficiency, fortify with Bovotone No 76 This highly potent pre-mix contains Rumensin* plus all the vitamins and minerals needed to properly fortify feedlot rations You can save over 10 percent on your feed supply, and that means more profit for you

Now is the time to compare.
See your Vigortone dealer soon He's ready to compare the performance of Vigortone's low-cost cattle feeding programs with any other you name

Heifers stolen

SEVEN VALLEYS — Six heifers are reported stolen from Bupplynn Farms, near here, owned by Leroy and Joyce Bupp.

The missing animals are all registered Holsteins, ranging in weight from 600 to 1000 pounds. None were bred. Each animal has a hole in the bottom of her left ear for plastic tags and each was identified with metal tags in the top right ear.

"Of special concern to us is our daughter's 4-H animal," says Mrs Bupp, describing the heifer as being all black with a white star on the top of her forehead and having a white switch and white feet An unusual identifying mark would be a white line across her nose that resulted from a show halter burn

According to Mrs. Bupp, strange tire marks have been discovered in the area from which the heifers were allegedly taken. None of the missing animals have been seen by their owners since July 1.

Anyone with information about the case is asked to contact the Bupps at 717-428-1865 "We are willing to buy back the 4-H heifer, if it went through the auction or something," Mrs. Bupp added.

Rural crime

"The only thing that can be done, is that the farmer just accepts it," Dobrosky added sympathetically.

He discussed cases that he had heard of in recent months

"Just the other day, a farmer had all the tires slashed on a piece of equipment left out in the field overnight," he said.

"It happens, and it happens a lot," he added. "If I called a dozen farmers, chances are that about ten of them would be able to report a crime like tires slashed, broken windows, parts stolen out of a tractor, that sort of thing."

Dobrosky related that most farm crime is vandalism. Few things are actually stolen outright, and there are fairly few cases of stolen livestock, based on his experiences.

Even though stolen cattle is rare, Dobrosky can remember a recent case when a farmer had cattle in the field overnight and in the morning he found one shot and quartered, the meat stolen.

"It doesn't happen too often, but it does," he said. "Why I even recall hearing that someone stole a 4-H steer from some kid."

The crimes on the farms might include an occasional stolen cow, and a dead steer, but more often than not, it's the valuable property and equipment on the farm that is hit by the rural crime

Lancaster County State Police Barracks report that farm crime is still fairly low for the most part, but incidences of broken windows and ruined mailboxes are very frequent.

These crimes are generally non-professional, the kinds of things that youngsters are likely to do. Every once in a while, though, a particular part of a piece of equipment is stolen, removed carefully and with precision.

In most cases crimes like these are never solved. The stolen part is used to replace a part of the thief's machinery, leaving the crime victim to spend his own money to repair his equipment.

Trooper Swartwood from Lancaster police considered the incidences of farm crime to be very sporadic, occurring in spurts.

"And it's enough to set the farmer back," he added.

· I've heard of many cases where parts were tak n, or lawn tractors were stolen, that kind of thing "

Swartwood also added that he couldn't recall any cases of large farm equipment being stolen He could remember one case several years ago when about a half dozen calves were loaded onto a truck and taken to Maryland. The calves were quickly recovered and returned to the owner

Sgt. Peter Andrusisian of the Ephrata police barracks has a more optimistic tale to tell He has worked at the barracks for more than three years and in that time has heard of very few farm crimes.

"I have never heard of cattle being stolen," he reported "Sometimes machinery is stolen, nothing real big, and there is some vandalism."

"All in all I would call farm crime pretty rare around here," he added, explaining that his office handles reports in the northeastern section of Lancaster County.

Occasionally official reports are made on farm crime, and in Ohio, Howard Phillips, of Ohio State Rural Sociology Office, has conducted many surveys into the matter. Crime is on the rise and it seems that the farms are not an exception. Phillips has investigated many cases of stolen cattle, farm equipment, and all types of vandalism.

Just how serious the problem is, is another matter altogether. While many individual farmers who have been hit by such crimes, declare the problem to be out-of-hand, many others look upon it as a rare problem, if one at all.

As with crime in general, it seems to happen only to the "other guy", until it happens in the farmer's own area or his own farm. At that point it becomes a serious problem to the individual, and when many individuals are affected, it is indeed "out-of-hand".

Police, farmers, and county agents are all aware of the increase in farm crime, but it remains difficult to determine if farm crime is reaching the point where it is becoming a real threat to the farmer, and it is even more difficult to decide how it can be stopped.

York Holstein show scheduled

YORK - Shirley Trimmer, co-chairman of the York County Holstein Show, has announced Thursday, August 17, as the date for the annual competition for the county's Holstein herds.

Genie Francisco, Holstein breeder and treasurer of the New Jersey state association, will judge the exhibit, scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. at the York Fairgrounds.

Entry forms can be obtained from the June issue of the state breed publication, or by writing up entries following that format. Set fee is $2.50 per head and the deadline on entries is August 1; the committee has emphasized that no late entries will be accepted.

Although there will be no bull classes, all group classes and a senior yearling fresh class will be included.

Production awards will be given to all cow classes. Cow entries should include the actual highest 305-day or less lactation record, and will be printed in the catalog. Entrants should bring DHIA records to be checked along with registration papers.

Each breeder will be responsible for cleaning his stalls at the conclusion of the show.

Send entries to: Shirley Trimmer, 3 Spring Hollow Drive, Spring Grove, Pa., 17362.

Traffic safety stressed

UNIVERSITY PARK - Most farm tractor accidents are caused by unsafe methods of operation, lack of safety equipment, hurrying, and working when tired.

Good judgement and constant alertness are keys to preventing accidents. These hints for safer tractor operation are offered by Dennis J. Murphy, Extension safety specialist, The Pennsylvania State University, and the Pennsylvania Agricultural Safety Council

Carry a first-aid kit and a multi-purpose dry chemical fire extinguisher; never refuel a tractor while the engine is running; keep small children away from tractors; keep wheels spread wide whenever possible; and stop the tractor before you get off.

Never hitch to the axle or other high points; and keep the tractor in gear when going down hill, letting its engine serve as a brake.

Don't wear loose, sloppy clothing while operating a tractor. They can catch on moving parts.

Engage the clutch gently, especially when pulling up hill. Jack rabbit starts are dangerous, and don't use a tractor for jobs it isn't designed for area farmer Ernest Snyder, his son Greg, and Joshua Grimm, a farmer from Fogelsville. The Extension Service helped to coordinate activities while ladies in the area served refreshments. Judging of the different species took most of the morning and afternoon.

Thirty-five seniors and an equal number of juniors were participated in the competition. The counties that were represented were Adams, Berks, Chester, Delaware, Lehigh, Montgomery, Northampton and York.

A similar event was held in York County a year ago, and this one was modeled after the York effort, noted Lehigh County Agent David Dunbar. Last year the host team, York, won top honors. Young Lehigh Countians showed obvious delight when the official announcement was made that they had upset the defending champions from across the Susquehanna River.

Larry Shrawder

The winning Lehigh team consisted of Gail Snyder, Diane Krause and Sarah Fretz. York County was represented by Tim Beck, Brenda Walter and Harris Wright. The respective scores for the two teams were 1131 and 1124. Third place in the team standings was taken by Norhampton Countians Martha Guest, Karen Wuchter and Gwen Hower who combined for a score of 965 points.

The fourth place team, from Adams County, consisted of Pam Reichart, Dawn Keefer and Dawn Richardson. In fifth place was a trio from Montgomery County - Ted Teaford, Jon Kohr and Cathy Haentze.

In the team standings among juniors, Lehigh County's trio - Jane Sikorski, Ronnie Wessner, and Melissa Fretz - combined for 758 points and first place over a 732 point team from Adams County. They were Erik Quanbeck, Patty Trimmer, and Jim Reichart. York County placed third on the efforts of Jon Janney, Michele Bankert and James Caudill. They had a total of 727 points. Northampton Countians Dave Schultz, Andy Wagner, and Glen Wuchter were third with a score of 663 points. Delaware trailed in fifth place with Keith Bryan, Henry Patterson, and Amy Patterson.

York Countians Harris Wright, Tim Beck and Brenda Walter made up the second place 4-H livestock team among seniors.

In the individual placings for seniors, Gail Snyder was followed in order by:

2. Harris Wright, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Wright, Abbottstown R1; 3. Tim Beck, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Beck, Seven Valleys R2; 4. Diane Krause, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Krause, Slatington; 5. Sarah Fretz, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fretz, Zionsville R2; 6. Northco Farrowing Crates....

THE TOUGH FARROWING CRATES

EASY TO CLEAN - There's a minimum of places for manure to hang-up and the round side-rails make clean-up easy. This means better sanitation and longer crate life. Northco Farrowing Crates in use since 1968 are still in good condition.

LABOR-SAVING - Northco Farrowing Crates can raise more pigs with less labor. Automatic feeding, watering and controlled manuring reduce the "busy" work of farrowing and increase the time available for management.

PIG-SAVING - Farrowing crates can help you wean an extra pig or more per litter according to customer experience and university research. Those extra pigs add up to extra profit for you.

Heavy-gauge, galvanized steel construction makes Northco Farrowing Crates tough . . . to stand up to hog-house abuse. But Northco Farrowing Crates are more than strong.

Optional manual metering hopper is available for use with an overhead fill system.

Letters to the Editor

Egg producers treated unfairly

Dear Editor:

The egg business has always been a "boom or bust" enterprise for the farmer. Recently, we have passed through the bottom of the "bust" cycle. For example, it now cost the average farmer around 40 to 50 cents to produce a dozen eggs. He has been receiving about 35 cents per dozen; a net loss of nearly 10 cents per dozen eggs produced. It is during these "bust" phases of the cycle that egg farmers are frequently questioning the sanity of their decision to venture into this business. Furthermore, it is during this correction phase, that some of the more frustrating problems of the business tend to surface. There are many problems to be faced in this business, but the biggest problem and our weakest link, is the marketing outlets currently available to the farmer-producer. It's not that the outlets aren't available for his eggs; its just that no one is looking out for his interest when it comes to egg pricing, both in what he receives and in what the consumer pays.

Today, I would guess that about 90 per cent of the gg farmers in the Pennsylvania and Maryland area sell or "contract" their eggs to Independent Egg Processors (IEP). The IEP buys "nest run" (unwashed and ungraded) eggs directly from the farmer. He processes (washes, candles for bloods, grades for size and packs in one dozen boxes) these eggs from the farm and sells them to retail outlets (stores, restaurants, etcs.,).

The IEP offers a valuable "service" to the farmer, mainly because it gives him time to concentrate on what he does best, that is produce eggs. The problem, however, is that we are being increasingly taxed for this "service" with absolutely no representation.

The farmer must realize that the IEP is not interested in making money for the farmer. For example, I can remember when the IEP was willing to pay his producers from one to two cents per dozen below the N.Y. egg market for large eggs. Today, from these same processors, he receives about 17 cents per dozen below the N.Y. egg market. What has happened? The obvious is that the IEP is paying the farmer about 15 cents less per dozen than he did 10 years ago. The IEP has gradually passed onto the farmer all of his inflationary costs Whenever, he had an increase in cost, such as, for egg cartons, gasoline, labor, etcs , he informed his producers that he could no longer pay as much for the farmer's eggs

Did you ever ask why these inflation costs were never passed onto the consumer? One possible answer is that it is much easier for the IEP to pay the farmer less for his eggs then it is to try to sell them to the retailer for more In fact, not only is he paying the farmer less, but he is also selling our eggs for less. Just a few years ago the IEP sold large eggs for three to four cents over the market. Now his customers are paying three to four cents below the market.

It seems that the farmer's main concern has been to get rid of his eggs rather than what he should receive for them. When you realize that a farmer can accumulate up to ½ million eggs in just one week, you can fully understand his concern, even if it's just to make room for next week's eggs. The IEP's are fully aware of the almost neurotic dependence of the individual farmer on the processor for an egg outlet. The farmer straddled with huge bills (feed, pullets, equipment, etc.,), must have the continuous income from the eggs just to keep his head above water. If the farmer can somehow manage to just pay off these bills, it is considered to be quite an accomplishment in itself.

The IEP has always readily offered to take all of the farmer's eggs every week. This has been, and is a great comfort; a sense of relief to the farmer. However, there has been a tendency for the IEP to use this "sense of security" as a leverage to convince the farmer that he should accept periodic price reductions. Over the years this "sense of security" has probably cost the farmer literally millions of dollars. In the future, the IEP will continue to capitalize on this weakness probably with more price reductions to the farmer.

The IEP has always had a distinct advantage over the individual farmer in that he receives eggs from several independent, geographically isolated producers. Therefore, he is not dependent upon any one individual farmer for eggs. If one farmer complains about the prices he is receiving for his eggs, the IEP encourages him to find another outlet. The problem is that all IEP pay about the same! Therefore, as long as the farmer remains isolated and never organizes, he will not have the necessary bargaining leverage when it comes to influencing the prices he receives for his eggs.

Unfortunately, the IEP does not really worry a great deal about egg prices. This is because he always has plenty of eggs from the producers and he makes a fixed amount per dozen eggs handled. In other words, the cheaper he can purchase the eggs, the greater his volume and the greater the profits for the IEP.

Because the IEP's profits are not related to the prices the farmers receives; and because the producers have never organized, several of the following trends have developed:

*Over the years, there has been absolutely no incentives for the IEP to pay more for the farmers eggs. The incentive is and has been, to pay less.

*Over the years, the unorganized farmer has become so dependent on the IEP that he has now lost all of his bargaining leverage.

*Over the years, price competition between the many IEPs has led to an erosion of all egg farmers income.

*Over the years, all of the increased cost of egg processing and marketing has been passed onto the farmer and not to the consumer.

*Over the years, the farmer has sacrificed egg prices for security of egg removal.

Clearly, the prices that many egg producers receive for their product is unfair. Yet, the farmer must accept his share of the blame for the predicament. For example, he could influence (control) the prices he receives from the consumers, by simply regulating production. Furthermore, he could establish a fair price for his eggs from the IEP, by working more closely with him. To accomplish this however, the farmers must first start talking to each other and then start forming local producer associations. The influence that the organized egg producer could have on every aspect of this enterprise would probably surprise us all.

Importance of exports stressed

Dear Editor:

Current international realities no longer permit Americans to be indifferent to the need to increase U.S. exports. Today, one out of every eight jobs in manufacturing is export-related; one out of every three acres of American farmland produces for export; one-third of corporate profits derives from international activities; yet exports account for only 7.6 per cent of this country's gross national product (GNP).

Although exports have never been more important to our economic health, recent years have witnessed a dramatic decline in the U.S. competitive position vis-a-vis Europe and Japan. In fact, a recent Commerce Department study shows that the U.S. export share dropped in 1977 in virtually all of our major export markets. Moreover, in 1976, the U.S. exported only 12% of its manufactured goods compared to about 30 per cent for Japan and 50 per cent for Germany. Clearly, they, understand that exports mean jobs.

An increase of U.S. exports as a percentage of GNP of only 1.5 per cent would over come our huge trade deficit, reverse the decline of the dollar, and create domestic employment as well. This goal is certainly attainable, but will require a concerted effort. Our foreign counterparts are motivated to export, as they benefit from a great number of export incentives and promotional devices. U.S. exporters work without similar incentives and have been hamstrung by government policies and regulations – all of which serve to make U.S products uncompetitive and discourage exports.

The results have been a soaring U.S. trade deficit, a plummeting dollar, unacceptable structural employment and strong resurgence of inflation. In response to these pressures, President Carter formed an interagency Export Policy Task Force in April to study means of stimulating U.S. exports. Its recommendations, recently submitted to the President, have not yet been made public. However, indications are that they will fall far short of the comprehensive, consistent and positive export policy so urgently needed.

The fundamental requirements of an effective National Export Policy were set forth in a recent address by Robert H. Malott, chairman and chief executive officer of FMC Corporation. The stakes – for U.S. jobs, standards of living, monetary stability and prosperity – are high, and in an increasingly competitive world marketplace, the international trade "game" is one the U.S. cannot afford to lose.

Farm Bureau calls for Young resignation

PARK RIDGE, Ill. – Farm Bureau has asked President Carter to call for the resignation of U.N. Ambassador Andrew Young whose remarks about political prisoners in the U.S. have stirred up a hornet's nest of controversy.

In a telegram to President Carter, Allan Grant, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said Young was an embarrassment to the administration and to all Americans.

Following is the text of the wire:

"U.S Ambassador to the United Nations Andrew Young continues to be an embarrassment to your administration and to all Americans. His latest irresponsible remarks about political prisoners in the United States indicate that he does not appreciate or understand our system of self-government.

"On the basis that this country's citizens deserve the highest caliber of reliable and responsible representative to the United Nations, we ask that you immediately call for the resignation of Ambassador Young."

Now is the time

not cause problems and should withstand opposition efforts.

Don't be guilty of sloppy management, dirty surroundings, and poor public relations

TO ORDER SEED NEEDS

The late Summer and Fall seeding season is coming rapidly; August seedings of alfalfa should now be in the planning stage Winter oats, barley, and wheat seedings should be planned and orders placed for the right kind of seed. Don't wait until seeding time and then discover the supply is exhausted. Certified seed is strongly suggested in order to realize the most from all inputs

If home-grown seeds are to be used, they should be tested at the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture; don't waste time and money on poor quality seeds; you could be spreading disease and more weeds

SOLAR HEAT
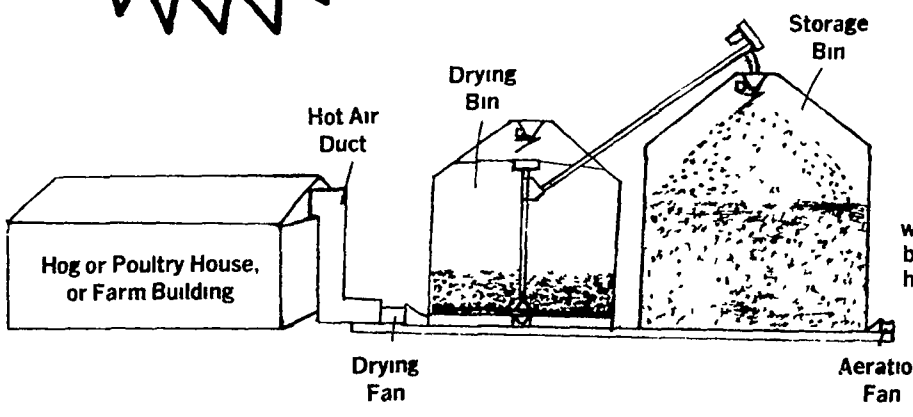
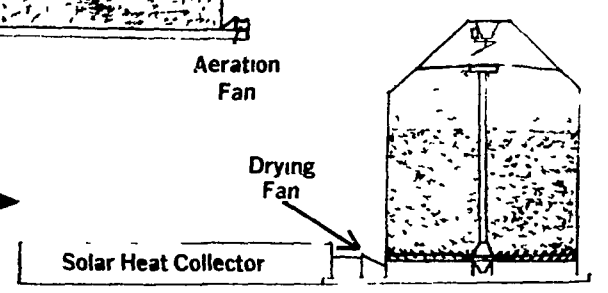
WITH HIGH VOLUME AUXILIARY HEAT BACKUP



CONTINUOUS FLOW DRYING SYSTEM

Why waste high cost energy when the heat under a farm building roof will supply free heat to dry your grain



BATCH DRYING SYSTEM

Dries Up To 5,000 bu. per day.
Completely Automatic.
No Babysitting Required.

CONTINUOUS FLOW OPERATION:

The drying bin serves as a large surge tank, and wet grain may be added anytime as fast as you harvest with a bucket elevator or a transport auger. The two-tapered sweep will automatically remove a thin, even layer of dried grain from the surface of the channel lock floor to the center of the bin where it is elevated up the vertical auger and transfered to the storage bin The warm grain is then cooled and held in safe storage with an aeration fan. Dryeration is also possible with this system, whereby the final drying from 20% moisture down is done in the storage bin without auxiliary heat by automatic moisture and temperature controls When the storage bin is filled the cross auger is turned off and the system is switched to a batch dryer operation where the grain is recirculated in the drying bin. After all the grain in the drying bin is dried down to desired moisture content the system is shut down and the drying bin serves as a storage bin. The same procedure is followed in a single bin batch drying system

THIS UNIQUE SYSTEM WITH ITS AUTOMATIC CONTROL PANEL IS CAPABLE OF PROVIDING THE FOLLOWING METHODS AND ADVANTAGES:

1. SOLAR HEAT DRYING - Using no fuel to dry grain with moisture content up to 30%. Additional high volume adjustable heat backup will kick in when needed
2. DRYERATION - Increases dryer capacity and reduces drying costs by transferring grain to cooling bin at 20% and continue drying to desired moisture content by the use of natural air.
3. AIR DRYING - Using no fuel and no solar heat, where low cost and low volume is desired with adjustable heat backup if needed.
4. VARIABLE SPEED DRYING - Up to 5000 bu. per day adjustable to rate of harvesting. The higher the volume the greater the cost to dry per bushel.
5. EXPANDABLE - Start with one drying bin and add additional storage bins as needed without any alterations.

How and When to Treat Septic Systems

If the septic system has required pumping as often as once a year, the probability is that grease and solids have been going out into the seepage area, thus clogging or partially clogging the surrounding soil and restricting drainage

Even where pumping has not been necessary, if the system is more than two or three years old, the probability is that some grease and solids have escaped into the outflow and trouble is not far off So the treatment schedule listed below will be applicable in either situation

FOR EVERY 4 PEOPLE USING THE SEPTIC SYSTEM

1 Start the MEDINA ACTINA program by flushing one pint ACTINA into any drain leading directly into the septic tank
2 Two weeks later repeat the above treatment
3 Thereafter use one half pint each month Treat regularly

If the septic system has a distribution box between the septic tank and the seepage area, treat with ACTINA in the distribution box as follows

1 For every 50 people using the septic system, pour 1 gallon ACTINA into the distribution box
2 Three weeks later repeat the same treatment

This low-cost preventive maintenance program will help to preserve the useful life of the investment in the septic system and will reduce the necessity to pump out solids to an absolute minimum When you consider the high cost of replacing the septic system or any part of it, the investment you will be making in ACTINA should reduce costs and show a worthwhile dividend

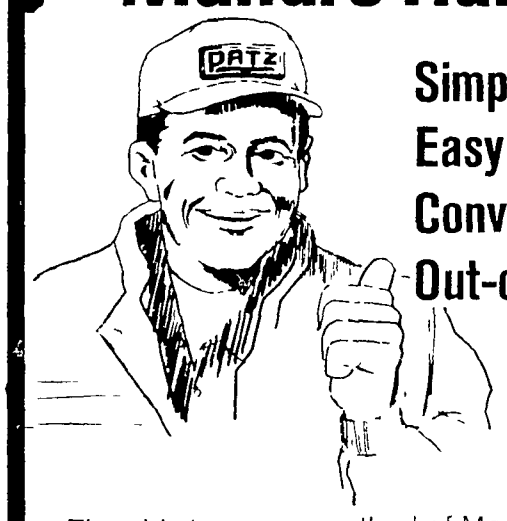
J. Everett Kreider is the chairman of the day's activities.

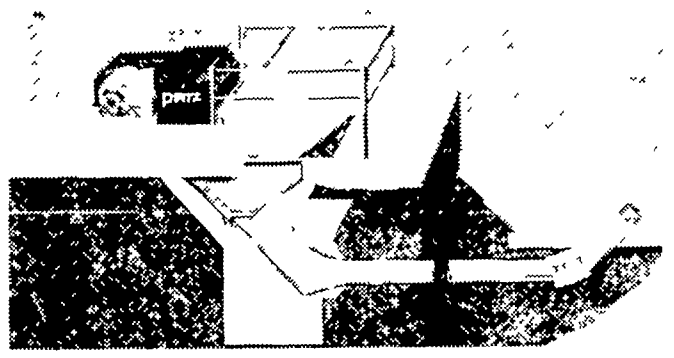
Please call the District Office at 717-299-5361 for an application and booklet of instructions. The deadline for entering the contest is July 25, 1978.

PATZ
Manure Handlers



Simple, Easy and Conveniently Out-of-the Way!

The old strongarm method of Manure Handling gives way to new muscle from PATZ — namely the Slurry Manure Pump and compressed-air Liquid Manure Mover These modern methods of manure movement provide simplicity rugged construction operational ease dependability plus convenience



Slurry Manure Pump

Slurry or free flowing manure is pumped from a 180 gallon hopper under ground through 12 in PVC pipe to the manure holding area (If bedding is used only fine cut is recommended) Stroke is adjustable and driven by tough roller chain drive/reduction unit Plunger sleeve and one-way valves all can be removed for servicing

Liquid Manure Mover

Big 1700 (US) gallon below-ground pressure vessel collects slurry that is moved simply and easily by as little as 10-12 lbs of air pressure through 12 in PVC pipe to manure storage area Simplicity in design turning swing-away hatch cover one-way valve at bottom and flapper valve at the discharge end are the only moving parts

Interstate's Outstanding Young Cooperator believes in getting involved

By JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

EAST BERLIN – "Yellow Buttercup Farm" announces the sign at the entrance to the farm lane. The flat fields of eastern Adams County are green with tall waving corn and lush alfalfa as they stretch toward the horizon.

A massive barn with decorative open-brick ends first catches a visitor's eye. Long recognized as a local landmark, the barn has become a mecca for old building enthusiasts. Flanking the barn is the brick farmhouse and the landscape is accented by a tall windmill. This is home to the Larry and Yvonne Mummert family.

Mummert is a young dairyman who's almost running toward the top of a ladder built of goals of his own making.

Judges at the recent Outstanding Young Cooperator contest sponsored by Interstate Milk Producers Cooperative, Inc., of Southampton, singled out the shy, dark-haired farmer and his pretty wife as winners during competition at Lancaster's host Farm resort.

With the goal of a 20,000 pound milk and 800 pound fat herd average almost in sight, one wonders what this dairyman will aim at next? Then he mentions another goal of two million pounds of milk next year from the two-man operation; since he's already at the 1.5 million pound mark annually, there's little doubt that this determined young man will soon cross another self-imposed finish line.

Current rolling herd average on the 104 head of mostly registered black and whites is 19,094 pounds milk and 723 fat, with Mummert eyeing finishing up this year's test program at the 750-pound fat level.

"Get the feed put away right," is Larry's recipe for boosting milk output. "Feed only cured hays and silage, with no jumping around from one thing to another. Get out all that milk, without overmilking; cull low testers; and keep those cows on a regular schedule."

Like a majority of dairymen, Mummert feels that settling cows back after calving is his toughest herd problem. A graduate of the Graham School of Breeding in Kansas, Larry has a vet visit twice monthly for the herd checks and has been culling and replacing at the rate of about 20 per cent annually. He also stresses working with "solid, functional cow families."

Top quality dried hay is a major ingredient in Mummert's feeding program. The fairly cool and wet Summer weather has been favorable to hay growing conditions, and by mid-July, there were 15,000 bales of the green stuff packed away toward boosting Winter milk output.

One of 10 children, Larry grew up on a York County dairy farm not far across the valley from his present setup. After graduating from Delaware Valley College with a degree in dairy husbandry, Larry purchased 10 registered Holstein heifers. His interest in the purebreds was originally stimulated by the enthusiasm of a college roommate.

"I just find it more exciting to get up at 4:30 a.m. and face a herd of registered cows than it would be to walk into a barnful of grade animals," says the quiet-spoken dairyman.

Larry held the position of farm manager at the D.H. Sharrer and Son farm, Newcastle, before purchasing the 100-acre farm four years ago. Although the farm's landmark original barn still stands, several changes have altered the appearance of Yellow Buttercup, including the modern free stall barn, double-four parlor and mechanized feeding units.

"Decide what it is you want to do and then fight for it," sums up Larry of his method of determining and reaching his long-term farm goals.

"Sure, I get depressed sometimes. Last Summer we ended up with four dead cows and a $600 vet bill for them. But, you've got to accept those problems and move ahead; it's of no use to dwell on them and worry over something that's past."

Yvonne Mummert was no stranger either to the dairying industry when she married Larry. Also raised on an Adams County dairy

Stonesifer views cooperatives as avenue for 'dairymen marketing power'

By JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

UNION BRIDGE, Md. – "I have to belong to a cooperative," asserts Jim Stonesifer. "It's the only way to dairymen marketing power."

Stonesifer and his wife Betty were recently selected Outstanding Young Cooperator couple by Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers, Inc., Baltimore. Chosen in competition at Host Farms in Lancaster from a slate of 13 dairy farm couples, the Stonesifers will represent their cooperative during the annual meeting of the National Milk Producers Federation, set for late November in Seattle, Wash.

Energetic and dedicated to family farming as a way of life, the Stonesifers enterted into partnership with Jim's dad after working for seven years with a Maryland Brown Swiss operation and one year as herdsman in a registered Holstein herd.

"We came home with two kids, a 5-year-old car, our household goods and a thousand dollars," Betty recalls. "I worried about the initial $15,000 we borrowed toward cows and some machinery. But after a while you get sort of accustomed to the increasing debt load and learn not to let it get you down."

Raised on a Carroll County general farm, Betty laughingly suggests that Jim's friends tried to talk him out of marrying her "becaue they didn't think I'd make a satisfactory farm wife."

But Jim is a young man who knows his own mind. He disregarded the would-be advice, based on a personal philosophy that is the basic foundation for his success in the dairying industry.

(Turn to Page 34)

BIG FARM POWER AND EQUIPMENT

HORSEPOWER IS TOO EXPENSIVE TO WASTE

STEIGER PUTS MORE HORSEPOWER TO WORK THAN ANY OTHER 4WD TRACTOR.*

In big tractors, horsepower is only half the story. The other half is weight.

If a tractor doesn't have enough weight to hold the power to the ground, then a lot of those horses will go to waste. It's called traction — and if your big tractor doesn't have it, wheel spin will keep you from using all the horses you paid for.

In recent independent tests, Steiger 4WD tractors demonstrated the highest percentage of engine horsepower delivered to the drawbar pin. Steigers delivered an average 84.08% of the engine horsepower to the drawbar pin.

The competition averaged 75.81%. That's driveline efficiency.

Other categories dominated by these big, beautiful Steigers included fuel efficiency and cab quietness. So if you're looking at 4WD tractors, take a look at Steiger and compare.

farm, she has the background and knowledge to understand the devotion needed to make a successful family operation work. After employment at the East Berlin branch of Peoples Bank as a bookeeper and teller, Yvonne now handles the farm accounting and clerical work. She can also be found feeding calves and helping with barn chores, such as unloading hay.

Most of her time, though, is devoted to their growing family. The Mummert children are Lela, 8, Lane, 6, Lisha, 3, and baby Ladd, an active one-year-old. And, like many farm wives, she tends a large garden adjacent to the house and spruces up the lawn with plantings of colorful flowers.

"We've now hired a full-time man so that we can have a little bit more time to enjoy life and our children," Larry smiles. Strong believers in involvement, the Mummerts take an active interest in a variety of farm and community organizations.

"I just work better with the inspiration and motivation that comes from the friendship and fellowship of organizations," he insists. The Holstein breed associations, DHIA, and Dairy Shrine Club are included in the list of activities. Larry is also on the township planning board, and the family belongs to the East Berlin Trinity Lutheran Church.

Dedicated to the cooperative way of doing business, Interstate Milk Producers was not new to the Mummerts when they began dairying. At age 18, Yvonne won an interstate poster contest through the cooperative membership held by her parents.

"Belonging to a cooperative is much like having an employee," muses Larry. "You can't be sure they're making you any money unless you keep track of just what they're doing. If it weren't for cooperatives, we certainly wouldn't have as good a milk market as we do today."

One concern of Mummert's is that enough young dairymen do not take an active interest in their cooperatives' day-to-day operations. He likes to see members who are willing to take time toward helping run their organizations, but admits that the pressure on a young farmer, just to keep his economic head above water, often allows him little time for studying cooperative financial statements and cash flow charts.

"Producing is only one phase of the business; there's more to it than just milking cows," adds Larry.

Hesitant about taking part in the Interstate's Young Cooperator contest, Larry was delighted to find a former college friend among the slate of competitors. He thoroughly enjoyed the reunion and admits to being surprised when he was announced the winner. Larry and Yvonne will represent their cooperative at the National Milk Producers' annual convention, to be held in Seattle, Wash., during November.

On Saturday, August 5, the Mummerts will open their Yellow Buttercup Farm, which was named after a favorite childhood storybook of Yvonne's, to a public tour promoting better understanding between farm and city consumers.

The open-house is a first-of-a-kind and is being sponsored and arranged by farm and agri-business groups within Adams County. Visitors will be treated with a hayride to the farm from a distant parking area, tours of the housing and feeding facilities, calves to pet, and lots of farm-fresh food.

Although the tour organizers want to avoid burdening their urban visitors with an overwhelming and perhaps meaningless array of statistics, Larry and Adams County Extension agent Tom Piper did come up with one figure likely to impress just about anyone: the Mummert farm is producing enough milk to provide 3000 persons with their annual 650-pound average annual consumption of dairy products.

A strong advocate of promotional programs, Larry believes the basic facts of nutrition must be stressed to the elementary school age group. He suggests that advertising check-offs be increased to greater amounts and efforts expanded to keep dairy industry facts and the milk story in the mind of consumers.

But, most of all, Larry and Yvonne believe that they personally must be responsible for milk promotion and telling the farm story. By opening Yellow Buttercup to the public during the first county farm-city tour, they're willing to back up those convictions about personal promotion involvement.

"My family raised 10 kids on raw milk. We're raising our family on raw milk," Mummert concludes "We've always been very healthy, like most farm families. The time has come to commit ourselves to convince the general public that regular exercise, and not diet, alone, is a major key to good health."

• 8 aim for Md. dairy title

These eight young ladies are all Maryland county dairy princesses, seven of which will vie on July 26 and 27th at the Hunt Valley Inn to be selected as "Maryland Dairy Princess" for the coming year. Shown from left to right are: Beth Bassler of Carroll County; Marie Guard of Garrett County; Jill Johnson of Montgomery County; Jo Garber of Harford County; current state Princess Jo Byers of Washington County; Sarah Litton of Washington County; Kathy Edwards of Caroline County; and Kitty Hawker of Frederick County. Each of the girls was chosen earlier in a regional contest. Besides charm, the girls are judged on their knowledge of the dairy industry and the nutritional bonanza to be found in dairy products.

"THE DIESEL WITH A DIFFERENCE"

Cuts your power costs because it's way ahead of its time on all points.

AVCO-VM diesel engines are world-proven money-savers They deliver maximum power efficiency immediately, under any sudden load or climate variation Their higher power to weight ratios mean NO REDUCTION IN HORSEPOWER to qualify for pollution standards

They're stingy on fuel, too Many users report fuel consumption CUT IN HALF — and more — compared with gasoline engines In some installations, our diesels are delivering more than TWICE the hours of operation per gallon of fuel.

Faultless performance is the norm, rather than the exception A choice of 27 premium quality air-cooled Avco-VM's (5 to 670-hp) means there's one that's right for your application.

Modular, unitized construction means fewer specialized parts, lower weight per hp, lower maintenance costs, 70% parts interchangeability — and they'll fit the tightest space.

Holstein field day Aug. 1

OXFORD — The Chester County Holstein Club will hold its annual field day Tuesday, Aug. 1, at the Donald M. Hostetter farm, located one mile east of here on Business Route 30.

Scheduled to begin at 7 p.m., the event will feature three judging classes, with prizes to be given to the top three individuals in men's, women's, and youth categories. Among the prizes offered will be three ampules of semen - one of Hilltop Apollo Ivanhoe and two from Paclamar Astronaut.

The featured speaker and official judge will be Dick Packard, a Holstein breeder from Troy, Pa.

A registered Holstein heifer calf donated to the club by a local breeder will be given away. The winner must be present

Refreshments will be served.

Wheat harvest nearing end

siad his big complaint about the wheat was how tough it was due to the high moisture level.

"The quality isn't bad," he stated, "but there is some real high moisture, one field was 13.8 per cent, and the rest were 14 per cent and up."

He added that there was some Winter freeze in the area and farmers had some trouble with grassy fields. He thought wheatgrowers were averaging 30 to 40 bushels per acre, stating that some fields were giving good yields and some were not.

From York County came the reports that the wheat too was of good quality but of high moisture content. One farmer commented that he wasn't sure that the wheat matured like it should have, and estimated an average of 35 bushels per acre in that county.

The wheat is estimated close to 60 per cent harvested in York County and farmers added that where the crop is thin, the timothy is coming up through and causing problems. Farmers appreciated the sunny weather allowing them to get the harvesting done, but complained of the high humidity telling that that did not help the high moisture content.

From the Chester County farmers came the reports of the same problems and conditions--the quality of the wheat is good but the moisture is high. There were also a few reports of some scab reported in different fields.

There the moisture seems to range from about 14 to 16 per cent. The area farmers estimated that about 75 to 80 per cent of the crop is already harvested with the rest soon to be done.

A good estimate of the yield in the Chester County area ranged from 25 to 50 bushels, with more on the low than the high side, as one man put it.

The prices of wheat, well, they're better than last year, bust still nothing to write home about, was the way one man put it. Most of the farmers contacted told of getting anywhere from $3.20 to $3.40 per bushel for their wheat.

But one element of the wheat harvest and its effect will have to wait to be seen next Winter. Farmers thought that there was less wheat planted this year and that that was planted made less straw than would be in a normal year in many areas of Pa. Remembering how high prices of straw were over the past Winter, farmers speculated that this coming year straw might be the item to have on the Winter market, with good straw commanding a high price on the auction block.

AGRI-KING
KEY TO PROFIT

SILO HEAT LOSS

SILO HEATING CAUSES SEVERE ECONOMIC LOSSES IN CORN-SILAGE, GRASS-SILAGE, HAYLAGE AND HIGH MOISTURE CORN.

WHAT ARE THESE LOSSES?

+LOSS OF ENERGY (CALORIES) HEAT IS ENERGY!
+LOSS OF VITAMIN A D E K AND OTHERS MOST VITAMINS ARE DESTROYED IN TEMPERATURES ABOVE 100 DEGREES UNTREATED SILAGE WILL RANGE FROM A MINIMUM 130 DEGREES TO A MAXIMUM OF OVER 200 DEGREES
+LOSS OF DIGESTIBILITY OF PROTEIN THE HOTTER THE SILAGE GETS, THE LOWER THE PROTEIN VALUE
+LOSS OF PALATABILITY BY POOR FERMENTATION CAN EASILY REDUCE RATE OF GAIN OR MILK PRODUCTION BY 25 PERCENT
+LOSS OF SOLUBLE NUTRIENTS BY SEEPAGE HEATING RELEASES JUICE IN THE SILO IN THE SAME WAY AS COOKING MEAT AND VEGETABLES
+SILAGE UNLOADS HARDER AND SLOWER BECAUSE EXCESS JUICING MATS IT DOWN AND ALSO RESULTS IN HARDER FREEZING

WHEN DO THESE LOSSES HAPPEN?
IMMEDIATELY AFTER FILLING THE SILO THE FIRST 3 TO 7 DAYS ARE MOST CRITICAL DURING WHICH TIME THE HEATING REACHES ITS PEAK

WHAT CAUSES THIS HEATING?
OXIDATION FROM THE AIR THAT IS BLOWN INTO THE SILAGE AND TRAPPED DURING FILLING AND THE OXYGEN CONTAINED IN THE PLANT THE DRIER THE SILAGE THE COARSER (AND HARDER) IT CHOPS THE POORER IT PACKS, THE MORE AIR IS TRAPPED, AND THE HOTTER IT GETS

WHY?
OXYGEN IS WHAT CAUSES ANY FOOD TO SPOIL AND IT MUST BE ELIMINATED FROM THE SILAGE BEFORE PRESERVATION CAN TAKE PLACE IN THE NORMAL PROCESS OF ELIMINATION A CHEMICAL REACTION OCCURS IN WHICH OXYGEN COMBINES WITH READILY AVAILABLE STARCHES AND SUGARS TO LITERALLY BURN ITSELF OUT

DOES OXYGEN FREE SEALED STORAGE PREVENT THIS?
OXYGEN FREE STORAGE IS NOT OXYGEN FREE UNTIL AFTER THIS OXIDATION PERIOD IS OVER COMMON SENSE TELLS YOU THAT JUST AS MUCH AIR IS TRAPPED DURING THE FILLING PROCESS REGARDLESS OF TYPE OF STORAGE THE SAME THING HAPPENS AS EXPLAINED ABOVE THE DIFFERENCE IS THAT ONCE THE FILLER OPENING IS CLOSED AND THE SILO IS ACTUALLY SEALED, NO ADDITIONAL AIR CAN ENTER SURFACE SPOILAGE AND SILO LEAKAGE IS NOT A PROBLEM

STOP THESE LOSSES USE SILO KING

WHY DOES SILO-KING WORK?
SILO-KING CONTAINS A POTENT COMBINATION OF THE SAME ANTI-OXIDENTS USED TO PRESERVE HUNDREDS OF FOOD ITEMS IN OUR SUPER MARKETS SILO-KING ALSO CONTAINS A POTENT COMBINATION OF FOOD GRADE EXZYMES AND FLAVORS

THIS COMBINATION OF ANTI-OXIDANTS AND ENZYMES RESULTS IN A MUCH GREATER PRESERVATIVE EFFECT

THEY ABSORB THE ATMOSPHERIC AND HYDROLYTIC OXYGEN ENERGY IN THE SILAGE TO PREVENT THE INITIAL OXIDATION WHICH CAUSES THE HEATING AND THE LOSSES

THEY ALSO UTILIZE MOISTURE AVAILABLE IN THE SILAGE TO HELP SYNTHESIZE MORE SOLUBLE SUGARS WHICH HELP PRODUCE A HIGH QUALITY, SWEET SMELLING SILAGE WITH EXCEPTIONAL PALATABILITY

BY REDUCING THE LEVEL OF OXIDATION, TEMPERATURE OF THE SILAGE IS MAINTAINED IN A RANGE OF 100 TO 110 DEGREES

THIS IS THE IDEAL TEMPERATURE FOR FERMENTATION THIS RESULTS IN A HIGHER PH [LOWER ACIDITY] AND A SILAGE OF VERY HIGH QUALITY

Stonesifer

"Anyone open-minded enough to try something can do it," believes Stonesifer. "But you've got to be willing to try."

Two years ago, the family moved into the 140-acre farm at 1120 Baust Church Road, near Union Bridge. An additional 350 acres are rented for the cropping program of corn, hay, small grains and pasture. A free-stall barn and double-four milking parlor house the almost completely registered Holstein herd.

Rolling herd average on DHIA for the 135 milking string is 16,300 pounds of milk and 598 pounds of fat. Cows are split into two production groups, with a cutoff point at 60 pounds milk per day for cows and 55 pounds for heifers. A 20 per cent complete protein feed complements the forages of corn silage and timothy - clover - alfalfa hay. High moisture eared corn is to be incorporated into the feeding program as well.

Stonesifer's herd has racked up impressive marks in type scoring. During recent classification, five new animals were upgraded to the converted Excellent designation, giving Stonesifer a total of seven head, including an Elevation son, in the top scoring bracket. The unofficial BAA (Breed Age Average) of the herd is 104 points, boosted by 42 cows scored Very Good and 50 head at Good Plus.

Several of the highest rated cows trace back to the purchase of an animal from 4-H'er Gary Duerr. Duerr is now employed by Stonesifer, along with recent high school graduate John Miller

"We have really terrific fellows for us," emphasized both Betty and Jim, with nothing but the highest praise for the job performance of Duerr and Miller "We value very highly the people we've come to know through the dairy and the registered Holstein business."

Activities within the 4-H program are claiming a large portion of interest from the younger members of the Stonesifer family. These outgoing youngsters display a keen interest in the farm and are already assuming responsibilities in the day-to-day chores.

Chris, the oldest, is eleven and will be in seventh grade. Her 4-H show animal has been scored Excellent and has given the youngster three daughters as a bonus, a record that many career dairymen would eye with envy Another basic philosophy of Jim's is paying off for Chris.

"I want to see that the youngsters get good foundation heifers," figures Stonesifer. "They get two gift animals to start; from then on, they must buy their own."

Ten-year-old Susie is a sixth grader and nature lover who is happiest when she can be off and playing in the woods and fields of the farm. Like the other children, Susie helps with rounding up the cows at milking time, feeding the calves in the hillside hutches, and keeps busy with 4-H projects.

Betty Stonesifer is dedicated to bringing up her children to enjoy reading and takes them regularly to a nearby library. Brian, who is eight and will enter fourth grade, is "the reader," says his mother. After exhausting borrowed library materials, Brian has been known to resort to pouring over the family encyclopedia in search of new information. Also a 4-H'er, he's quite fond of working with baby calves.

Karen, though the youngest at seven, has found her own special way to make a most valuable contribution to the farm. Jim terms Karen, "the heat detector."

At milking time, two of the children stand guard between the pasture and the barn and two others, accompanied by the family's collie, Pixie, go to bring in the cows. Karen knows almost all the cows by name and has become very efficient at alerting Jim to the herd individuals showing signs of heat. If she doesn't know the animal's name, Karen mentally notes the eartag and relays that information.

Betty manages to raise her family, help around the farm, maintain a garden, and still work full time as a secretary at American Telephone and Telegraph in nearby Finksburg. She's also served on planning committees for the district's middle school and day care center and helps with congregational activities at nearby Baust United Church of Christ

One of Betty's concerns is that too many food consumers today don't really know what a fresh, whole, cold glass of milk should taste like. Promotion is one area of the dairy industry that she feels must receive more attention and participation by every dairy producer.

"We must not completely rely on promotional agencies to do all our public relations work for us," insist the Stonesifer couple. "Each farm family must do their own part toward telling the dairy story."

Already assuming responsibilities within the Stonesifer family dairy operation are, from left: Susie, Karen, Chris and Brian, flanked by Pixie, the devoted pet collie.

Jim and Betty have joined with neighboring dairymen in forming Genuine Genetics, a sire sampling and breeding syndicate. By working together, the syndicate members can spread out the considerable cost involved in testing new bulls and gather more data on daughters bred by group participants in the program. The aim of the localized syndicate is to test a new sire every 18 months.

Devoted to the belief that "someone must take time to get involved," Betty and Jim are avid supporters of breed and related farm groups.

In 1974, they were selected Maryland Outstanding Young Farmer couple by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Active in the local and state Holstein organizations, Jim has served in a variety of offices within the group, including the presidency of the Carroll County Association. He's president of the local district and a state director of the Maryland Artifical Breeders Cooperative and is a state director and past county head of the DHIA program.

"But our farming operation today would not exist if Mom and Dad hadn't taken us in and been willing to serve as partners with us," credits Jim. "Dad helps with the operation every day. It's a family farm — and we want it to always stay that way."

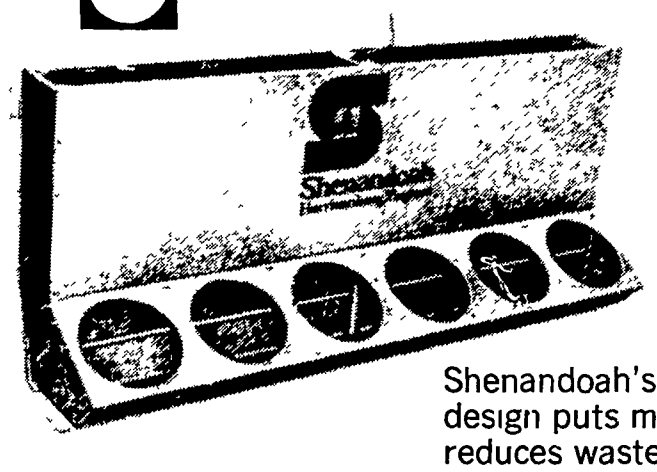
- ANNOUNCING - STAINLESS STEEL DINNERWARE FOR HOGS

STAINLESS STEEL

HOG FEEDERS

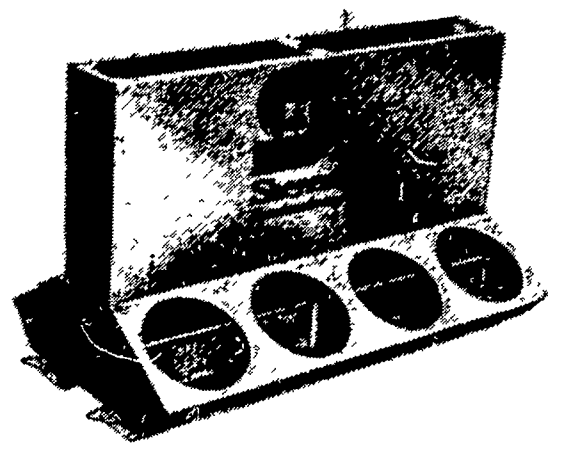
THE HOLE ANSWER TO ECONOMICAL HOG FEEDING

These new Shenandoah Stainless Steel Hog Feeders are designed for use in confinement. Although galvanized hog feeders won't last in confinement, due to corrosion and moisture as well as rough treatment from the hogs, Shenandoah Stainless Steel Feeders will stand up to the test. They are built to last and to resist corrosion. And they are easier to clean and disinfect.



MODEL HFS-33L

Shenandoah's exclusive ROUND HOLE design puts more steel in the base and reduces waste two ways: (1) eliminates base partitions which cause waste from a build-up of feed, and (2) provides a wide protecting rim so hogs can't rout feed out of trough.



MODEL HFS-4L

Model	Feed Holes	Capacity (approx.)	Length	Width (overall)	Height (overall)	Shipping Weight
HFS-11L	2	2.5 Bu.	24"	18"	32"	47 lbs.
HFS-33L	6	7.5 Bu.	72"	18"	32"	120 lbs.
HFS-4L	8	5 Bu.	48"	28"	32"	117 lbs.
HFS-6L	12	8 Bu.	72"	28"	32"	155 lbs.

NOTE: Check our other hog feeders for range operations.

Besides the high grade stainless steel that is used, these feeders have other outstanding features. For one, they come with a positive feed crank to adjust the feed gate. This crank, which is conveniently located at the top of the feeder, saves feed because it is so easy to keep adjusted correctly. An agitator to prevent feed buildup in corners is available as optional equipment.

MODEL HFS-11

These hog feeders are made narrower than range feeders to save valuable floor space. Runners keep these fenceline finishing feeders up off the floor.

year's yellow and blue ribbons were not their first brush with success. Several girls won recognition for two years in succession.

Among this year's senior fashion revue winners were: Robin Esbenshade, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Esbenshade, Manheim R7; Carole Ebersole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ebersole, Lititz R2; Betsy Best, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Best, New Holland R1; Jean Martin, daughter of Mrs. Maryanne Martin, New Holland R2; Jeanne Henry, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Henry, New Holland; Julie Bare, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bare, Lancaster; Cheryl Gingrich, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gingrich; and Marilyn Eberly, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Eberly, New Holland R2.

Senior alternates were Susan Howell, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Howell, New Holland R3; Debbie Krantz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Krantz, Quarryville R1; Jenny Neufeld, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Peter Neufeld, Ephrata R2; and Lora Frank, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. A D. Frank, Mountville.

Robin Esbenshade, age 17, took a Calvin Klein suit pattern and created a three-piece wool ensemble with a velveteen vest. The uneven plaid jacket featured a kick pleat in the back and the sleeves and hand top-stitching on pockets and lapel. The charcoal skirt included back hand-picked zipper and the vest featured a back buckle and a side panel and front button closure.

Another suit captured honors for Carole Ebersole. Miss Ebersole's ensemble consisted of a medium brown Donegal tweed fabric made into a skirt and jacket. The semi-fitted short jacket was detailed with three welt pockets, bound buttonholes, and was top-stitched in dark brown. The blouse and jacket lining give the outfit a total look since both are styled out of contrasting dark brown polyester fabric. The loosefitting blouse features pin tucks and a small pointed collar on the front buttoned band. The blouse also has full length sleeves gathered into a narrow buttoned band.

Crepe de chine molded into a semi-fitted dress with a blouson bodice and a gathered skirt earned Betsy Best top recognition on Thursday. The full length sleeves were gathered into cuffs and closed with covered buttons.

Modeling a rose suit was Jean Martin. Her ensemble featured an unlined jacket with a drawstring waistline and a front pleated skirt made of Gypsy print challis Jean finished the seams of the jacket and skirt by the Hong Kong method.

Jeanne Henry earned recognition at the dress revue with a unique outfit—a warm up suit Her three-piece sports outfit is made of a nylon arnel blend She utilized a man's pattern but changed the cuffs at the wrists and ankles and added a braid trim with decorative machine stitching

A light blue gabardine suit was the creation with which Julie Bare earned honors. Miss Bare chose to accent her outfit with a pink blouse. The flowing skirt is cut on the bias with inset pockets and a front button closing. Her semi-fitted tailored jacket is accented with welt pockets and floys placed on the angle to give variety.

Cheryl Gingrich wore a bamboo colored dress with prints appliqued on the bodice trimmed in brown. The dress ties in the back and has an A-shaped front yoke with a fitted bodice.

Marilyn Eberly's creation consisted of polyester flannel pants and vest made from Copenhagen blue pin stripe fabric. The unlined vest has patch pockets and bound buttonholes. To match her pants, Marilyn has made an off-white bow blouse of polyester crepe. Also part of the ensemble is a polyester gabardine skirt.

Alternate Susan Howell created a burgundy-rust brigadoon sleeveless jumper which featured a front and back gathered into a lined yoke as well as a notched collar, extended shoulders, and a partially elasticized self-drawstring waistline. Completing the ensemble is a cowl neck top made of cream colored qiana nylon.

Debbie Krantz' outfit is a four-piece suit consisting of a lined jacket with mock pockets and back princess seaming.

A pale sunburst outfit featuring a skirt with a pleated front and pockets with a left side button closing was the outfit made by Jenny Neufeld. Miss Neufeld's ensemble also included a fitted, buttonbuttoned vest with a notch collar and top stitching. The blouse has a front band button closing and long set-in sleeves which unifies the outfit.

A slate blue and bone plaid A-line skirt and matching vest is Lora Frank's outfit that won recognition at fashion revue. The outfit is worn with a bone colored bouse.

Junior division winners at Thursday's fashion revue included: Judy Weaver, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Weaver, 542 Stony Battery Road, Lancaster; Jane Royer, the daughter of Haskell Royer, Stevens R1; and Karen Gingrich, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gingrich, New Holland R2.

Junior alternates were: Jennie Phillips, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Phillips; Carla Pfautz, the daughter of Gerald Pfautz, Lititz R4; and Christine Voegtlen, Lancaster.

Junior division winner Judy Weaver created a three-piece suit featuring a top-stitched jacket with princess seaming, a notched collar, patch pockets and set-in sleeves. The top-stitched vest has front buttoned closing and the matching pants feature a hand-picked zipper. The material is polyester gabardine.

Jane Royer created a three-piece green sports outfit with unlined yoked jacket, straight skirt, and matching plaid blouse. Both jacket and shirt have long sleeves which gather into button cuffs.

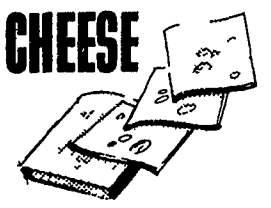
Karen Gingrich's three-piece outfit features a four gored wool skirt, and a lined, fitted vest.

Alternate Jennie Phillips made a Fall outfit of burgandy which includes an unlined jacket, and matching skirt of cotton polyester blend and a blouse with sleeves that gather into buttoned cuffs.

A cotton broadcloth dress featuring a boat neckline and short sleeves edged with red bias tape earned Carla Pfautz recognition at Thursday's fashion revue.

A peasant-look three-tiered ruffled skirt and matching shirt of champagne with a patch pocket was the winning combination for Christine Voegtlen.

Judges for the event were: Mrs. Sue VanZant, home economics teacher; Mrs. Bernard Bradley, with the Lancaster City School district; Mrs. Ruth Finkel, clothing instructor with Penn State Extension; and Debbie Spence, past 4-H'er and patchwork seamstress.



Farm Safety Week

trolling hazards and unsafe practices — the same kind of dedicated, careful management and attention to detail that has made possible our incredible increase in agricultural production."

During 1977, approximately 5,400 farm residents lost their lives in accidents and another 480,000 suffered disabling injuries, according to preliminary estimates from the National Safety Council. About 1,800 deaths and 180,000 disabling injuries were classified as farm work accidents. Workdeaths and injuries to farm and ranch residents accounted for 1,600 and 160,000 of these total respectively.

Nearly $4 billion is being lost annually through farm and ranch accidents, injuries, and deaths, statistics show. This figure does not include the costs in terms of human suffering, grief, and hardship.

Potato field day set

AIRVILLE--The York County Potato Field Day will be held on July 28 from 9:30 to 3:30 p.m. at the Eugene Manifold farm, Airville R2.

The field day will include sprayer demonstrations from 9:45 to 10:30; tours of demonstration plots from 10:30 - 11:45; a barbecued lunch at 11:45; and commercial exhibit visitation at 1:00 to 1:30. From 1:30 to 2:45 a repeat of the demonstration tours will be held and at 2:45 to 3:00 a recapping of the spray demonstrations will take place.

The following are the directions to the farm: follow Rt. 851 E from Exit 1 of Pa. Interstate Rt. 83 to Stewartstown. Continue following Rt. 851 right through the center of Stewartstown. Watch the signs and stay right on 851 through Stewartstown. Stay on 851 until a sign for Fawn Grove and New Park. Go staight and continue on highway directly by the Pleasant Valley Golf Course.

Come to a stop sign and continue straight until a crossroad at which road ends. Make a right hand turn. On left ahead, less than a mile, is Mobay Technical Demonstration Farm where the group will be located.

Gladys Mae Brubaker is someone who cares

Mrs. Gladys Mae Brubaker, nutrition aide; Doris Thomas, program director; and Tillie Gibson, nutrition aide supervisor, took over a list of Mrs. Brubaker's new duties as aide director for the Pennsylvania Para Professional Association.

By SUSAN KAUFFMAN
Staff Writer

LANCASTER – It is not very often that one hears someone say, "I just love my job! I really do. I enjoy it so much that I feel fortunate to have it!" But those are the sentiments of Gladys Mae Brubaker, nutrition aide for the Lancaster County Expanded Foods and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP).

Her obvious interest in her job and her several years' experience in this career have undoubtedly gone into her recent election as director for the Capital Region of the Pennsylvania Extension Para Professional Association. July 1 was the official beginning for Mrs. Brubaker's new responsibilities of representing the nutrition aides in nine local counties on a state-wide level.

During the two-year term as director, Mrs. Brubaker will carry to the state association the suggestions and grievances of her area, collect and pay dues for the various counties under her charge, help plan the annual state association meeting, and keep the county aides informed of association actions.

Although the record keeping and correspondence will add to her present workload as an aide in Lancaster County, Gladys looks forward to this new challenge to help continue the program – a very worthwhile one in her eyes. At the urging of her director, Mrs. Doris Thomas, Lancaster County extension home economist, Mrs. Brubaker ran for office and was elected in June. Mrs. Brubaker feels she can count on Mrs. Thomas and her nutrition aide supervisor, Tillie Gibson, to assist her with her new duties as they have done in the past with her job as an aide. Mrs. Brubaker values highly the cooperation between administrators and aides she has experienced during the six years she has worked in EFNEP.

EFNEP, a part of the Cooperative Extension Service of The Pennsylvania State University, has as its primary goal nutrition and money management education for families with limited resources. Two years after the national program was instituted, EFNEP was begun in Lancaster County by Penn State in 1971. One year later, Mrs. Brubaker began her work in the southern end of Lancaster County.

Instructors in EFNEP are called nutrition aides. Before they start to work with families on a one to one basis, the aides are trained during a three-week program at the Farm and Home Center. Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Gibson direct the program and instruct the prospective aides in nutrition, money management, and the operation of the nutrition aide program.

Presently there are 12 nutrition aides working in Lancaster County. Six are funded through Penn State. Four are paid through the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) and two are paid through the Office of Aging, Title 9.

Families in need of nutritional advice are referred to the Lancaster County Extension Service by various agencies throughout the city and county. Mothers with small children are a primary concern. These families are then contacted by a nutrition aide to explain the program, and if they are interested in gaining some information on nutrition, they participate in the program on a one to one basis.

Mrs. Brubaker explained that she may make one or two initial contacts within a few weeks' time to determine if the family wishes to take part in the purely educational program. Once the mother of the household decides to avail herself of the program's information and the aide's support, the aide then begins weekly visits to the home and develops a program geared to the immediate needs of that home. Mrs. Brubaker explained that many special problems may need particular attention such as obesity, diabetes, blindness or very limited funds, to name a few.

With the assistance of the director and the aide supervisor, the aides gather as many applicable types of educational materials as are available. Filmstrips, books, pamphlets, menus, recipes, newsletters, charts, and tapes all go into the educational program.

At the first the aide may visit the home once a week. Depending on the rate of progress, the schedule will shift to a visit every two weeks and then once a month. After some progress has taken place the mothers are encouraged to form groups for more support and instruction. Eventually, some of the mothers will take over the instruction themselves in 4-H youth nutrition clubs under the supervision of a nutrition aide.

The information-centered program assists homemakers in gaining the necessary knowledge to help themsleves improve their family's eating habits and health and to guide in better money management. Presently there are 1000 families cooperating in the program in Lancaster County with a prospective total of 600 youth involved in Summer 4-H nutrition clubs. In addition to those families already in the program, the extension office receives 75 to 100 additional names each month.

Mrs. Brubaker told Lancaster Farming that her present case load is 70 families. Her area includes the southern end of the county from Columbia to Christiana and as far south as the Maryland line.

Although she has a large geographic territory to cover and a many families to become involved with on a one to one basis, Mrs. Brubaker thoroughly enjoys her work.

"I am glad I have this job and I really enjoy it so much." "It is a challenge to find ways to help each family," she says. "Each family has a special need and I try to meet it and find a way to help," she said.

"We work with the mother, mostly, because if she eats well then her family will probably eat well, too, since she is the one who prepares the food. In order to get the mother to see where her diet might be missing some of the four basic food groups, I ask her to recall everything she ate in the last 24 hours. I do this at the beginning and every six months to see what progress has been made."

Mrs. Brubaker explained that she works with most families for a two year period before they graduate or join a group program. The mothers especially delight in receiving recipes and finding new ways to prepare foods. Occasionally, the aide will go along with a mother to the grocery store to assist her in shopping wisely for food value for the money spent and for nutritionally sound menus.

When working closely with people in their homes, Mrs. Brubaker pointed out there is obviously a great deal more than the instruction in nutrition facts and money management that goes into the success of the program. She found over the last six years that the immediate problems of the household have to be overcome, and she, as an aide, has to gain the confidence and trust of the families before she can communicate with them meaningfully.

"Many times I have had calls late at night from a mother who had to have someone to talk to about something that was really bothering her. I hope I can help out then, too," she added.

Having lived in southern Lancaster County all her life and having reared four children of her own, Mrs. Brubaker has had experience in family living and the locality in which she works. She credits much of her happiness and success in this job, however, to her faith.

"I think this job was what God had in mind for me to do after my children were grown. My church has been very good for me and this job. The families are so appreciative of the help I can give them and I am thankful that I can help them."

"The theme of EFNEP is 'Someone who cares," Mrs. Brubaker pointed out.

"It was hard for me to go back to school to start this job, but as I have often told my children, 'If a job is worth doing, it is worth doing it the best way you can and any job that is worthwhile will require a lot of hard work.' I had to remind myself of that many times as I became discouraged from time to time with the classes I took," Mrs. Brubaker recalled.

In addition to meeting with homemakers in their homes, Mrs Brubaker also works with a 4-H club in the southern end of the county, teaches nutrition at the Solanco School District in the Senior High Special Educaton class and a clinic at Lionville once a month.

Mrs. Brubaker has always been a busy person with four children, serving for 20 years as a Sunday School teacher, singing in the choir and leading a Good News Club at the New Providence Church of God. And now she feels fortunate to be very busy with EFNEP. Gladys Mae Brubaker is definitely "someone who cares."

Farm Women Societies

Berks Co. Society 3

Berks County Farm Women, Society 3 held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Ralph Baus, Boyertown R3.

Richard Seidel, director of transportation for the Boyertown Area School District was the speaker. He showed a film about discipline on a school bus and how "innocent" horseplay can and does lead to school bus accidents and fatalities among the students riding the buses. A question and answer period followed.

During the business meeting the ladies voted to give $25 to the state scholarship fund.

The next meeting will be a family covered dish at the Boyertown Community Park at 6:30 p.m., on July 25.

Berks Co. Society 9

The July meeting of Berks County Farm Women Society 9 was held in the home of Mrs. Nancy Lehmann, Yellow House. Eleven members attended to see a demonstration of microwave cooking.

Mrs. Gwen Lehmann showed the oven's speed and versatility as she prepared a breakfast-and dish of chili con carne, which the ladies sampled.

The group decided to buy two tents for the Campfire Girls, Amityville.

On July 23, the group's picnic will be held at the Daniel Boone Homestead.

The next meeting of the group will be on August 2 at the home of Mrs. Sue Hendricks, Amityville.

Lancaster Co. Society 3

Members of Lancaster County Farm Women Society 3 and their families were entertained July 16 at the Shady Grove Park, Reinholds. Guests of the group included the Lancaster County Executive Board of the Farm Women Societies.

A picnic luncheon was served. During the afternoon there were games for the children and miniature golf for the adults.

A short business meeting was in charge of President Mrs. Luther Moore.

Program committees for 1979 were announced. They include Mrs Earl Stauffer, Mrs. Tom Zartman, Mrs. Earl Smoker, Mrs. John Edwards, Mrs Carl Meck, Mrs. Kathryn Eberly, and Miss Debra Gregory.

On August 23, the children from the area will be entertained at a day camp at the Mt. Airy Fire Hall. There will be crafts, games, and entertainment. Transportation and food will be provided.

The 4-H Economics Clubs form the northern end of the county wijll be treated to a swim party, the date to be announced later.

The next meeting of the group will be on August 19 at the home of Mrs. Robert Gregory.

There will be a trip to Longwood Gardens July 18. The group is to meet at the home of Mrs. Ben Landis at 6 p.m.

Lancaster Co Society 29

Lancaster County Farm Women Society 29 held its monthly meeting July 17 at the Stonebridge Butcher Shop in Mount Joy. The Society entertained Society 18 and the county officers. Skewers of fresh fruit with cheese and crackers were served while president Marty Bixler conducted a business meeting.

Committee reports were given and discussion was held on a community project for the Society. A nominating committee was selected to find candidates for president, vice-president and historian for the next two years. A motion was made to fill a two quart canister for the LARC Bazaar and was carried. Discussion was held on a meeting for next year. Meeting was then adjourned.

John H. Brubaker, owner of the Butcher Shop, gave a tour describing the killing of the animal to actually cutting-up a side of beef. Mrs. Brubaker gave helpful tips on the different cuts of meat and how best to prepare each cut.

Thanks were given to hostesses, Sharon Hiestand, Mary Ann Strickler, Marty Bixler, and Sande Ober for the refreshments.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

During the several years that I've been writing this column, I have met some very nice people. Even though I live in a rather isolated area with only a rural route as an address, some folks have managed to find me They have come with a horse and wagon and a bunch of children, they've come by boat and they've come in a Lincoln.

Sometimes they tell me that they, too, enjoy a beautiful sunset at the end of a busy day or believe in some wilderness areas for wildlife on the farm. Other times they express an interest in where we have vacationed or even ask how some garden crop is grown. One man exchanged a jar of his own honey for a peck of my artichokes.

It's been a pleasure to get to know people from other countries and visit in their homes. This past week I was really surprised to have an Amish family stop in and bring with them a couple from Connecticut. The woman wanted to meet me as she reads Lancaster Farming newspaper regularly.

Of the many letters that I've received, only one stands out as a "nasty one". This particular lady chastised me for allowing a boy to trap muskrats in a marshy section of our field, where a new highway pours water unto it. She felt that no animals should ever be trapped. And if the town boy needed money, she suggested that we should give him a job on the farm "tending our cows". It is too bad that she doesn't have a sweet corn patch, 90 per cent devoured by raccoons the night before the morning she intended to pick and freeze it; then she too would be ready to trap some animals

Usually, however, my readers and I share similar ideas, ways of life and hobbies

BAKED FILLED ZUCCHINI

3 zucchini (1 to 3 inches thick)
Salt and pepper
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped celery
1 cup ground meat or leftover cooked meat
1 slice bread, cubed
1 (8 ounce) can tomato sauce
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Cook zucchini in boiling salted water for three minutes. Cut in half lengthwise. Scoop out pulp. Salt and pepper. Melt butter; add onion, celery, and meat Cook until lightly browned. Add bread cubes, scooped out pulp and tomato sauce. Stuff mixture in zucchini. Place in shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake 30 minutes until tender at 375 degrees F. Serves six

STUFFED ZUCCHINI

1½ pound small zucchini
1½ cups fresh bread crumbs
¾ cup grated cheese, cheddar
¼ cup minced onion
2 tablespoons snipped parsley
1¼ teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
2 eggs, beaten
2 tablespoons butter

Scrub zucchini well. Cut off ends; do not pare. Cook whole with one teaspoon salt in one inch boiling water, covered, about five to seven minutes. Start heating oven to 350. Cut squash in halves lengthwise. With tip of spoon, carefully remove squash from shells. Chop into small pieces, then combine with bread crumbs and rest of ingredients except butter and ¼ cup cheese. Pile mixture lightly into zucchini shells, dot with butter. Sprinkle with ¼ cup grated cheese. Arrange filled shells in large baking pan. Bake, uncovered for 30 minutes, or until brown on top. Makes four servings.

Pizza

ZUCCHINI PIZZA

Olive or vegetable oil
3 small zucchini, unpeeled and sliced (about 2 cups)
½ pound Italian sweet sausage, removed from casing
½ cup coarsely chopped onion
½ cup coarsely chopped green pepper
1 clove garlic, minced
1 (15 ounce) package pizza (includes flour mix, tomato sauce, and ground cheese)
8 ounces Mozzarella cheese, coarsely grated
¾ teaspoon dried crushed oregano

In a heavy 10-inch skillet heat about 1½ tablespoons oil; add the zucchini and cook gently, turning as necessary, until the slices look somewhat clear and some of them are slightly browned With a slotted spoon remove the zucchini and set aside.

Add the sausage to the skillet and crumbling with a fork, brown and thoroughly cook. To the sausage in the skillet add about 1½ tablespoons oil, the onion, green pepper and garlic; cook gently, stirring often, until the vegetables are wilted; set aside.

Make up the dough for the pizza according to package directions, but add ½ tablespoon oil with the water; let stand for five minutes as package directs. Spread a 12-inch black iron skillet (with an ovenproof handle) with a light film of oil and pat the dough over the bottom and almost half way up the sides - don't worry abour irregular edges. Sprinkle with a third of the mozzarella then with half the sausage mixture; arrange half the zucchini over the sausage and sprinkle with half of the cheese from the pizza package. Repeat layers Stir in the oregano into the tomato sauce from the pizza package and pour it over the layers; top with the remaining third of mozzarella. Pinch crust into even edge around pie

Bake on the lowest rack of a preheated 425 degree F oven for 20 minutes. Cut in wedges and serve at once or the crust will get soggy.

On being a farm wife

—And other hazards

By JOYCE BUPP

Stars twinkled in the sky and cricket voices sang through the dark night as I walked to barn late that night for a supply of milk for the breakfast cereals

Strange murmurings could be heard with the opening of the milk house door. Following the sound back into the barn, I was astonished when I stumbled into a noisy meeting.

"We've got to march on Washington," Bossy was bellowing. "It's time to lobby for quick passage of ERA – Equal Rights for Animals!"

"Let's coordinate our demands," suggested herd leader Gloria, prepared to begin writing notes on the whitewashed barn walls with a red paint stick

"Put a national health program at the top of that list," ordered sore-feet, mastitis-prone Angel "What shall we call it?"

"Medicow, of course!" mooed Amy

"Well, I certainly would ask that they make free family planning information available," sighed old Belle, the 10-year-old grandma cow whose twin heifers butted against her bulging udder every five minutes hunting a snack.

"Don't forget to ask for increased feed stamps," reminded big, lumbering, always hungry Susan "Just because I don't fill the milk pail as full as Millie and Jan should not keep me from getting my equal share at the grain feeder. They owe that to me"

"And no more expecting us to walk out to pasture and find our own grass," added Lazy Lilly, sprawled out relaxing in the walkway.

"Add an amendment to force farmers to cut the grass fresh each day and bring it to us."

"How about including an article to repeal artificial insemination?" came another suggestion from somewhere in the back row of stalls

"And why not stiff fines for veterinarians with cold hands?" was heard voiced from another direction.

"Incorporate as part of the legislation enforcing Saturdays and Sundays off from milking, as well as eight annual paid holidays and three weeks Summer vacation." insisted a final speaker

I don't buy that package of negotiation suggestions – but if they can make that last item stick, I'll march right along with them

Chicken barbecue planned

VINEMONT -- The Vinemont Community Lutheran Church will hold its annual Summer Take-Out Chicken Barbecue on the church grounds along the Fritztown - Vinemont - Reinholds highway today (July 22) between the hours of 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. The ladies of the church will conduct a baked goods sale at the same time. Also, the youth group, led by Mrs. Gerald Grumbling, will have the same barbecued chicken and baked goods on sale at the Weaver Store in Blainsport The public is invited to attend and participate.

My Thoughts ...

And welcome to them

By JOANNE SPAHR
Assistant Editor

Picking my face up off the macadam, I surveyed my situation

Uh ha Just as I thought My foot was stuck in the handle of my suitcase as I had predicted, and, yes, that was my camera bag poking me in the back But, wait a second Where was my purse and bag of presents I had so diligently carried on the plane from Michigan?

Checking out the area thoroughly, I saw the lost items under a car a few feet from me

Darn it, I thought If it hadn't been for that camera bag slipping off my shoulder I could have gotten them all to the car in one trip

But, as I went to pick up all the paraphernalia and position it perfectly, again, on my shoulders, around my neck, through my teeth, and in between my fingers, I faintly recalled a snide remark one of my fellow travelers had thrown in my direction as I had embarked car-ward from the airport

"How long did you think you were going to stay in Michigan, anyway?" the Harvestore salesman had queried with a devilish grin on his face "Two days or two years?"

Well, I had to admit that he had something, there As much as I liked to fancy myself a young chick, I knew in my heart that I was really just one of those old dogs who you couldn't teach new tricks All my life I had overpacked for trips, and this one was no exception By the time I got home from the two-day trip, I had a bulging, huge suitcase, a camera bag, a full purse, a handful of magazines, and a bag of gifts to lug to my awaiting auto

But, I thought in defense of myself, I wasn't the only one of the 81 travelors on the trip who couldn't change habits

For instance, there was the one farm wife who made her hotel bed in the mornings, saving the maid the trouble (What a farmer)

If that wasn't bad enough, there was the salesman who was up to his old tricks of getting stuck in hotel bathrooms and not being able to find his way out (You know what they say--you can dress them up but you can't take them anywhere)

And, of course, every farmer on the trip wouldn't settle for less than a full course meal when it was time to eat Just the mere mention of a hamburger joint brought cries of "Do you really want to eat cull cows for lunch?" (Huh Never thought of it quite like that)

So, after thinking it over, I decided that I wasn't the only person on the trip who had traits which would never change Just about that time, the camera bag slipped off my shoulder, and I tripped over my suitcase

Soviets take U.S. farm tour

WASHINGTON, D.C. – A seven-man delegation of Russian farm managers has arrived in Washington, D.C., to begin a whirlwind tour of agricultural facilities in six states. All of the Russians are either chairmen of collective farms or directors of experimental farms.

Sponsors of the ten-day tour are the American Farm Bureau Federation, Cargill, Inc., and the U.S.-U.S.S.R. Trade and Economic Council, Inc.

First stop on the tour will be Chicago after which the visitors will travel by bus to Wisconsin to visit several types of dairy farm operations, hosted by Wisconsin Farm Bureau leaders.

The next three days will be spent in Illinois where the visitors will see Cargill's hybrid corn research station and several cattle, hog, dairy, corn and soybean farms. Hosts will be AFBF personnel, including Allan Grant, AFBF president, and Illinois Farm Bureau leaders.

For a change of pace, the Russians will tour Chicago points of interest and see the Chicago White Sox play the New York Yankees before flying on to Fort Collins, Colorado, the evening of July 23.

In Colorado the delegation will visit cattle feed lots, including Monfort's, reputed to be the world's largest, see cow-calf ranch operations, and a wheat research station.

From Colorado, the tour will go to Montana to see winter and spring wheat farms before flying to Fargo, North Dakota. Spring wheat, barley, and sunflower operations will be seen in North Dakota, before the group flies to Minneapolis, Minnesota, headquarters for the Cargill operation.

After a day in Minneapolis, the Russians will go to New York City where they will meet with officials of the U.S.-U.S.S.R. Trade and Economic Council before returning to the Soviet Union.

Chester Co. seamstresses aim for regionals

By JOANNE SPAHR

WEST CHESTER — Eleven out of 31 seamstresses participating in the Chester County 4-H "Clothes Encounter" dress revue on Tuesday walked away with honors, and six will have a shot at regional competition.

Held at the Treadway Inn in West Chester, the dress revue was the grand finale for Chester County 4-H clothing project participants. During the day's events, the girls had to chance to judge the work of their peers as well as have their own handiwork evaluated. They also practiced their poise and competed for the chance to go to regional competition to be held at the Granite Run Mall this Thursday.

The six award-winning seniors who will be taking part in this Thursday's competition include: Marie Crossan, the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Richard M Crossan, Kaolin; Patty Jenkins, the daughter of Mr and Mrs. William Jenkins, London Grove; Kathy Maule, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Maule, West Grove; Antonella Mastrippolito, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Mastrippolito, Kaolin; Nadine Prange, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs Horace Prange, Oxford; and Sharon Stinson, daughter of J. Ralph Stinson, Kaolin. Senior alternate is Betsy Wollaston, the daughter of Charles Wollaston, Toughkenamon.

Miss Crossan's outfit was a navy wool blend fully lined A-line skirt with a matching jacket. The jacket featured a pointed collar, wide lapels, shoulder pads, and back vents. She added an extra touch with shaped patch pockets.

A peach print in small and medium sizes tied Patty Jenkin's three-piece outfit together. Miss Jenkins created a gathered skirt with a back zipper and tailored waistband; a blouse with a convertible collar, front button closing, and sleeves gathered to button cuffs. She topped the ensemble off with a reversible vest

Antonella Mastrippolito earned honors for a red slacks outfit she created which included a green, red, and black plaid shirt. The fabric used was cotton polyester which enabled her to easily add contrasting red fabric to the shirt yokes, bands, collar, and cuffs.

A formal red print dress of polyester which featured raglan sleeves and a flared skirt was Kathy Maule's award winning entry Miss Maule also selected a necklace to accent the V-neckline of her freelance project.

Nadine Prange celebrated her 10th year in 4-H with the selection of a mid-calf bias skirt and very loose fitting blouse The blouse also featured sleeves which gathered into a narrow, standing collar.

Earning dress revue recognition for Sharon Stinson was a white quiana halter dress and cape. The cape gently falls over her shoulders and is opened down the back. The front bodice gathers, and the straps secure behind the neck.

Alternate Betsy Wollaston created a cranberry kettlecloth pullover dress with a front slash opening and an elastic waistline casing. Enhancing her ensemble was a striped shirt with cuffed raglan sleeves.

Junior division winners included Lynda Thompson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Thompson, Unionville; Robin Leaman, the daughter of Mr and Mrs. John Leaman, Cochranville; and Tammy Sharp, the daughter of Mrs W. Frank Truitt, Avondale. Alternate was Teresa McHenry, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McHenry, Cochranville

Lynda Thompson modeled a jumpsuit with collar, buttons and loop closings, and a waistline casing and elastic.

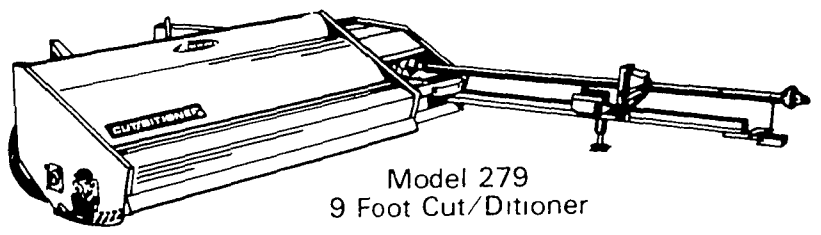
7 Foot Cut/Ditioner

HIGH CAPACITY, TROUBLE-FREE OPERATION, Non-Plug, Non-Stop

The rugged, plug-free 7 ft 272 Cut/Ditioner is built for farmers who want premium quality hay It handles light or heavy stands You'll get fast drying, high quality hay from a machine that costs much less than comparable mower-conditioners Low on maintenance, too!



Model 279

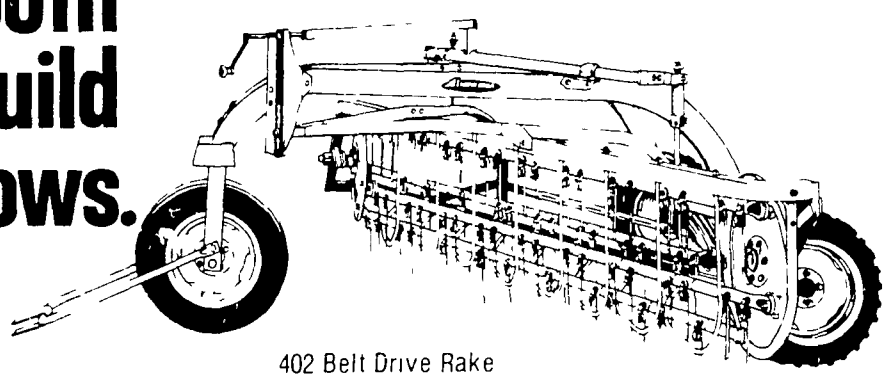
NEW IDEA MODEL 279 CUT/DITIONER

Less Maintenance . . . More Production

This is a high-capacity workhorse that will breeze through hay fields at a rate of up to five acres an hour taking a full 9 foot cut. Virtually plug-free, it will handle the heaviest crops under the toughest conditions fast Produces the kind of hay livestock prefer. It's softer!

The Belt Drive Rake is the quiet, smooth way to build fluffy windrows.



402 Belt Drive Rake

Smoothly quietly, it rakes an exceptionally clean 8-1/2 foot width with minimum leaf shattering and builds fluffy, uniform windrows The straight axle design working with the spring suspension with friction brake, reduces basket bounce, even on rough terrain

Available with either front wheel or hitch jack The front wheel acts as a gauge wheel and follows the ground contour closely for a cleaner job of raking and reduces tooth wear Further the front wheel permits the

The Bale King

Look for the star. It s your way of knowing the bale hasn t been tightly wound, squeezed and compacted all the way from the center out The Avco New Idea Bale King gives you the star in the center that tells you the hay is still soft The bale is compacted from the outside inward to give a hard wrap for extra protection against the weather as well as shape retention in storage

Look for positive, easy start. The open chamber design and positive-start pickup feeds hay straw, or cornstalks right into the chamber You can stay right in your tractor seat for easy, safe operation from start to finish

Seamstresses

Robin Leaman's outfit consisted of a peacock blue pair of slacks made from wool and lined for comfort and longer wear. Accenting the pants was a striped turtleneck top.

A sleeveless dress of light blue eyelet fabric with ruffles on the bodice and bottom of garment earned Tammy Sharp recognition at the dress revue. To accent her outfit she also made a white velvet choker necklace.

Alternate Teresa McHenry's outfit consisted of a blue brushed denim wrap-around skirt and a blue floral print cotton blouse.

Although the alternates will not actually compete at Thursday's regional revue, they will attend and take part in programs with the alternate serving as hostess for the county.

Serving as judges for the county revue were Maryetta Duffner, Delaware County Extension home economist, and Mrs. Russell Foss, former 4-Her from West Chester

National Sheep referendum set for late August

WASHINGTON, D.C. – The U.S. Department of Agriculture has announced that the National Sheep Referendum will be held August 21 through September 1, 1978. The referendum will decide whether or not sheep producers and feeders wish to continue the sheep, lamb and wool promotion work of the American Sheep Producers Council. The referendum vote by sheep producers and lamb feeders will be conducted through ASCS county offices which will distribute copies of ballots to sheep producers and feeders in late August. Producers and feeders may cast their ballots by mailing or hand delivering them to county ASCS offices before the close of business September 1, 1978.

Phil Farrell, chairman of the National Wool Growers Association in Washington, D.C., stated: "A 'yes' vote on this National Sheep Referendum would give industry endorsement to a new agreement between the Secretary of Agriculture and the Denver-based American Sheep Producers Council, Inc. to continue ASPC's advertising, promotion, education, public relations and merchandising programs on behalf of the American sheep industry."

Farrell said, "We are at a very critical stage in the history of the sheep industry. We must reverse the decline in sheep numbers. The Blueprint for Expansion program, which has been coordinated and funded by ASPC, is vital to this effort. Now, more than ever, we must rebuild our markets and continue the industry momentum which has been generated by excellent market conditions for lamb and wool in recent months, and spurred on ASPC's excellent promotions."

Farrell said he has appointed Bill Balden, a Danville, Kentucky sheepman to act as chairman of the Referendum Committee. Balden commented on the referendum and the work of his committee: "Each referendum since the first in 1954 has been approved by a substantial margin by the nation's sheep producers. This year we are again seeking approval by either two-thirds of the producers voting or by producers of two-thirds of the volume of sheep represented by those voting. In 1974 about 85.5 per cent of the producers owning 87.8 per cent of the sheep represented in the vote said 'yes' to a new promotion agreement with USDA. We hope to improve on that vote this year."

Norm Palm, National Lamb Feeders Association president, said that producers will also be voting to increase promotion deductions. The proposed deductions in the referendum are 2½ cents up from 1½ cents for each pound of wool sold, and 12½ cents up from 7½ cents for each 100 pounds of unshorn lamb sold "This is a very modest increase when you consider that the total amount deducted for national promotion of our products is only 0.05 per cent of the industry's gross income. There has only been one other deduction increase. Since then the American Sheep Producers Council has faced reduced income because of declining product volume, and strong inflation has reduced available monies," Palm said.

Farrell added that ASPC is responsible for the sheep industry's national product and industry promotion effort "There are many strong competitors for our lamb and wool products. ASPC is an efficient and effective marketing tool in our fight to maintain and increase our competitive edge. The production and marketing/promotion functions of our industry are essential if we are to succeed. We sheep producers intend to be aronund for a long time. Let's make sure we insure the life of our promotion function in the American Sheep Producers Council by voting 'yes' in the referendum."

When these hot humid days of Summer hit, my horse Dollar takes his vacation Anytime the temperature goes over 80°F, he heads down under the old shade tree to hide indefinitely

If I have the nerve to go disturb his siesta, I have to literally drag him the whole way to the barn Shuffling his feet, he quietly snorts his displeasure The only thing that keeps him moving is dire threats about his future as dog food

When he is saddled and we head down the road together, his top speed is Crawl 1 And that's downhill Uphill he looks like he's on his last gasp Sometimes I even get off and walk, he fools me so bad

If we happen to meet anyone, he takes the opportunity to put on a big show, puffing and blowing -- even if he's only gone 50 feet from the barn His big brown eyes beseech his visitor to beg me to get off his back and let him rest in peace

The further we go from home, the worse he gets

Then when we finally turn back towards the barn, he looks like a racehorse in its best form. Showing energy galore, he tries to run in a straight line to his old shade tree

And when he is finally unsaddled and allowed to amble back down to his favorite spot, he has to give one last snort over making a poor horse work on his vacation time

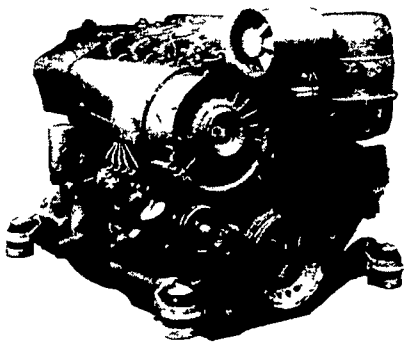
COST


CUTTER
The cost of diesel fuel has jumped nearly 100 percent since October, 1973 and it's still about three cents a gallon cheaper than gasoline. Higher fuel costs call for a closer look at total operating costs when you buy engines. Deutz air-cooled engines use 20 to 40 percent less fuel than most water-cooled diesel engines - far less than gasoline engines And they are competitively priced. So hadn't you better buy or specify the cost cutter - Deutz? 10 to 500 bhp.
Today there are more competitive brands of air cooled diesels on the market than ever before — yet we doubled our sales in the last two years — which says it all about public acceptance of Deutz diesels

Wylie has champ at Chester Co. 4-H beef show

GLENMOORE – Warming up for Fall beef competition, 14-year-old Bill Wylie, Nottingham, took the grand champion steer title of the 11th annual Chester County-Summer 4-H beef show held at Devereux Soleil Farm, here, last Saturday. Wylie showed a 1120 pound Simmental crossbred out of West Virginia

This year's reserve champion steer belonged to 13-year-old Jeff Walker, the son of Mr and Mrs. Paul Walker, West Chester R1. Walker's Charolais/Angus/Hereford cross weighed in at 1055 pounds and was purchased at Octorara Farm's club calf sale. Walker was also named junior champion showman at the Summer show.

In Angus heifer competition, Gary Walker took the championship position with Shannon Mertz coming in with the reserve champion

Robbie Rohrer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rohrer, Nottingham, placed first in first year showmanship competition and Ed Wylie, Nottingham, took top honors in the senior dividsion.

A complete list of winners follows:

Lightweight

1. Jim Anderson, 2. Richard Coleman, 3. Sheila Fairbairn, 4. Brian Hutt, 5. Shannon Mertz, 6. Trudi Marsh, 7. Terri Marsh, and 8 Tammi Marsh.

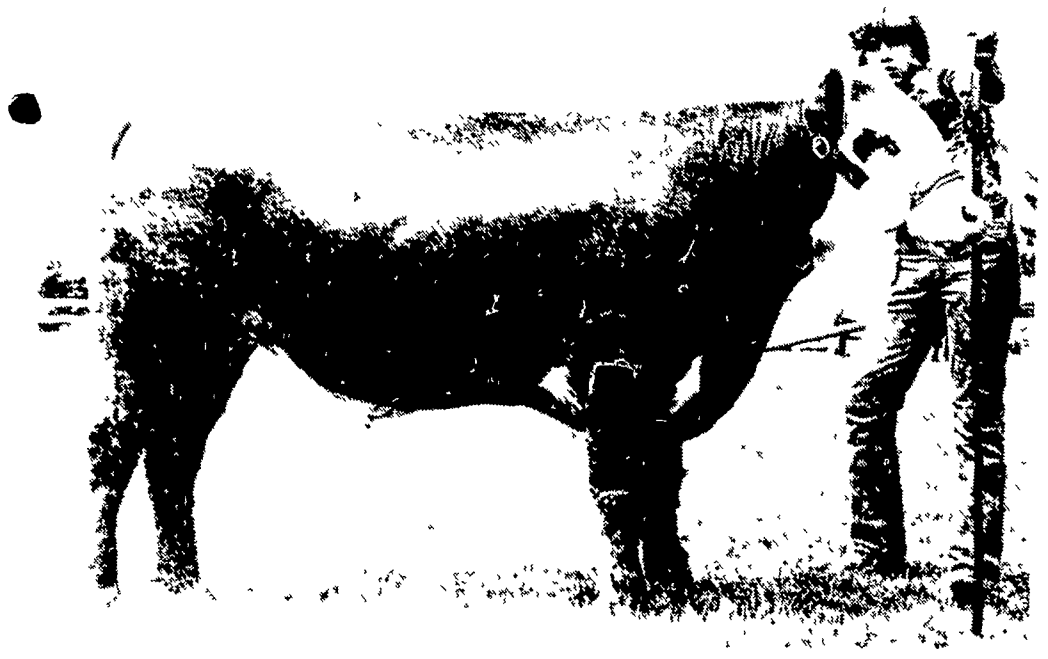
Judge for the event was Donny Nichols, herdsman, Penn State University. Ringmaster was Conrad Grove, Devereux Soleil Farm.

Bill Wylie poses with his grand champion Simmental crossbred at the 11th annual Chester County Summer 4-H beef show.



In the reserve champion slot of the steer division at the Chester County 4-H Summer beef show was an animal showed by Jeff Walker. Jeff's champ was a Charolais/Angus/Hereford crossbred.

Juniper midge causing damage

HARRISBURG – State Agriculture Secretary Kent Shelhamer says that the juniper midge, a small mosquito-like insect, could pose a real problem for nurserymen, nursery dealers and homeowners in the commonwealth.

According to Shelhamer, the juniper midge causes damage to plants in the form of browning out and killing numerous small branches. He noted that in some cases, growers have confused the midge with a fungal infection which also kills branch tips, treating damaged plants with fungicides instead of insecticides.

Shelhamer suggested nurserymen and dealers should spray with dimethoate (cygon 2E) in accordance with label directions in early to mid-July, and should repeat applications about three weeks later.

The juniper midge lays its eggs on juniper branches during June. When the eggs hatch, the tiny larvae bore into the branch tips. These larvae feed in the branches during the summer and create a mine or tunnel which can girdle the twigs.

The larvae, or maggots, are dormant in Winter, but remain in the juniper twigs. With the onset of Spring weather, the maggots complete their development and drop out of the twigs and burrow into the soil where they transform into adult flies to renew the cycle.

Branch tips, Shelhamer said, do not turn brown until after the maggots have abandoned the twigs, and the brown tips seen in June and July are the result of infestations from the previous year. Branch tips of one to four inches turn brown and often break off at the point where they were girdled. But usually by Fall, the dead tips have broken off and new growth gives the plants a healthy appearance.

Andora juniper, a low growing plant, is the preferred host of the juniper midge, but all prostrate varieties and some upright varieties of the juniper are also susceptible.

When you're staring straight up at the belly of a cow and you see two hind legs coming towards you, you know you're in trouble

I was

Only a split second before it happened I was leading the animal with a rope halter Suddenly she bolted and I ended up squeezed between a 1400-pound galloping cow and an abrasive concrete block wall I hung on to the rope But the cow moved on like a locomotive and I just about got smeared over the plaster I tumbled down and instinctively raised my arms in a crossed position for what little protection that might offer

But the cow stepped over me with legs raised high for abundant clearance

That was just one of many lessons in farm safety which I learned the hard way

Another dangerous episode involved that deadly machine - the forage harvester It's sharp spinning knives are fascinating, and everyone has a healthy respect for its power and ability to chop forage crops at the rate of one ton per minute

The scene of the accident was a hay field I was greenchopping a load of feed for the cows and somehow managed to clog the mechanical "digestive tract" of the metal monster It was taking the crop in, but none was coming out That big red machine was really constipated

I disengaged the power-take-off clutch, shut off the ignition and vaulted over the right tire of the tractor into the clover and orchard grass stubble below

The huge flywheel with the six knives on it was still spinning when I approached the rear of the machine Some of the gears and chains were still making their rounds too clicking and dancing to a rhythm all their own

I calmly loosened the latches which held the flywheel cover in place figuring that I could do that without danger I was wrong

As I pulled the cover up and towards me I somhow got just enough of a twist in it to set it up for a direct hit by the knives Without even the slightest warning, the heavy metal cover was ripped from its hinges, hit me square in the face, and sent me flying into the stubble

Naturally, the cover came right along It wasn't comfortable, to say the least

Miraculously, I didn't even get a bloody nose out of that deal But it hurt tremendously and I almost got enough sense knocked into me to never again want to expose a part of a machine which is still in action - even if it is only due to its own momentum

I say "almost got enough sense knocked into me" because it took a similar lesson a few years later to really register the point

Working for a friend on a Lancaster County dairy farm, I was unloading corn silage at the blower It was a familiar routine I had been doing it for years The only difference was that in this case we were adding an obnoxious smelling protein additive and silage preservative to the corn silage as it was being blown up to the top of the 60 foot silo

Then the moment came which everyone unloading silage wagons dreads The pipe clogged So much for blowers which are supposed to be fool proof against such happenings I shut all of the equipment off and removed the ring which held the pipe to the top of the blower

As was true with the forage harvester accident, the machine still carried plenty of momentum in its moving parts especially that 57-inch fan

Again, the unexpected happened As I shoved the pipe aside in order to begin clearing it, the fan shot a heavy dose of the ammonia-based additive into my face

The inside of my head was in such pain that I wondered if it was all there The nasal cavities were stung severely and an extreme burning sensation engulfed my eyes I thought I would never see again It was one of the worst and most painful farm disasters I ever experienced

I staggered into the milk house and flushed my face with gallons of cool water The burning and stinging sensation ebbed An even bigger relief was knowing that I could still see A few minutes later I was back on the job But I would never again let a spinning fan on a silage blower shoot ammonia into my face

Farm accidents - like any other accidents - come unexpectedly That was the case with a fourth accident which almost killed me

My brother, Ingo our hired man Marvin, and I were repositioning an all-purpose 30-foot elevator Recent rains had left a couple of puddles and some mud in the area in front of the silos On dry ground the rig could usually be moved by one man On that fateful day, three weren't enough On a final attempt to clear the muddy area, we pushed and picked up some momentum The two rubber tires and our feet plowed through the mud as we pushed with all our might Just as things were moving along well, we hit a rock or something which wasn't visible in the puddle

The sudden stop caused the high end of the elevator to dip Although I tried to hold my end - the loading end - down, I failed While the top end was going down, my end went up When the other end hit the ground it jarred the bed from its upright supports The cables lost their tension and the whole works tumbled

Seeing it coming, I crouched and ran But I wasn't fast enough The bottom end of the conveyor hit me square in the back before I had made my getaway

One might think that that would be an extremely painful experience, yet it wasn't It was worse

Even though I was safely out from under it the conveyor, I continued to jog around the object The frightening realization was that I couldn't breathe My chest was in pain I needed and wanted air and couldn't get it

I glanced over to Ingo and Marvin and saw their frightened expressions Later they both said they were afraid it was all over for me

Thank God the lungs started to function again I felt ill, rested in bed for a while and was as good as new later in the day

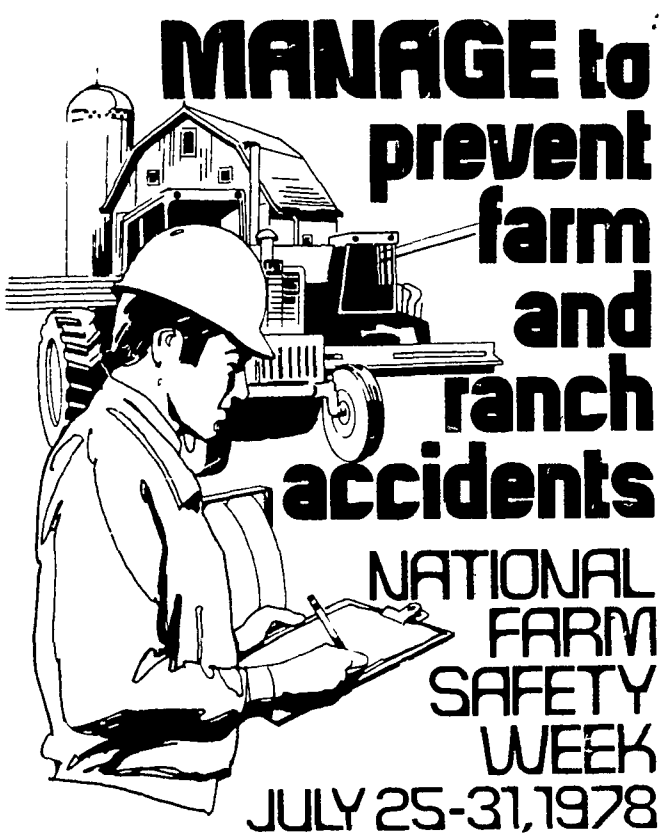
The lesson in all of this (and much more) is that life on the farm certainly carries with it some dangers And, as is always true, the danger hides in the most unsuspecting situations

Danger that is recognized presents little threat But disguised or veiled danger is the potential killer

I remember the time I drove a tractor along a field, for example, and a deep hole camouflaged by grasses, nearly upset the tractor In a similar incident, grasses in our pasture veiled a steep slope In other words, the sharp drop-off in the terrain began sooner than what would think if the growth of the grass is the only measurement

One can't be too careful on the farm, whether working with livestock, equipment, or chemicals

Please have an accident-free Summer and safe farming experiences



Lebanon County Fashion Revue winners chosen

By KENDACE BORRY

LEBANON — Traveling with time, the 1978 Lebanon County 4-H Fashion Revue, was held on July 13, at the Boscov Auditorium, Lebanon Valley Mall, Lebanon. Throughout the day's activities, 4-H'ers participated in programs including a practice modelling session and speakers.

During the evening activities, the winners of the fashion revue were announced

Eight senior winners were chosen They included Kathy Wagner, from the North Annville Cloverettes; Jodi Blouch, Karen Hoke, and Tammy Kneasel, from the Norsolebco 4-H Club; Wendy Bowman and Michelle Hall from the 4-H Palms; Lisa Yordy from the Campbelltown 4-H; and Jenny Sherman from the Annville Little Dutchmen

Three junior winners were also selected. Named winners were Hollyanne Bachert, of the 4-H Samplers; Lori Reesor, from the Avon-East Lebanon club; and Sylvia Royer, from the Annvile Little Dutchmen.

Kathy Wagner modelled a contempory apricot two piece ensemble. The blouse features a front slit opening, two buttoned down pockets, and a pointed collar. The kimono type sleeves were accented by cord drawstrings A matching gathered skirt with a set-in waist band and a back zipper completed her outfit.

Thinking of the cooler Fall evenings, Jodi Blouch modelled her matching shawl and shirt The sqare shawl was self fringled and complimented with a mid-knee length skirt with shaped front and back pleats which were joined to the waistband

Jodi also made the loose fitting white blouse she wore which featured a band collar entended into ties, forward shoulder seams and full length sleeves gathered into narrow buttoned cuffs

A 4-H member for seven years, Wendy Bowman showed a Anne Klein original from Vogue Her free fitting tucked blouse with a front pearl buttoned closing featured a Peter Pan collar and a self lined yoke. The line of fashion was completed by a mid-knee length skirt with slanted side front pockets. The skirt had a front pleat and was softly gathered in the back. Both garments were made of a nylon quiana.

Karen Hoke's project was a two piece wool blend ensemble. Both her vest and skirt were fully lined with a black polyester fabric.

The v-neck vest featured two welt pockets and a notched front closing at the helmine The flared skirt also had a v-yoke to complete the design.

A three piece ensemble was shown by Lisa Yordy. She used printed cotton to make the vest and skirt.

The square neck vest included princess seaming. The 3 tier skirt had a back zipper and a set-in waistband. Lisa used a double edge lace topped with a matching ribbon to accent the outfit.

Jenny Sherman's looked ready for the cold weather in her vest, skirt, and blouse. The blouse featured a front-tie and gathered sleeves with buttoned cuffs. The skirt had a zipped clossing and set-in waistband Her vest completed the outfit, featuring topstitching to give a detailed look

As a freelance project, Michelle Hall made a back yoked dress featuring a Peter Pan collar trimmed with lace ruffling. Her front and back pin tucks formed a semi-fitted bodice released at the waistline for a swaying effect The bottom front closing formed an inverted center frontpleat The dress featured short sleeved gathered into a thin band to complete the look

And Tammy Kneasel made her vest and skirt of a cranberry gray eggshell plaid of bonded wool to be named a winner in the senior division. Her vest emphacized the V shape in both the neckline and hem. The fully lined shirt included a side zipper and a set-in waistband. The outfit was completed by an egg shell colored long sleeved blouse featuring a tie collar and buttoned cuffs.

As a Junior winner, Hollyanne Bachert constructed a mid-knee length jumper with a gathered V-neckline tying in the back. The outfit also featured cap sleeves and a set-in waistband. Ruffles were added at the hemline.

Lori Reesor made an emerald green vest to compliment her wool skirt. Her fitted vest had slightly cut-away armholes and a pointed front hemline. The front buttoned opening allowed Lori to wear the vest open or closed.

Her matching skirt had a side zipper and a set-in waistband. The outfit was made of a 70 per cent wool, 30 per cent nylon blend. Both were fully lined.

The final Junior winner was Sylvia Royer who modelled a superbright flowered seersucker sundress. Her outfit featured lattice straps and a fited bodice. The flared skirt featured two triangular pockets leading into the ruffled hem. She also added a personal touch by stitching green rickrack around the edges.

Gail Snyder, 18, was best overall in swine judging during a 4-H livestock judging contest and amassed enough points in swine and sheep judging to emerge as the champion of the competition.

Lehigh lasses lead judging classes

By DIETER KRIEG

NEW TRIPOLI — Two Lehigh County girls won a regional livestock judging contest near here on Tuesday afternoon when they competed against some 70 other 4-H'ers from eight counties Overall winner in the senior division was Gail Snyder, the 18-year old daughter of Mr and Mrs Ernest Snyder, New Tripoli R1 Taking the laurels in the junior division was Jane Sikorski, 13, daughter of Mr and Mrs John Sikorski, Emmaus R2

Gail, the reigning queen for the Pennsylvania Hereford Breeders Association, was first in a field of 35 contestants and led her county team to the first place position Jane, who will be a freshman at Emmaus Jr High School this coming Fall, led her group with 272 points and spearheaded the winning county team. Both girls are members of the Lehigh County 4-H Livestock Club and participate regularly on the club's liverstock judging team

In winning the senior title, which included a placque on which her name will be inscribed, Miss Snyder topped the field in swine judging, with 124 points and accumulated an additional 261 in beef and sheep judging for a total of 385 points

Miss Sikorski's specialty in the contest was the beef cattle contest, in which she commanded 98 points A second place (89 points) in sheep judging and 85 points in swine judging gave her a total of 272 points

It is worthy to note that the top placings of the contest - particularly in the senior division - were dominated by girls Miss Snyder, who will attend Penn State Univeristy this Fall in preparation for an animal science career, was just one of seven girls who placed in the top ten In the junior division, the girls took the top two places and three more, thus splitting the top 10 evenly with the boys

What makes the young ladies excell in liverstock judging as well as so many other agricultural activities which were almost totally dominated by young men just a few years ago?

The girls themselves don't seem to know the answer Or if they do, they'd rather not tell A mysterious, yet modest, smile blossoms across the girls' faces, but other than that their lips are sealed

Lehigh County Agent, David Dunbar, speculates that the girls just work harder He notes that girls have become increasingly interested in agriculture; agricultural enrollment for girls is skyrocketing, and the top achievers in the field are quite often the young ladies

Gail and Jane both say that lots and lots of practice is the key for success in livestock judging "We practiced at least once a week for the past several months," admitted Gail, a 1978 graduate of Northwestern Lehigh County High School Her brother, Greg, was coach for the team, with assistance coming from John Sikorski, brother of Jane

Both of the girls add that knowing the proper terminology to give oral reasons is essential in livestock judging "Know how to speak to the judge," says Jane Asked to briefly outline what she looks for in a top animal, the young lady announced that a champion steer should be long, with thick muscling; a winning gilt should be long, structually correct, walk properly and have bulging hams; and the blue ribbon sheep should show a good fleece and proper body conformation.

A member of the Pennsylvania Polled Hereford Association, Jane says she would like to be a nurse after graduation from high school "But I'm not sure of it," she admitted, adding that she likes her experiences with the 4-H livestock club very much

"Four-H is a very good experience for the future," she said "It has helped me decide what I want to do and has helped in developing leadership skills," added Gail, who has participated in regional and national 4-H events

Although both girls have a string of successes with 4-H Club activities, their triumph here this week represented a first for both. Neither had ever before been champion in a livestock judging contest of this size.

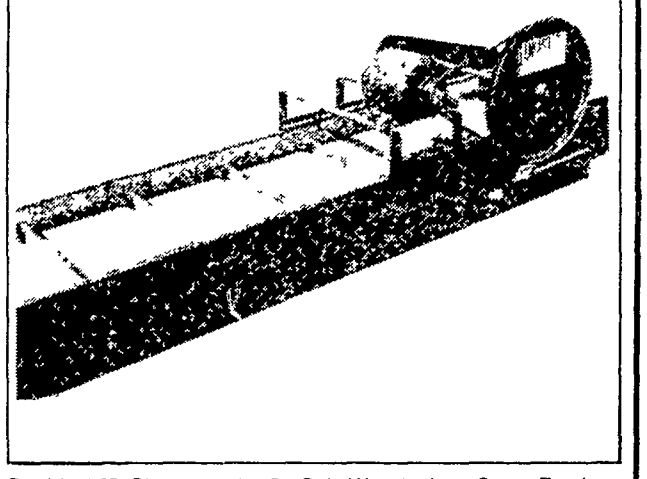
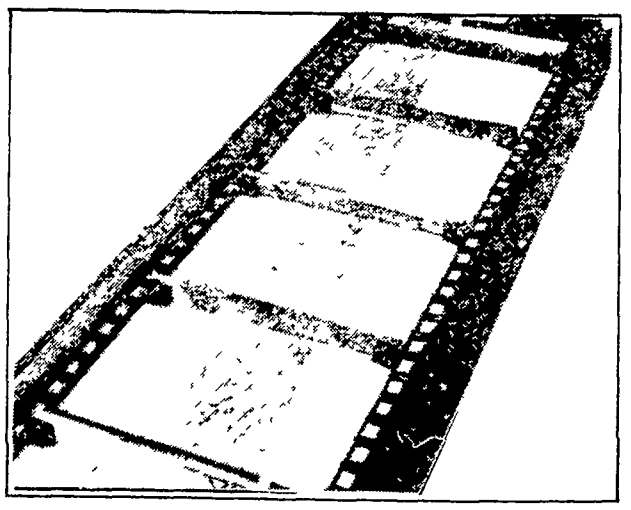
LANCASTER, PA 17601

WE MANUFACTURE & BUILD "LANCASTER" CONCRETE STAVE FARM SILO'S

"LANCASTER" TAPER BOARD FEEDERS & DOUBLE CHAIN SLAT CONVEYORS. CUSTOM BUILT TO LENGTH YOU REQUIRE.



Double #55 Chains with 15 Oak Wood slats Carry Feeding Material in a 20" Wide Conveyor Standard Conveyor length is 16 ft Shorter units are made to accommodate every requirement Hopper (not shown) for input of feed material is available and will fit on top where needed Extra slack in conveyor chain can be adjusted at drive end Bottom Side Conveyor with Chain Return on top available Incline-to-level Units made to order



Livestock Feeding is Simple and Easy with a 'Lancaster" Taper Board Feeder The conveyor principal of moving the feed is used and by cutting a Taper in the Bottom to correspond with the length of the feed trough, feed is distributed evenly on the center of the trough Silage and grain can be fed with Taper Board Feeders using very low horse power and a minimum of noise Wood construction of these units assures long life and fewer repairs

case

When the land is ready a farmer's tractor had better be ready to go That's why a Case dealer franchise just makes good common sense

As a Case dealer you're a tractor specialist Everything you do — selling, servicing parts — has one target the best in farm power You and your tractors are backed by an industry first ' a sound marketing program Assured Availability It tells your customers that if for any reason during warranty the tractor they bought from you isn't ready to go they'll have a free replacement And Case backs you up!

Case backs you up with other strong marketing help including the Demo/Rental and Commitment to Quality programs

If the franchise is open in your territory you may also be eligible to sell and service light construction power For information on the full potential of a Case franchise in your area write or call

JET STREAM ties together many desirable qualifications — a strong pedigree an outstanding predicted difference and an exceptional type transmitting pattern

JET STREAM daughters have real dairy quality with flat clean bone and well attached high quality udders Look for him to be an improver of center support teat size and shape and fore and rear udders

His flatbone characteristics set to the leg width of rump and width of pelvic and thigh area along with his dairy strength makes him a fine mating for ELEVATION daughters A cross that should produce results in the sale ring the milking parlor and show ring

JET STREAM s second crop daughters are outstanding The number of daughters in his production proof nearly doubled and his daughters classified more than tripled The dairyman milking JET STREAM s are very pleased with some two year olds milking over 80 lbs of milk per day You can see why they are using him again! You should too!

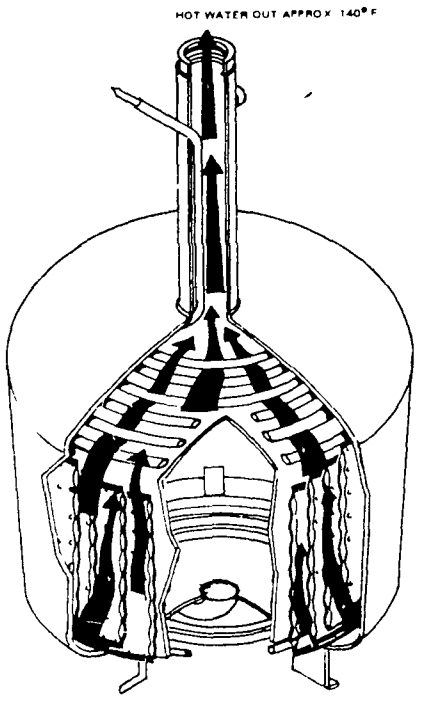
The HEART of the Fre Heater* he unique all stainless steel heat exchanger!



*PAT EN FU PATEN A THEI PATENT PEN 4 M 726

ALL STAINLESS STEEL CONSTRUCTION!
Mueller Fre Heater heat exchangers are constructed entirely of type 304 stainless steel The heat exchanger in both models utilize Mueller Temp Plate a patented heat transfer surface that's in use in more than 60 000 Mueller Milk Coolers around the world

CHOOSE FROM SEVERAL SIZES AND MODELS!
Mueller Fre Heaters are available in 2 3 and 4 H P sizes for either HiPerForm or conventional refrigeration systems

A 2 or 3 H P installation normally requires one 120 U S gallon water storage tank 4 H P installations may require two 120 gallon water storage tanks

Mueller Fre Heaters Model B and Model C can be used with either Mueller Milk Coolers or with milk coolers made by other manufacturers

FREE HOT WATER!
There are many variables that determine how much hot water can be generated however a rule of thumb is that a Fre heater operating on 60 degrees F well water will produce a volume of 140 degree F water similar to the amount of milk produced during a milking In other words if 100 gallons of milk per milking is produced approximately 100 gallons of hot water (140 degrees F) will be generated during each milking Experience has shown that on most dairy farms enough hot water is produced to satisfy all hot water requirements

The Mueller Fre-Heater comes to you from the maker of world famous Mueller Milk Coolers!

MUELLER Milk Coolers*

Quality Built to Last Longer

PHIA says road network is taken for granted

HARRSIBURG – Very few other states in the Union have a road system as large or as diverse as does Pennsylvania. Building a highway in the Keystone State is expensive, largely because the terrain is a combination of trails through the Rockies, and the ups-and-downs of a rolling countryside. Pennsylvania is too wide a State to be ignored or bypassed in traveling from the Atlantic seaboard to the Middle West and beyond. But as one truck industry leader said recently, "we can't afford to take our rigs over the nearly worn-out Pennsylvania roads and we can't nearly afford to go around the State either. It's just too big "

This sense of frustration is being echoed by highway users who see a road system growing old and decaying before their eyes. These motorists simply can't understand why they are not getting a usable and safe highway system in return for their tax dollar

Pennsylvania's highway users last year paid nearly $1 billion into the State's Motor License Fund, but as has been the case for many years, more than 48 per cent of the Fund's monies are earmarked for uses that have nothing to do with the construction or care of our highways (State Police funds, aid to municipalities, many free license plates, driver education, etc.). Although inflation has increased the cost of building highways more than 100 percent, no additional funding has been provided by the State Legislature to alleviate this condition

Neglect seems to be the hallmark of our highway concern We have invested billions in the state's 45,000 mile road system and allowed that investment to erode and wear out, says the Pennsylvania Highway Information Association

Everyone knows how bad the roads are, and too often the statewide reaction is to place blame wherever most convenient The most visible target is PennDOT , since remarks about PennDOT corruption, mismanagement and the stumblings of bureaucracy are quite common. But, in reality, those same comments could be made about any other State agency. Those who don't blame PennDOT cast their grievance on the legislature for inaction, or a "too little, too late" attitude But it is rather common knowledge that government does react to public opinion, if it is audible enough. Maybe the public outcry has been more muffled than apparent, PHIA suggests.

It might make more sense to place blame where it is most deserved - on every one of us who took the road system for granted and didn't insist on its being taken care of and properly funded.

This placing of blame doesn't solve Pennsylvania's most severe highway crisis in history It doesn't repair or replace those dangerous bridges, many of which are being closed in all parts of the state. It doesn't repave roads that wreck our car's alignment, rip the tires and cause serious accidents.

The fact that Pennsylvania ranks first, among all of the states, in highway indebtedness (a total of $2.3 billion, at an annual cost of $200 million) only adds further anguish to this critical condition. There are not many months left until the advent of yet another Winter. Even if the months from November - April were only average, they would only wreak further erosion on a road system that is being neglected

Only an aroused citizenry can turn things around. Only a citizenry that cares can end this slip-down to a highway system that will only aggrevate an economy already in trouble Surely it is evident that, like the bridges, many of our worn-out roads will also be closed in the months and years to come, PHIA concludes

Grange supports 6-day rural mail service

HARRISBURG – George W. Rodgers, assistant to the Master, of the Pennsylvania State Grange, stated recently that the Grange supports keeping a six-day mail service in Rural Free Delivery.

In an address to the Pennsylvania Rural Letter Carriers Association in Danville, Rodgers said, "The Grange will fight to a bitter end to retain this service."

A move has been made recently within the postal system to curtail the amount of mail service-days in an effort to cut costs

The Grange believes that such a service curtailment would hurt the rural population of this state.

Another area that Rodgers commented on was PennDOT's request for a 2½ cent gas tax increase. He questioned the need for it

He went on to ask if a departmental overhaul for PennDOT might not be more in order

He did say, however, that if it is determined an increase in funding is necessary, the increase in the gas tax would be the most equitable way

Rodgers also commented on the proposed "sunset" legislation to reduce the amount of state agencies and departments

He stated that the Grange urges caution in this legislation. Care should be used so that the good agencies are not the ones that are eliminated

"Take a stand," Rodgers said, "Meet the challenge and the voice of rural Pennsylvania will be heard "

•Delaware pest management an economic boon

NEWARK, Del. -- Delaware's Extension pest management program has been an economic boon to growers since its inception seven years ago. The program has not only been improving the effectiveness of control measures, it has also been instrumental in reducing pest control costs in certain crops, and has contributed to improvements in crop yield and quality in certain cases.

According to Delaware Extension pest management specialist Mark R. Graustein, these achievements are the result of several factors: Pest monitoring enables the prediction of pest outbreaks in advance with some degree of accuracy. This allows for improved timing of controls and elimination of unnecessary pesticide applications. Furthermore, since the advent of the pest management program growers have come to accept alternate, non-chemical control techniques.

Since the program began in 1972, the average number of insecticide applications per acre on peppers has been reduced from 11 to 7. At the same time, control has improved, even under high pest pressure. And growers have saved money.

Insecticide use on lima beans has also been reduced, from approximately four to 2.5 applications per acre under the program; but increased fungicide applications have been necessary as a result of increased varietal susceptibility to downy mildew. Still, under the pest management program an accurate prediction system determines just when the fungicides are necessary, thereby enabling growers and processors to control the disease with the minimum fungicides possible.

The pest management program has reduced pesticide use in the case of the Mexican bean beetle on soybeans. A trap crop-parasite control technique, developed as part of the program, is now used by many growers

Insecticide use for control of late season pod worm outbreaks has increased over the last two years. But outbreaks of the pest were predicted two weeks in advance thanks to the program. Growers had the advance warning they needed to treat before serious losses occurred. Had those early warning not been issued, 30 to 40 per cent of the state's soybean crop could have been lost.

This year the pest management program has successfully predicted the worst outbreak of first brood European corn borer that has ever occurred in this area. The very high level of damage on untreated experimental plots indicates that the high levels of insecticides currently being applied to large acreages of early planted corn are in fact necessary to avoid severe yield losses. The program also helps by indicating proper timing of the applications. This is a critical factor, Graustein says, since poorly timed applications provide little control.

Pest management has also proved valuable on small grains. This spring only a few isolated fields had to be treated for army worm control, whereas in some previous years as much as 50 to 75 per cent of the wheat and barley crops have been treated.

Grain aphid populations have been higher than normal for the last two seasons. However, many growers have avoided costly insecticide treatments by allowing beneficial insects to suppress the aphids below economic threshold levels.

It is as difficult to make long-term predictions about pest activity as it is to predict the weather, according to Graustein. However, there are some indications as to what may occur later this season. The second and third broods of the European corn borer populations will probably reach almost record high levels. This means there will be some lodging and ear drop in field corn, but Graustein feels there is hope that a second pesticide application may not be necessary. Pepper, snap beans, and certain other vegetable crops attacked by the borer should be checked frequently beginning mid-July when the second brood egg laying activity is high. All of these crops, as well as soybeans, will have to be checked frequently for pod-worms beginning mid-August. (Pod worms include corn earworm, fall armyworm, and beet armyworm.) Populations of corn earworm are already higher and earlier than normal in southern Sussex county. States south of the Delmarva peninsula are reporting earlier than normal fall armyworm. Thus, if drought recurs, last year's late season pod worm outbreak may be repeated this year.

On the brighter side, Mexican bean beetle populations are lower this year than in previous years owning to the high level of parasitism last year, plus unfavorable overwintering conditions. The Mexican bean beetle may not be a problem this year, Graustein says, although there is some chance it could become a problem late in the season.

According to Graustein, successful pest management requires monitoring pest activity, correctly identifying pests, reading reports on pest activity and following the threshold and control guidelines they provide.

RED BARN COW MATS

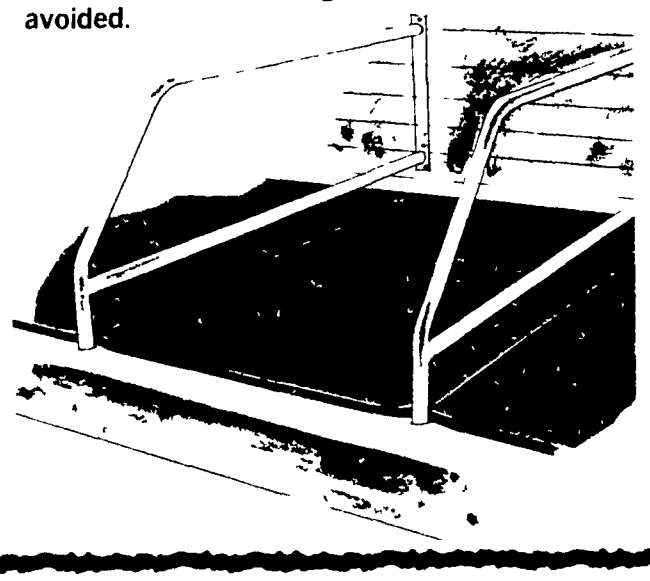
SAVE $5 PER MAT BY PICKING THEM UP YOURSELF

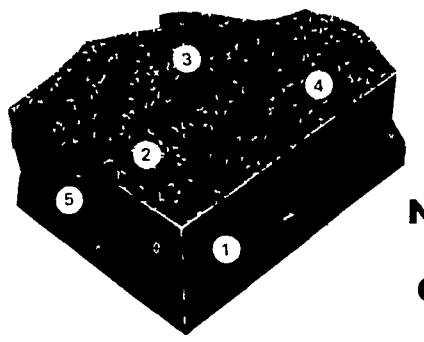
Why and How RED BARN Rubber Mats can reduce costs, cut injuries.

RED BARN floors are 100% vulcanized rubber. They were first manufactured and installed in 1968, and have proven their worth to dairymen ever since. Whether these mats are used in free stalls or stanchion barns, their non-slip qualities provide both comfort and safety for your herd. Dairymen everywhere report bedding cost reductions of 80% and more, and a dramatic decrease in clean-up time. Slips and falls that result in swollen hocks and stepped-on teats are all but eliminated.

LABOUR COSTS CUT DRAMATICALLY

RED BARN rubber flooring cuts free stall cleaning time to a minimum. One dairyman with 165 stalls averages only 15 minutes per day to keep ALL stalls clean (testimonial on request). Because RED BARN mats are tough, depressions cannot develop that require filling, as is often the case with other types of flooring. Broken dividers causing animal injury are also avoided.





NOTE THESE SPECIAL QUALITIES

1. RED BARN is the thickest mat there is, measuring over ¾".
2. Surface has a grained, pebbled texture for easy cleaning and non-slip qualities.
3. Surface is resilient for comfort, yet springs back to original form.
4. TOUGH. Each mat contains over 100 pounds of vulcanized rubber. NO WIRE, METAL OR CLOTH BONDING MATERIALS ARE USED.
5. RED BARN is non-absorbent.

Sap beetles an outdoor pest

NEWARK, Del. – Picnickers, outdoor food connoisseurs, fruit and vegetable growers should all beware of the saps, says Delaware Extension entomologist Frank E. Boys. One can just plan a picnic or raise a crop and the word seems to get to the sap beetles - and it isn't very long before they get in everyone's hair as well as the potato salad and the tall, cool drinks.

Sap beetles, or picnic beetles, are attracted to the odor of food, especially overripe fruit. Strawberry and sweet corn growers are very familiar with the problem. Since the beetles are attracted to food as well as vegetables in the garden, control measures are rather difficult, Boys says. Kill them off one day and they are back the next with all their relatives One should concentrate his efforts on spots where the beetles are present in heaviest numbers. Since sap beetles are attracted to odors, anything one can do to reduce odors should discourage them from coming into an area.

A person should eliminate anything in the yard which is encouraging the beetles to be supper guests. One should pick up fallen apples and ripe fruit, and get ride of the garbage

Some relief can be gotten from the pests by setting up attracting stations or bait stations. One can place overripe bananas or other rotting fruits on paper plates, and place these stations several yards away from the center of activity A half dozen or so should do the job One should be sure to collect and dispose of the bait stations after the day's activities are over.

A number of aerosol sprays, most of which contain pyrethrin, are available for quick knockdown of the beetles A person should remember, if he sprays around food, it must be covered first

The beetles have to rest at night, so a residual spray applied to shrubs and flowers may give some relief. The specialist says he doesn't know of any insecticide that is specifically labeled for picnic beetles, but apparently diazinon, malathion, and Sevin are effective. All of these are labeled for insects on various flowers and shrubs, so as one sprays for these other bugs you'll be reducing the picnic beetles, too

4-H club meets

Reading - The Eastern Berks 4-H Dairy Club recently held a meeting at the home of David Hausman The clipping and washing of a dairy animal was shown to members attending

The club discussed plans for the Kutztown Fair and a club picnic. The picnic will be held onAugust 6 at the home of Donald Meyers. At tthat time a brief meeting will also be held

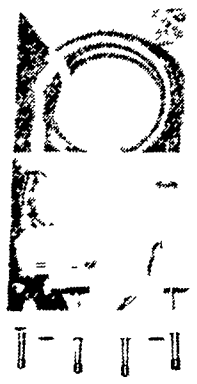
SURGE ARC Energy Converter


Here's How It Works!
The ARC Energy Converter's heat exchanger is a tube inside a tube The hot discharge gas (refrigerant) from the compressor is brought into contact with the water through a copper wall The hot gas is circulated by the compressor at temperatures varying from 180°F to 220°F (82° to 104°C)
Water is pumped from the cold water portion of the water heater and/or storage tank through the ARC Energy Converter and back to the hot water portion of the water heater and/or storage tank The pump will continue to circulate water as long as the compressor operates If the water becomes too hot (entire water supply 180°F or 82°C) the pump will stop The pump will automatically start if hot water is used creating a new demand

YOU'VE HEARD THE TALK.

There's a better way to dry grain. It's called CHILLCURING™ because it means drying without heat. Here's what the talk is all about.

THE GRAIN

Every kernel of grain is alive when it comes out of the field It is a seed, able to grow because it has the ability to take on moisture Likewise, it can be kept in a state of preservation by removing the moisture already in it

But by heating the grain to dry it, the seed life is destroyed

By removing heat and moisture from the grain, it becomes dormant, and stays alive Then it can ripen to full weight, losing only water while keeping valuable protein, starches and sugar

THE SYSTEM

It's simple Grain goes from the field right to the bin With the unique AIRFRAME™ and AIRFLOOR™ the grain rests on a solid bed that allows maximum ventilation

Clean dry air is the best curing medium for the grain GRAINLAMPS™ provide electric sunshine, cleaning and drying the air beneath the floor, before it passes through the grain.

Fans force air under the floor Rising through the grain, this dry outside air carries away moisture and heat

At the peak of the bin a jumbo 40" turbine, the WHIRLCOOLER™, puts nature to work for you Wind and rising air keeps it turning, venting the system naturally

A special HARVESTAT™ Control System monitors the curing process A simple setting controls the GRAINLAMPS™ to make best use of free, natural air

THE FACTS

Shrinkage factors vary from 1 25% to 1 75% per point of moisture removed Drying charges have been from 1¢ to 2¢ per point of moisture removed. This cost will only go up

In this comparison, grain moisture is 27%

Berks County hosts Regional Ladies Day Out

By LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Staff Correspondent

READING – Regional Ladies Day Out, hosted this year by the Women's Committee of the Berks County Farmers' Association, had something for everyone The 174 women present for the occasion, held on July 12 at the Reading Motor Inn, found enjoyment in the day-long program which featured such diverse subjects as the humorous side of being a farm wife, the Regional PFA Talent Contest, and astrology

Pat Leimbach, guest speaker at the event, spoke to the women, relating her experiences as a farm wife.

Speaking about her experiences and farm wives in general, Pat Leimbach expressed her side of farming Mrs Leimbach is the author of two books, "A Thread of Blue Denim" and "All My Meadows", and is also a writer for Farm Journal.

Highlighting on a few of the many facets of farming, Leimbach explained why she felt rainy days were bad for farm wives. "After doing their chores," she began, "the men take off, presumably to check on their neighbors or catch up on the local gossip down at the hardware store, but when they return; you find that they were at the local implement dealer, buying a new piece of equipment which probably costs more than grandpa paid for the farm!" The author also spoke on the aspects of living in an all male household and gave her advise to young farm wives, which included treating a major break down in equipment as carefully as a death in the family

Leimbach also had some very serious advise for her attentive audience which represented nine county farmer associations "Farm wives have an obligation to be involved and to promote farm products," she stated She added that public relations are very important and can start anywhere, in a grocery store or in a doctor's office "It is a necessity" she added

"The law recognizes you as a partner where indebtedness is concerned," the author continued "Pay attention to the prices of commodities and what's going on in the world Read, study, and stay on top of things," she urged

Rose Leininger of Lancaster County won the talent contest and is now eligible to compete in the state contest which will be held during the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Farmers Association Rose performed a dramatic monolog to win the regional title.

Placing second was Debbie and Arlene Davis of Berks County and third was Ruthie Robinson representing Chester-Delaware Counties. Judging the contestants were Romayne Bridgett of Mt Joy, Sandy Oldt of Lehigh, and Mrs David Glauser of Fleetwood

Also addressing the farm women, were youths representing six counties who briefly gave their reasons for choosing agriculture as their careers Speaking for agriculture were, Bev Hershey of Chester County, Debra Rohr of Montgomery, Kirby Horst of Lebanon, Wendy Shaw of Berks, Scott Sell of Lehigh, and Twila Brubaker of Lancaster Each youth has

Poultry manure boosts protein of corn silage and corn stover

EAST LANSING, Mich – Dehydrated poultry excreta (DPE) is a high quality, inexpensive source of nitrogen for increasing the protein content of corn silage and corn stover fed to growing heifers, says Dr. John E. Keys, an animal scientist with USDA's Science and Education Administration Corn silage and corn stover contain about eight per cent protein, but growing heifers need about 12 per cent protein in their diets.

Dr. Keys and animal scientist Dr. Lewis W. Smith, formulated four complete diets and fed them to yearling Holstein heifers for 140 days in research at the Beltsville Agricultural Research Center in Maryland. The diets were: (A) 88.3 per cent whole corn plant and 11.6 per cent DPE; (B) 61 per cent whole corn plant, 27.9 per cent corn stover (finely ground), and 11.1 per cent DPE; (C) 49.7 per cent whole corn plant, 25 per cent corn stover, and 25.3 per cent DPE; and (D) 71.6 per cent whole corn plant and 28 4 per cent DPE. The diets were mixed and stored in silos for 45 days. The corn stover in diets B and C was ground so that it would pack tighter in the silo and prevent air pockets. Air pockets encourage mold to form during ensiling.

Heifers gained .81 kilograms (kg) per day on diet A; .72 kg on diet B; .69 on diet C; and .73 on diet D Heifers on diets A and B ate slightly less feed and gained slightly more weight than heifers on diets C and D However, all diets provided sufficient protein for growth

Overall, the addition of about 12 per cent DPE to corn silage alone or in combination with corn stover provides enough additional crude protein for growing heifers. Wet poultry excreta could be substituted for the DPE on an equivalent dry matter basis when making silage. Both wet and dried poultry excreta are considerably less expensive than soybean oil meal or commercial supplements used to boost the protein content of corn silage.

Dr. Keys presented his research findings before a joint meeting of the American Dairy Science Association and the American Society of Animal Science here today.

Md. porkecue deadline set

TIMONIUM, Md. – Are you the best pork barbecuer in Maryland? Have you found culinary methods to soar with swine? Does your outdoor grill percolate with pork?

If so, now is the time to prove it while having fun and competing for some handsome prizes in the upcoming "Maryland Porkecue Cook-Off" which will be held at the State Fair in Timonium, Md.

Entries for the contest must be in by July 29th so that 10 finalists can be selected for the actual cook-off on Friday evening, September 1.

Prizes up to $100 in cash will be given. A special prize for the "Chefing Award" will be a brand new electric grill unit.

Entering is simple: write out your favorite outdoor pork barbecuing recipe that takes no longer than one hour to cook (you may use any cut of pork. Extra ingredients are limited only by your imagination.), include your complete address and telephone number and send to Leo Kahl, 3821 Perry Hall Road, Perry Hall, Md., 21128. Make sure it is postmarked by July 29th. Ten finalists will be selected and notified by telephone well in advance of the actual contest.

A panel of food experts and celebrities will be on hand for the contest which will be held in the brand new livestock exhibition hall on the Timonium fairgrounds.

Cooking will be done on new electric outdoor grills which will be supplied for the contest. The contest, a favorite now for many years, is sponsored by the Maryland Pork Producers Association and Maryland Department of Agriculture's Division of Marketing to help promote the goodness and versatility of the new leaner pork.

Lancaster Co. 4-hers chosen

LANCASTER -- Glen Seidman and Sarah Brubaker, both of Lancaster, have been selected as two of 62 Pennsylvania young adults to serve on a State 4-H Reporters Team, it was announced recently.

Members of the group have recently received special communications training on the Penn State Campus and will serve as 4-H ambassadors to promote the educational youth program.

"Their activities will help the public more fully understand the 4-H program, an integral part of the Penn State College of Agriculture," Dr. Lindley notes.

Team members will be available to talk to organizations at local, regional, and state levels, including 4-H Clubs, College of Agriculture alumni groups, legislators, and church and school functions. They also may make personal appearances at conventions and other large meetings.

York County

Jr. Holstein Club holds fitting and showing day

By JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

EAST BERLIN – About 30 youngsters and half that many calves spent this past Monday galloping through a crash course in clipping, washing, leading, and showing dairy animals.

Sponsor of the fun-and-work event was York County's Junior Holstein Club, which held their annual fitting and showing day at the Rodman Thompson Farm, East Berlin R2

Members were teamed in pairs, a novice with a more experienced junior showman Each team was then given an unbroken calf to prepare for the practice show which capped the day-long session

Calves nervously tolerated (in most cases) the flurry of attention as they were suddenly confronted with the unfamiliar sounds of buzzing clippers, doused with mounds of soap bubbles and sprays of cold water, manicured with wire brushes, and polished off with cleaning rags gently rubbing dirt from tender ears and carefully combed and fluffed switches

Adams County Holstein breeder, Tim Brown, partner in Brown Valley Holsteins, near Littlestown, judged the afternoon show Brown commended the young dairy enthusiasts on the outstanding job they had done on the animals in the few hours alloted to the fitting preparations

Selected champion showman of the exhibit was David King, son of Mr and Mrs Paul King, Delta R2 Winner of the reserve showman award was Kelly Krebs, daughter of Mr and Mrs Nevin Krebs of Glen Rock R1

Showmanship categories were divided by years of actual showing experience

Loretta Cooper captured first place in the minimum-experience category, leading a calf at least a head taller than she was Leslie King was second, Donna Godfrey, third; Cathy Morrison, fourth; Heide Von Lange, fifth, Jana Beth Fantom, sixth, George DeMers, seventh; Stephanie Hoffman, eighth; and Downa Doll, ninth

First place winner in the medium-experienced group was David King Greg Fantom placed second, Angie Eyster, third, Patti Bupp, fourth, David Krone, fifth, Mike Krebs, sixth; Mike Welsh, seventh; and C E Hubbard, eighth

Kelly Krebs was named the top winner in the most experienced category Following her in second was Glenn Crowl Roy Thompson was third; Dana Doll, fourth, Ann Miller, fifth, Barb Kilgore, sixth, Greg Fantom, seventh, Gary Crowl, eighth, Darryl Rohrbaugh, ninth, and Jon Miller, tenth

Winning teams in the fitting competition were first, Barb Kilgore and Loretta Cooper, second, David Krone and Jana Beth Fantom; third, Leslie and David King; fourth, Donna Godfrey and Roy Thompson; fifth, Glenn Crowl and George DeMers; sixth, Ann Miller and Stephanie Miller; seventh, Cathy Morrison and Greg Fantom; eighth, Angie Eyster, Downa Doll and Kelly Krebs; ninth, Mike Welsh and Gary Crowl

Broilers up nine per cent

HARRISBURG -- Placements of broiler chicks in the commonwealth during the week ending July 8 were nine per cent more than the same week a year ago, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service The placements totaled 1,993,000, eight per cent below the previous week Average placements during the past ten weeks were 11 per cent above a year earlier.

Placements of broiler chicks in the 21 poultry producing states were 75,314,000, two per cent below the previous week but ten per cent more than the same week a year earlier

Average placements of broiler chicks in the 21 poultry producing states during the past ten weeks were seven per cent above a year ago

The number of broiler-fryers slaughtered in Pennsylvania under federal inspection in the week ending June 28 were 1,947,000 with an average weight of 3 85 pounds

Don't compromise on quality during harvest time!

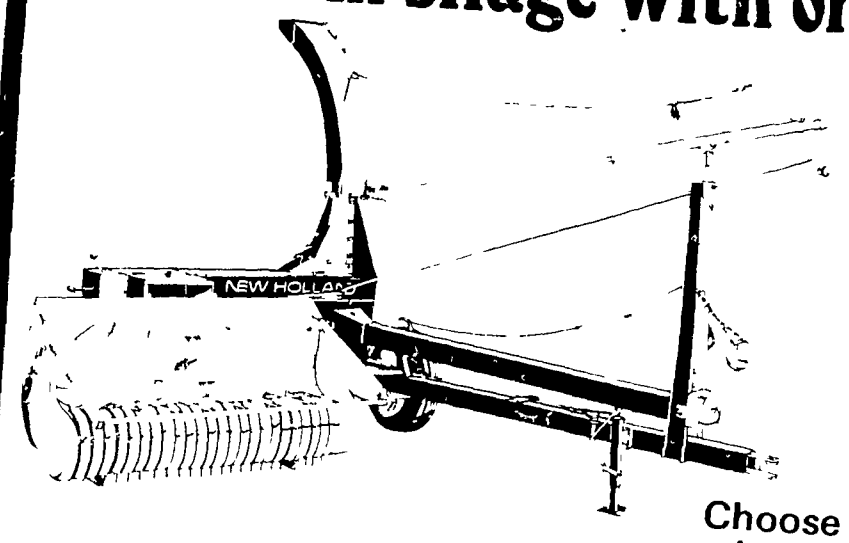
THE '718' FEATURES:

- NEW underbeveled knife design eliminates rebeveling
- A 12-knife cutterhead with reversible double-edged knives!
- Flip-up feed roll for easy shearbar adjustment!
- Manual knife sharpener!
- Choose from three corn heads, two windrow pickups or sicklebar!

Uniform silage with or without a screen.



The Sperry New Holland Model 770 forage harvester features a 12-knife cutterhead and a PTO-driven power knife sharpener You also get

- Extra capacity and horsepower efficiency
- Flotation tires reduce soil compaction and increase maneuverability of soft ground!
- Super-Sweep pickup reduces field loss by picking up the short, fine-stem haylage many ordinary pickups miss! Tine tips are curved forward to pick up crops more gently!

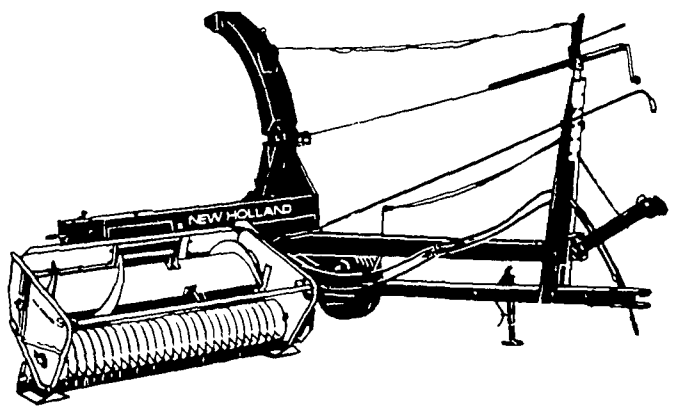
Heavyweight champ among the choppers.



The Sperry New Holland Model 890 forage harvester is built for the big crop.

The Model 890 is an extra-heavy-duty harvester built for big operations It easily handles today s big tractor power over 75 horsepower

It's the only pull-type harvester with an optional electronic metal detector It features the original 12-knife cutterhead and PTO power knife sharpener Seven screen sizes are available Ear corn snapper heads are also available

And remember, they're backed by the SPERRY NEW HOLLAND parts system.

SPERRY NEW HOLLAND Forage Harvesters offer the performance and reliability you need, plus the attachments and features you want to tailor your forage harvester to your operation.

Preconvention poultry programs named

ARLINGTON, Va – Three special "pre-convention" events will help Fact Finders gear up for the exciting program to follow, at this year's 49th Annual Fact Finding Conference and Exhibit, "Exploring the Future", September 12 to 15 in Houston, Texas.

The first of these events is the PEIA Research Council meeting, scheduled for September 11 and September 12 The PEIA Research Council will meet to begin formulation of their annual "PEIA Research Recommendations for the Poultry and Egg Industry." This session will be open to Research Council members only

The second event is another two-day meeting, the PEIA Poultry Processors Quality Control School, Tuesday, September 12 and Wednesday, September 13. This school is designed for those whose responsibilities include quality control or who want to increase their knowledge of quality control procedures. Subjects include customer specifications, quality control in packaging, levels of trace elements, metal and chlorinated hydrocarbons in MDM and much more. 11 guest industry speakers will round out this outstanding program.

There are separate registration fees for this school PEIA members $100, non-members, $125 If already registered for Fact Finding, members pay only $50, non-members $75. For registration information, one can contact Insitution headquarters.

The third session takes place on Tuesday morning, September 12, when the PEIA marketing Council holds a special meeting featuring Dr. Stephen Mutkoski of Cornell University who will make a special presentation on "A Look at Poultry and Eggs from the Institutional Perspective." Dr. Mutkoski will discuss the food service industry in the past, its present ramifications and speculation on the role of poultry and egg products in its future. This session is open to PEIA members only.

Fact Finding officially gets underway on Tuesday, September 12 at noon with the Kick-Off Luncheon, "Picnic in the Park", featuring Gov John B. Connally.

Students learn about livestock

TIMONIUM, Md – Nearly 4000 schoolchildren were introduced to live farm animals, many of them for the first time, in a new educational program conducted by the Eastern National Livestock Show last month

A report on the program, funded by a grant from the Baltimore County Arts and Sciences Commission, was released recently by John Wildesen, manager of the livestock show

Wildesen said the live farm animals, including beef and dairy cattle, sheep, pigs, and ponies, were taken to 20 county schools where 3850 children in kindergarten and the first grade were permitted to touch the animals and were given basic information on the value of farm animals to health and economy Another 547 children in higher grades and 90 children in special education classes participated in the program

The school visits, Wildesen said, emphasized the theme that "animals are good; they eat things people cannot eat and turn those things into milk and meat"

He said the average urban youngster does not have the opportunity to come in contact with farm animals, other than in textbooks, and that the "hands on appearance of the animals brought many favorable comments from teachers"

The school visitation program is one of many year-round educational activities conducted by the Eastern National which annually holds a livestock show at the Maryland State Fair Grounds here for livestock breeders from more than 20 states. This year's show is set for October 4 to 8

John Wildesen (standing), manager of the Eastern National Livestock Show, talks about the value of swine to school children in a new educational program conducted by the progessive show management.

Swanson to appear at conference

ARLINGTON, Va -- Emery Swanson, noted food technologist and former director of quality control, manager of product development and associate director of research and development for the Pillsbury Company, will make regularly scheduled presentations on the processed egg and poultry meat products of the future at this year's Fact Finding Conference, September 12 to 15, in Houston.

Swanson, now president of Swanson and Associates, will discuss his new ideas with poultrymen and women on the exhibit floor of the Albert Thomas Convention Center. Every afternoon, he will present his ideas for further processed egg products that can be frozen and made adaptable to the quick breakfast market. He will also show a number of meat products which utilize the less popular forms of poultry and its by-products.

Swanson is completing his 28th year in food research and has developed a number of successful food products for major grocery manufacturers.

Dauphin County DHIA Monthly Report

JUNE 1978

"Lucille," a 4½ year old Holstein is at the top of the milk production list for lactations completed in Dauphin County DHIA last month. Pumping out 23,387 pounds of milk with a 4.2 per cent test and 982 pounds of butterfat, she edged the performance by "Celest" in the J. Melvin Brandt herd. "Celest" produced 23,029 pounds of milk with a 3.3 per cent test and 749 pounds of butterfat. "Lucille" was second for butterfat, being beaten by one of her herdmates, "Terri", whose 982 pounds of butterfat gave her the top honor for the month. "Terri" is a 5-year old

Deadline set for Eastern Nat'l contests

TIMONIUM, Md. – September 20 is the registration deadline for entries in the Junior Stockman of the Year, Junior Dairyman of the Year, and Junior Horseman of the Year contests sponsored by the Eastern National Livestock Show

The three events, each of which offers a top prize of a $1000 scholarship, are open to 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America Chapter members and will be conducted during the 32nd annual Eastern National to be held at the Maryland State Fair Grounds, here, October 4 to 8.

Age limits for all three contests are from 14 to 19 Competition is open to teams of three members each from the same 4-H Club or FFA chapter and, on an individual basis, to members of a club or chapter that does not have a team In addition to the scholarship for the top-ranked individuals in each event, team and individual premiums will be awarded

"The three competitions are designed to test the overall ability of young stockmen, dairymen and horsemen," according to John Wildesen, manager of the livestock show

In the Junior Stockman Contest, entrants will compete in nine separate classes which include judging livestock on the hoof, identifying and grading various cuts of meat, and answering written questions on the livestock industry in general.

In the Junior Horseman Contest, the entrants will compete in 10 separate classes which will include performance, halter, written questions, visual identification and feeding

Entrants in the Junior Dairyman Contest will compete in 12 separate classes which will include judging of heifers, commercial cows, dairy steers and dairy goats, identification of dairy products, and parts of a milking machine and feeding.

For detailed information on the events, and on registration, write to the Eastern National Livestock Show, Maryland State Fair Grounds, Timonium, Md 21093

Minosa tree plaqued by problems

NEWARK, Del – The mimosa, or silk tree, a native of the orient, was introduced into this country during colonial times Since then it has become a well-known and widely grown specimen plant and shade tree

The mimosa's popularity is due to its rapid growth rate, graceful form and foliage, and showy flowers, say experts The fluffy pink flower heads are produced in midsummer, after most other trees have spent their bloom. Also, the mimosa's relatively small size makes it suitable for the average home grounds

But for all its desirable traits, the mimosa does have some serious faults. The tree is rather short-lived It's subject to attack by the mimosa webworm, which mats and blights the foliage and makes a general nuisance of itself by its creepy-crawly activities Repeated sprays of Sevin or malathion are necessary to keep this critter under control. Even worse, the tree is plagued by a widespread and destructive soilborne fungus called mimosa wilt disease. This causes a dieback and kills the trees. There is no control for this scourge

Mimosas appear to be most reluctant to leaf out in the Spring, bring among the last trees to do so They have also suffered from the extreme weather these past two Winters In addition, the trees' brittle wood makes them prone to splitting and breaking

Whether or not the mimosa is considered a desirable ornamental depends on individual taste However, if one wishes to plant this tree, he should be aware of its shortcomings and use it with discretion in the landscape

Late peach season expected

MOORESTOWN, N.J. – As of July 10, the Northeast peach season remains about seven days later than normal, and more than 10 days later than last year.

That was the consensus reached by members of the National Peach Council Marketing Committee which met here recently to survey the outlook for this year's peach crop.

Rehaven peaches, the first major volume variety, should start about August 1 in the New Jersey, Maryland, and West Virginia areas, followed by continued supplies about five days later from Pennsylvania.

For all varieties following Redhaven, up to the Rio Oso Gem, a general reduction of volume is expected from the amount which are available for commercial shipments However, if all goes normally, the season should be caught up by August 25

Because of the somewhat shorter crop, the Marketing Committee said, a majority of the crop is expected to be in the larger sizes this year.

Although USDA reports have indicated that the 1978 peach crop for the Northeast will be about the same as 1977, using totals for nine Northeastern states, volume reductions are expected in major peach producing states, the committee members agreed.

These reductions include 35 per cent fewer peaches in New Jersey than in 1977, and Pennsylvania 11 per cent less than last year

Based on these projections, the committee said it appears that commercial availability of fresh market peaches will be significantly less than the amounts available last season

You can determine the age of an egg by placing it on the bottom of a bowl of cold water If it lays on its side it is strictly fresh If it stands at an angle it is at least three days old and ten days old if it stands on end

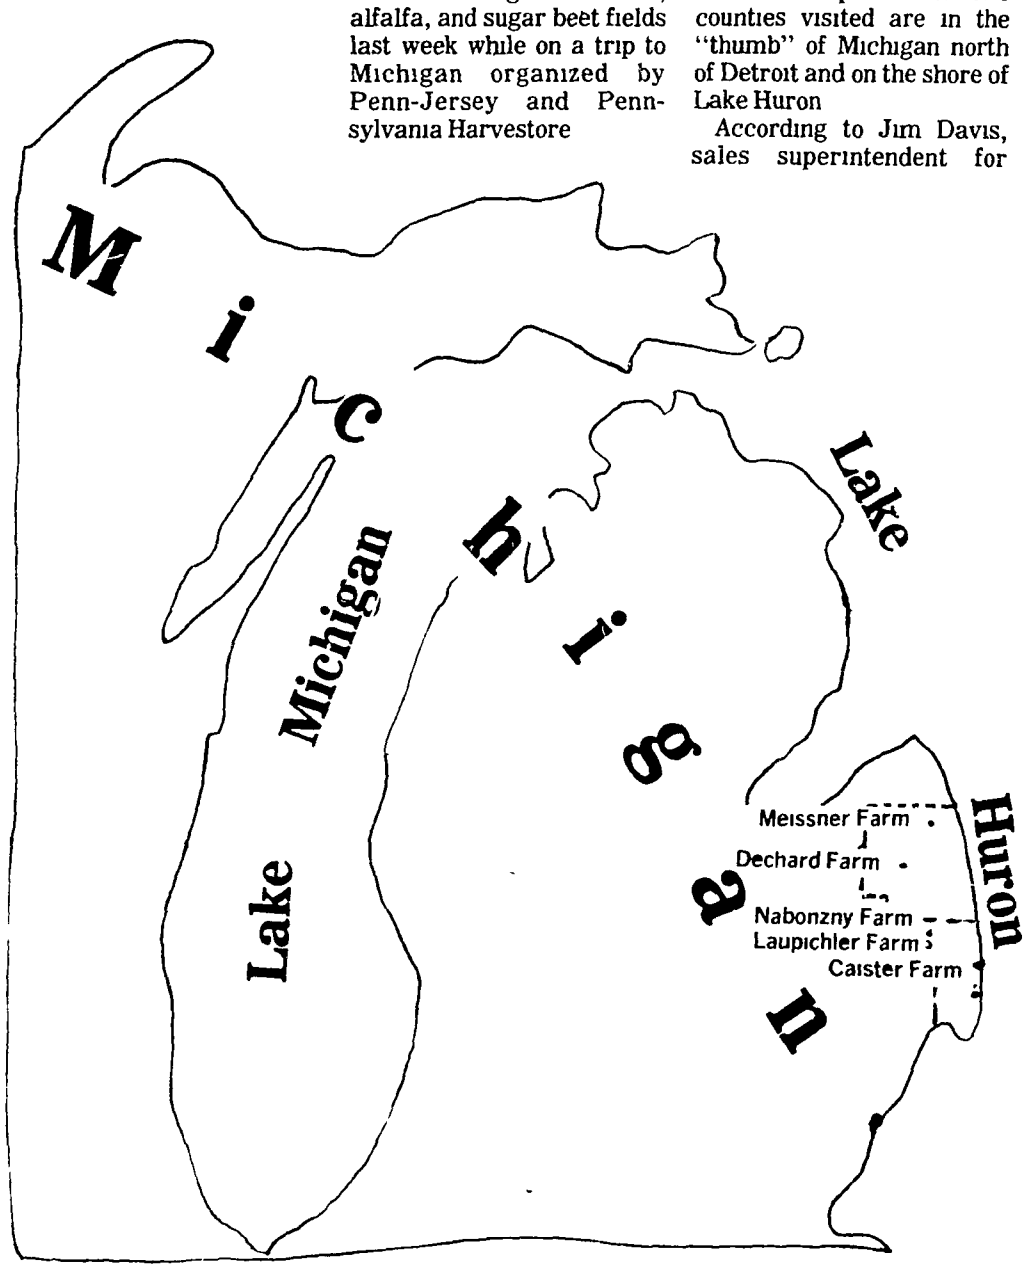
Michigan experiencing late crops, lack of rain

By JOANNE SPAHR

YALE, Mich.–From the looks of things, Pennsylvania and Michigan farmers have at least one thing in common this Summer–late crops

This fact became evident to 81 Pennsylvanians who got a chance to eyeball their Mid-west neighbors' corn, alfalfa, and sugar beet fields last week while on a trip to Michigan organized by Penn-Jersey and Pennsylvania Harvestore



Those individuals taking part in the trip toured five dairy farms in St Clair and Sanilac Counties and look a good look at the crops in between stops. The two counties visited are in the "thumb" of Michigan north of Detroit and on the shore of Lake Huron

According to Jim Davis, sales superintendent for Michigan Glass Lined Storage, who set up the tour in Michigan, the area is a a lot cooler than normal this year

"We're about 600 degrees behind for the year," he told the group "The Spring was late, and the crops are late." According to Art Laupichler, from Yale, Michigan in St. Clair County, the crops are all two to three weeks later than normal

Michigan farmers also lamented a lack of rain which was evident in all their crops, especially in the corn After having come from an area where the corn reached skyward to at least chest height last week, the Pennsylvania tourists were surprised to see the best Michigan plantings standing only two feet to three feet above the ground

Defending his home counties, Davis pointed out that the Sanilac and St. Clair areas are really not meant for cash cropping, but are better suited for dairying

"It's hard to grow corn here in St Clair county," continued Jim Nabonzny, who lives close to Lake Huron. "The ground is low, heavy clay. We hit the high places with corn and keep it limed up and fertilized."

According to Nabonzny, in St. Clair county the average is 80 to 100 bushels of corn to the acre However, the next county north of him gets well over 100 bushels to the acre Laupichler also stated that a lot of corn went in the ground after the first of June He added, in response to a question posed by a Pennsylvanian, that no-till planting doesn't work in his area (St. Clair County) because the ground is

PennDOT furloughs annoy Brandt

HARRISBURG – The way the State Transportation Department is furloughing workers in its effort to tighten its belt has Rep Kenneth E Brant, R-Lancaster, very annoyed

Brandt has denounced PennDOT's method of laying off lower salary employees and keeping on high paid bureaucrats and political hacks The Lancaster County Republican lawmaker said workers are being furloughed because allegedly there are not enough funds to keep the present size payroll, but the positions being vacated are the wrong ones

Questioning the underlying motives of the furloughing procedure, Brandt said that some 37 lawyers in the land acquisition division are still on the job while road workers in local districts are out of work

'These 37 positions alone carry sizeable salaries, and since all new acquisition and construction has been halted for over a year, I see no need for 37 attorneys to be kept on the job," Brandt said

He cited other examples of places where furloughs could easily be instituted including jobs in the construction and right-of-way office of the department.

"There is little use for engineers and other technical and professional positions to be filled while the freeze on new road construction is in effect."

Brandt said he is disgusted that PennDOT has resorted to these tactics in doing the difficult job of taking jobs away from people.

"What enrages me most is the fact that the bureaucracy clustered in Harrisburg remains untouched, while, as usual, the essential workers, many of whom earn only average wages and can least afford to lose a job, are getting the axe

"Why does the Department continue its hands-off attitude with innumerable political patronage jobs?" Brandt said

"While the Department places the blame on the legislature for not appropriating the additional needed revenue through an increased gasoline tax, the tactics born out of the necessity to streamline the budget do not indicate, to me at least, any change of direction toward getting rid of the political hacks and trimming fat.

"PennDOT continues to ignore the demands for reform as they try to maintain status quo in the upper echelon of high-paid executives"

Herbicides replacing cultivation

BLOOMINGTON, Ill – A nationwide study of high yield corn growers shows that fewer farmers are cultivating and rotary hoeing their corn crops.

Over the past eight years, more than 35,000 corn growers have participated in Project. 200, a nationwide corn growing program sponsored annually by the producers of Funk's G-Hybrids.

Seven years ago, 78 per cent of the program participants said they cultivated the crop at least once, while only 65 per cent said they cultivated at least once in 1977.

Only half as many farmers rotary-hoed last year as did in 1971, with 36 per cent rotary hoeing in 1971 compared to just 18 per cent in 1977

Dr. Bill Craig, Funk's technical services manager, says the switch to minimum tillage practices created a better environment for insects and disease organisms. "However, we have learned to compensate for these problems through better usage of herbicides and insecticides," he says.

Dr. Craig adds that if ideal field conditions can be achieved through practices other than cultivation, then there is no real need to cultivate. "Cultivation is another trip across the field that can add to operating costs and soil compaction," he says.

Gleaner combines from Allis-Chalmers make you extra glad at the final challenge—to bring all the crop home True center-line design gives you full view of the cutter bar as well as the stubble behind the header on both sides Exclusive down-front cylinder means controlled feeding and threshing over the full width of the cylinder Look for Gleaner combines to put the cleanest grain into the bin thanks to 2-stage cleaning with transverse flow fan system What else?

NEW YORK, N.Y. – Dairy farmers supplying milk plants regulated under the New York - New Jersey marketing orders during June will be paid on the basis of a uniform price of $9.60 per hundred pounds or 20.6 cents per quart. Market Administrator Thomas A Wilson, who announced June's price, also stated that the uniform farm price was $9.55 per hundredweight in May 1978 and $9.06 per hundredweight in June 1977.

The uniform price is a marketwide weighted average of the value of farm milk used for fluid and manufactured dairy products.

The seasonal incentive fund (Louisville Plan) removed a total of $3,606,169.80 or $.40 per hundredweight from the dairy farmers' uniform price for June Total deductions for this fund for March through June 1978 aggregated $11,674,582.06. The fund, plus interest, will be distributed in the August through November uniform price calculations.

The total amount of milk received from the 18,026 dairy farmers supplying the New York - New Jersey Marketing Area was 901,542,451 pounds during June 1978. This was more than 14.2 million pounds above last year. The gross value to dairy farmers for milk deliveries was $87,280,367.38. Wilson explained that this included differentials required to be paid to dairy farmers but not voluntary premiums or deductions authorized by the farmer.

Regulated milk dealers (handlers) utilized 380,881,565 pounds or 42.2 per cent of the total amount of milk for Class I. The Class I milk is used for fluid milk products such as homogenized, flavored, low-test and skim milks. For June 1978, handlers paid $11.49 per hundredweight, or 24.7 cents per quart, for the milk used in Class I products compared with $11.00 a year ago.

The balance of the milk, 57.8 per cent, was used to manufacture Class II products including butter, cheese, ice cream and yogurt For this milk the handlers paid $9.15 per hundredweight.

The uniform price is based on milk containing 3 5 per cent butterfat. For June 1978, a differential of 12.3 cents was applied to the price for each one-tenth of one per cent that the milk tested above or below the 3 5 per cent standard.

Oats, barley crop to be less

HARRISBURG – Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Kent Shelhamer says farmers in the state will produce less oats, barley, pears, apples, peaches, corn and winter wheat this year than in 1977.

Citing a report by the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service, the Secretary said crops indicating an increase in production this year are sweet cherries, tart cherries and rye.

This year's estimated production and the percentage change from last year are as follows: sweet cherries, 430 tons, up 56 per cent; tart cherries, five million pounds up 23 per cent; rye 390,000 bushels, up five per cent; barley, six million bushels, down four per cent; oats, 17,680,000 bushels, down five per cent; winter wheat, 8,085,000 bushels, down nine per cent; corn 95,200,000 bushels, down 11 per cent; peaches, 85 million pounds, down 11 per cent; apples, 380 million pounds, down 17 per cent; and pears, 3,300 tons, down 30 per cent.

United State's production of corn, oats, barley, winter wheat, peaches, pears, sweet cherries and tart cherries are estimated to be down from last year. Estimated 1978 U.S. production and per cent changes from last year are as follows: rye, 28,518,000 bushels, up 68 per cent; apples, 7.15 billion pounds; up seven per cent; barley, 410 million bushels, down one per cent; corn 6.15 million bushels, down four per cent; peaches, 2.57 billion pounds, down six per cent; sweet cherries, 137,330 tons, down seven per cent; oats, 636 million bushels, down 15 per cent; winter wheat, 1.28 billion bushels, down 16 per cent; tart cherries, 174.2 million pounds, down 17 per cent; and pears, 655,200 tons, down 17 per cent

EASTON – Farmers who can sneak the afternoon off on July 24 are in for a real treat at the first annual meeting of the Maryland Grain Producers Association in Easton. Earl Butz will give the main address.

Butz, who served for many years as U.S. Secretary of Agriculture and championed free market agriculture, was invited to address the group by its president Milton Malkus, Jr., of Cambridge.

The meeting, set to run from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m., with registration beginning at noon, is open to any interested farmer. Those who come are asked to eat their lunch on the way as no lunch facilities will be available at the meeting hall which will be the main auditorium of the Easton High School off Route 50 just south of Easton.

Other speakers scheduled are Don Schlicte, executive vice president of the National Corn Growers Association, who will discuss national crop conditions, and Dr. George Bean of the University of Maryland who will take a look at aflatoxin in the Maryland grain crop.

The Maryland Grain Producers Association was formed last year in an effort to provide a united voice for the state's important grain industry.

Delaware farm safety urged

NEWARK, Del. – Citing farm accidents as a cause of great suffering and economic loss to Delaware's principle industry, agriculture, Governor DuPont proclaimed the week of July 25 as National Farm Safety Week.

"Delaware farmers suffer from needless farm accidents that kill and disable and cost hundreds of thousands of dollars annually," the proclamation states. "Sound accident prevention practices can help to eliminate accidents and preserve the agriculture industry."

Ron Jester, Delaware Extension farm safety specialist, says about 1800 deaths and 180,000 disabling injuries occurred on the nation's farms last year. About $4 billion is lost annually because of farm accidents, injuries, and deaths.

Today's farmers should include a well-planned safety program as an integral part of their entire management program, states Jester. They must keep informed about safety and be familiar with safe practices as well as requirements of laws concerning safety and health of all employees.

Farmers should routinely inspect all equipment and facilities, then make needed corrections without delay. They should train employees to perform their tasks competently and safely, and to take necessary precautions before starting work.

Proper equipment should be on hand and in good working order, safety shields should be in place, and personal protective equipment should be worn when necessary.

Jester also urges farmers to buy products with as much built-in safety and reliability as possible.

People who devote little attention to safety generally pay for it in the long run, says the extension specialist. He urges farmers to make accident-prevention a management goal, and safety a part of their business.

Peace Corp worker talks to forum

RED LION -- York County's Farmers' Forum has announced that their monthly meeting will be held on Friday, July 28 at Rutters' Family Restaurant in Red Lion.

The Ladies' Nite program will begin with dinner at 7 p.m. Special guest speaker for the evening is Bill Parrish, a former Peace Corp worker who aided in upgrading cattle in the North Africa country of Tunisia. Parrish will relate his work with the Peace Corps through slides and narration.

Foal growth aided by creep feeding

NEWARK, Del. – When a foal is born his sire and dam have passed on to him his basic physical characteristics. However, it is only through proper nutrition, training, and husbandry that he can develop to the fullest extent of his inherited potential, says University of Delaware Extension equine specialist Dr. C. Melvin Reitnour. The feeding program for the first 18 months after a foal is born is of utmost importance.

For rapid growth and greatest skeletal development a foal should be put on creep feed two to three weeks after birth. Most foals will begin eating grain seven to ten days after birth.

A good foal creep feed mix should contain the following ingredients, according to the specialist: Oats, barley or corn; wheat bran; soybean meal or linseed meal.

When a foal is eating approximately two to three pounds of creep feed per day, it's taking a big load off its dam. If he's eating five pounds of creep or more at weaning time, he will hardly know when he has been weaned. Normally this foal will continue to grow and gain without any setback and without losing its bloom.

After weaning it is a good practice to keep on feeding five to six pounds of creep, or 1 to 1.5% of the animal's body weight, along with 1 to 1.5% body weight of a high quality hay.

On a feeding program such as this, a weanling from a good-producing 1000 pound mare will weigh, on the average, between 700 and 800 pounds when it's a year old.

Homemakers' Camp set

LANCASTER — A Homemakers' Camp is set for August 15, 16, and 17, at Camp Swatara, near Bethel. Theme for the three day event is better living. It is sponsored by the Pa. State Extension Service.

Cost of the camp is $18, which includes housing and meals. Days at the camp, it was noted, will include craft and recreation time for those who attend.

Those interested in attending the camp should contact Mrs. John Denninger for reservations. She can be contacted at 28 Greenfield Road, Lancaster, pa. 17602, or phoned at 717-392-5761.

Over the years, one thing about Mol-Mix never changed.

Quality.

From the first day that Mol-Mix® was made, the people at National Molasses made it with quality ingredients because they knew a better-quality supplement would mean more net profit for the cattlemen who used it

Today, instead of decreasing or eliminating these quality ingredients because of shortages and higher costs, Mol-Mix has maintained the same level of quality that has made it the liquid leader

BUFFERED RELEASE IS JUST PART OF OUR QUALITY STORY

Occasionally, somebody finds out about one of our unique features and gets really excited about it For example, our buffered release of urea ammonia, heralded by other supplements as a brand-new innovation, has been in Mol-Mix for years to improve its protein-building efficiency And our performance-proven ingredients, like corn distillers solubles, condensed fermented corn extractives, phosphoric acid, and ammonium polyphosphate, have yet to be included in most other supplements!

Stop in soon We would like to demonstrate the dramatic results that Mol-Mix can bring to your herd in terms of performance and profits We're not talking about something that will only add to your supplement costs we're talking about the bottom line

Susan Heilinger and William Hoffman of the Eastern Lebanon County Chapter of the Future Farmers of America are greeted in Washington D.C. by Rob Hovis (right) of Helena, Ohio, national vice president of the Future Farmers of America Heilinger and Hoffman are attending the week-long National FFA Washington Conference program.

ELCO students attend FFA conference

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Susan Heilinger and William Hoffman of the Eastern Lebanon County FFA Chapter at ELCO High School attended a national FFA leadership conference in Washington D.C., this week. The seven day conference was held at the Olde Colony Motor Lodge and the National FFA Center near the nation's capitol

The FFA conference program is designed to improve leadership skills, develop an understanding of the national heritage, and prepare FFA members for more effective leadership roles in their chapter and community The conference was also a forum for the exchange of FFA chapter activity ideas among members from across the nation

Besides the training sessions, the 1978 program includes visits to Mt Vernon Plantation, the National Archives, Smithsonian Institution, Arlington National Cemetery, and several other historic monuments and memorials in and around the Capitol

A highlight of the conference was a Thursday morning visit to the office of Congressman Robert Walker of the 16th district Participants also attended a Capitol Hill meal featuring a question and answer period with congressmen, and Washington leaders in business and industry.

Miss Heilinger, 15, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Heilinger of Newmanstown. Hoffman is the son of Mr and Mrs Eugene Hoffman, Sr , also of Newmanstown Their vocational agricultural instructor is Gerald Strickler composed of "at least 20 different types of soil."

Michigan experiencing late crops

And, just as it looked like the local farmers were going to have a hard time growing their corn, they also thought their alfalfa wasn't going to turn out a very good crop, either this year.

"The hay looked so bad a month ago–the rain was so short and the weather was so cold–that I went out and bought three fields of hay like a dummie," laughs Nabonzny, " and, now I'm still balin'. The crop was twice as heavy as we expected it to be." Other Michigan farmers echoed Nabonzny's sentiments, and it is generally acknowledged that all farmers in the St. Clair and Sanilac areas have more hay off their first cutting than normal.

Jim Meissner, from Minden City, (Sanilac County) who with his family lives only a short distance from Lake Huron, reported that he began cutting alfalfa May 30 this year and finished June 10. He hopes to cut four times by the end of the season, but he is uncertain how many more times he will actually be able to do so this year. Since the first of June the Meissners had recorded only one inch of rain, and while they were into their second cutting, the alfalfa had budded and leaves were falling off the bottom of the plants. Meissner did have hopes of getting a third cutting before the first of September and of taking a fourth cutting by the middle or end of October.

Art Laupichler from Yale told the group that he has 80 acres of alfalfa.

"Last year we were short on hay," he explained, "so this year we'll have more than we know what to do with."

Laupichler also told a group of Pennsylvanians that, just as in the Commonwealth, straw is going to be "really expensive" this year in Michigan.

Always curious about the price of land, the Pennsylvanians found out that an acre of ground in Sanilac and St. Clair Counties averages from $800 to $1500 an acre, untiled.

As Jim Nabonzny explained it, the land in his area of St. Clair County is hard to drain. Unfortunately, tiling does no good for him.

"There's no ditching around," he stated, " a fellow has to pay for all the ditching which gets really expensive."

Further north into 'the thumb' from Nabonzny, the land gets more expensive because it is flatter, easier to drain, and has more ditches.

Robert Caister, dairy farmer who operates on 1250 acres near Port Huron, stated that he won't buy anything but tiled land.

"It assures you of a crop — sometime along the way you're going to need that tile," he stated. In the Port Huron area land sells for $1000 an acre, untiled.

When questioned on the price of tiling the land, Jim Meissner said he figures the costs to be around $300 per acre, depending on the amount the farmer has to invest for the main. In and around Minden City where Meissner and his family live, the land was selling for $1000 per acres with buildings 18 months ago. There haven't been any recent sales, however, according to this dairy farmer.

Mechanical sow proves valuable research tool

DECATUR, Ind. – While it may never replace the sow in commercial use, a mechanical "Autosow" is proving its work as a research tool at the Master Mix Research Farm, here.

The Autosow, which has been used as a part of the Master Mix research effort since 1976, has already yielded useful information regarding baby pig survival and baby pig growth rates before and after weaning. According to Dr. James Coalson, swine feeds director for Master Mix Research, the Autosow is continuing to provide other valuable pig management information.

Here's how the Autosow system works·

--Pregnant sows are placed in the Autosow farrowing room three to four days prior to farrowing They are thoroughly cleaned twice daily until they farrow

–When the sow nears parturition, she is prepared so that at birth each pig will slide down a chute into a heated box in which it remains until parturition is completed.

–After parturition, each pig is weighed, processed and placed back on the sow to nurse until it gains 40 to 50 grams of weight

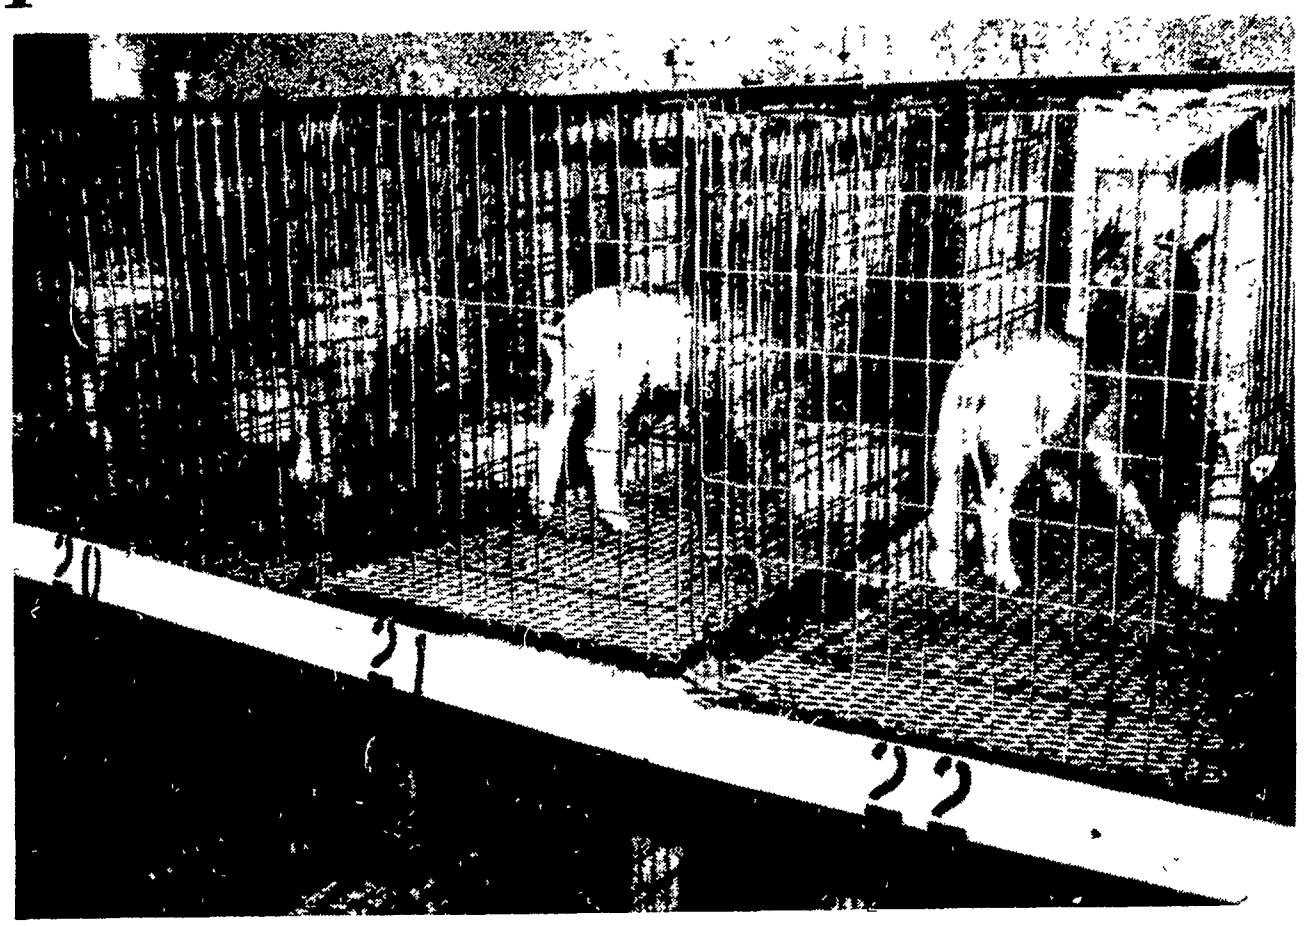
–After each pig has gained weight, it is transferred to the Autosow and fed hourly for 14 days.

The Autosow is a patented automatic feeding device, according to Dr Coalson, which feeds a refrigerated liquid diet to each pig in a sanitary feeding tray After each hourly feeing, the feed trays are automaticallly washed, disinfected and allowed to dry.

"One unique feature of the Autosow is that each pig is fed according to his individual body weight," says Dr. Coalson. "That is, a two-pound pig can be fed 30 per cent of his body weight in one cage and a five-pound pig can be fed 30 per cent of his body weight in the next cage "

After 14 days, the pigs are moved to total slat 'all-in, all-out" nursery systems and weaned to dry feed, he adds.

"One thing the Autosow has proven is that runt pigs can survive as well as larger pigs if they receive adequate colostrum and do not have to compete with larger pigs,"



A unique feature of the Autosow is that each pig is penned individually and fed according to its body weight.

Dr. Coalson says. He cites the high survival rate on the Autosow as evidence

"In one 13-month test, of 492 pigs started, 490 survived to weaning, for a survival rate of 99.6 per cent Those figures included several pigs that weighed 8 80 pounds at birth," Dr. Coalson says

Another important fact When pigs are fed according to individual biological needs, growth rate is exceptional

In the same 13-month study, birth weight averaged 2.41 pounds and weight at 14 days averaged 11.10 pounds, considerably higher than the current 14-day average for pigs nursing a "normal" sow.

The Autosow also proves that large, healthy pigs can be successfully weaned to dry feed at 14 days if they have not been held back by a contaminated environment

Dr. Coalson's research showed that all pigs weighing 12 3 pounds at weaning actually gained weight during the critical 4-day post-weaning period. In contrast, 20 per cent of the pigs weighing 8 8 pounds at weaning lost weight during the first four days post-weaning and 40 per cent of those pigs weighing 7 0 pounds at weaning lost weight during the post-weaning period.

"The Autosow is currently only a research tool, but it offers tremendous opportunity for the future as we strive to increase the number of pigs marketed per sow per year," Dr Coalson says

"In addition t the pig performance data, we have already collected important data on the value of dry feed intake prior to weaning We have also conducted tests to determine the effectiveness of different viral vaccines for baby pigs

"In the future we will conduct tests on absorption of trace elements and investigate certain disease interactions such as the transmission of certain bacteria from the sow to the pig during the early hours of nursing," Dr Coalson sates.

Chester Countians on state reporters team

WEST CHESTER – Edward Kulp of Pottstown and Lee Ann DuMars of Phoenixville have been selected as two out of 62 Pennsylvania young adults to serve on a State 4-H Reporters Team, it was announced by Dr William Lindley, assistant professor of agricultural education at The Pennsylvania State University.

Members of the group recently received special communications training on the Penn State Campus and will serve as 4-H ambassadors to promote the educational youth program

"Their activities will help the public more fully understand the 4-H program, an integral part of the Penn State College of Agriculture," Dr Lindley notes.

Team members will be available to talk to organizations at local, regional, and state levels, including 4-H clubs, College of Agriculture alumni groups, legislators, and church and school functions. They also may make personal appearances at conventions and other large meetings.

Edward Kulp has been a 4-H member with the Tri-Community 4-H Club for eight years and is presently enrolled in dairy and gun projects.

Lee Ann DuMars, also with the Tri-Community 4-H club, is presently enrolled in veterinary science, horse, and teen leadership projects

For more information on 4-H, call the Cooperative Extension Service at 215-696-3500

Edward Kulp and Lee Ann DuMars of the Chester County 4-H Clubs recently completed special training in communications at The Pennsylvania State University as a member of the 4-H Reporters team, where they receive completion certificates from Dr. Thomas. B. King, Penn State associate dean for Extension.

Here's the "difference" you look for in smaller Case tractors

case

Economical all round workhorse. Almost any farm, large or small, can find a niche for this versatile 43 pto hp tractor With three models, there's one to fit a general farm, truck farm, orchard or grove

Standard 885 row crop. Has 48-72 inch adjustable front tread, 56-76 inch adjustable rear tread to fit almost any row spacing Power adjustable rear wheels are optional The 885 is also available in special narrow and narrow-low models for specialized needs The low model stands just 45 inches high with air cleaner and muffler underhood

164-cube, 3-cylinder diesel. This 43 hp engine and 12-speed synchromesh transmission give you power and speeds to match any job or soil Differential lock keeps you moving in slippery going You get multi-speed live pto, selectamatic hydraulics and hydrostatic steering

53 pto* hp Case 990

Case's most popular low profile tractor. The Case 990 sailed through official drawbar tests and came out tops in its class 4 cylinder Case diesel provides big 3-plow power in the field, plus fast loading power in the barnyard

Synchromesh for fast loading. First and reverse gears directly opposite each other to provide snappy shifting action Mount a sturdy loader on the 53 pto hp Case 990, and you're ready to attack any Goliath-sized silage pit or manure pile!

Versatile multi-speed pto power. The 990 gives you live pto power controlled by a 3-stage traction clutch You can stop forward motion of the tractor without interfering with pto power (1000 rpm pto also available on the 540 pto shaft)

58 pto* hp Case 995

Tough compact power for field or yard In official drawbar tests the 995 pulled 12% more than the average of its class

Low official fuel consumption. This 219-cube, 4-cylinder diesel came through with just 2 24 gph in the average of varying pto power tests

Independent multi-speed pto. Like the 1210, the 995 has a hand controlled, completely independent pto You get a 540 pto speed at 1800 engine rpm, and 540 at 1100 engine speed There's a 1000 pto on the 540 shaft at 2000 engine rpm You can't beat a Case 995 for power, versatility and economy It's a real fuel miser for powering elevator, mower, rake or sprayer.

Flower show unveiled

FLEMINGTON, N.J. – The Rutgers Flower-Vegetable Open House will be held on Saturday, July 29, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the Cook College Campus off Ryders Lane in New Brunswick.

The Rutgers display includes Impatiens Futura Coral, Futura White, Elfin Orange, Elfin White, Minette Scarlet, Minette White, Ripple Rose, Grandi Coral, Twinkle and Tangeglow. Tangeglow is a bright orange impatiens not seen too often.

Five begonia varieties are featured in both shade and sun to compare growth and flowering habits under these summer conditions. One garden features a combination of pink Linda, white Viva and a taller Glamour Pink. Nubia and Ambra Scarlet begonias are planted in both sun and shade. The featured attraction in the begonia area is the variety Scarletta planted to form the letter "C" for Cook College and surrounded by gray-green santolina, a foliage annual.

Other colorful annuals for shade in the Rutgers garden are coleus Carefree Jade and Color Pride, pansy Imperial Orange and Imperial Blue, dianthus Pink Charm, and snapdragon Pink Sprite and Yellow Sprite

Research that is underway at the Vegetable Research Farm, plant clinics and illustrated talks in the Log Cabin are among the activities included during the Open House

A leaflet which includes directions and a map is available from the Hunterdon County Extension Service, 788-1338.

Cecil Co. Fair features rodeo, demolition derby

COLORA, Md – The Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association sanctioned All-American Rodeo and an expanded Demolition Derby will be two highlights of this year's Cecil County Fair, July 31 to Agust 5

Several changes are planned in an effort to have more seating capacity and smoother traffic flow.

On Monday, in a reversal from last year's program, the Farm Queen Contest will be held from 7 to 8 p.m followed by the small tractor and 4-wheel drive tractor pull, including a 4-wheel drive pickup class

Tuesday will bring the traditional large tractor pull, with an additional $300 in prize money for Cecil County pullers Two rule changes will be in effect this year One for field stock classes states that RPM's must not exceed factory standards. Tractors will be checked For modified tractors - all tractors must comply with Pa Pulling Rules If one wants more tractor pull information call Bill Haines 301-658-5846

On Wednesday, prior to the Rodeo, the first Cecil County 4-H Livestock Sale will be held It will feature, for auction sale, livestock projects raised by 4-H members in this project year

Thursday will again be Youth Day, with the evening entertainment for the whole family featuring Bob Gallion and Patti Powell plus the gospel singing Faith Quartet

Another switch has been planned for Friday The English horse and pony show will start at 8 a m Friday instead of Saturday with the Western horse and pony show starting at 8 a m on Saturday. Friday evening will also feature a Battle of the Bands with $500 in prize money being offered The battle will be for local rock groups If one is interested in playing contact Margie Jewell 301-398-1922

The Demo Derby has been moved to Saturday with two shows, one at 2 30 p m and one at 8 p m. It may be possible to have a Powder Puff Derby, but at least eight entries are needed in order to hold one For Demo entry blanks one can contact George Underwood at 398-1541

Oscar's Amusements will be back with several new rides including a giant slide

Several changes have been made in admission prices, but due to a printing error were not changed in this year's fair book All children under 12 years will be admitted free, as will 4-H and FFA members with membership cards Senior citizens will pay $ 50 a day or $2 for a week's pass A regular week's pass will sell, in advance for $4, or $5 after 4 p m on Monday A $1 admission will be charged Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday A $2 admission will be charged Wednesday and Saturday Week passes can be obtained from persons listed above

In addition to all of these changes, the outside exhibits are being rearranged for a more uniform display

Due to the extremely crowded conditions on Saturday night, all exhibits cannot be removed until 1 p m on Sunday

All these changes are planned in an effort to make this year's Cecil County Fair the most exciting and pleasant event for families in 1978

Women Jurors

The first colonial jury composed entirely of women convened in September 1656 at Patuxent Maryland ' Seven married women combined with four single ladies to find Judith Catchpole innocent of the charge she had murdered her child

Cecil County's first professional rodeo is encouraging contestants from adjacent counties as well as the local area to enter the Aug. 2 rodeo at the Cecil County Fairgrounds.

The rodeo will have six categories: saddle bronc, bareback and bull riding, calf roping, steer wrestling, and girl's barrel racing.

It is necessary for local contestants to enter prior to rodeo day and for all other contestants to be PRCA members. Deadline for entering is July 27.

Phyllis Kilby of Colora, Md. will be handling the local entries. She can be contacted at (301) 658-6186.

Ladies Have You Heard?

By Doris Thomas

Lancaster Home Economist

IT'S WATERMELON TIME!

When we think of lazy Summer days, cool refreshing watermelon comes to mind. Eaten by the slice or combined in fruit salads with other Summer favorites, it is the perfect ending for a Summer meal or a delicious snack for any time of the day. And now they are in strong supply in produce markets, so this is a good time to buy and buy often.

Planning a barbecue or other Summer party? Why not dazzle your guests with a dessert that looks as spectacular as it tastes? Early in the day, or on the preceding day, carve a large watermelon into a basket shape with a sharp knife. Scoop out balls with a ball cutter and place in a large bowl. Add pieces of as many other fruits as you like: other melons, peaches, strawberries, blueberries, raspberries, apricots, or nectarines. Scrape the watermelon shell until smooth and chill Add a little sugar to the bowl of fruit and chill it too. When ready to serve pile the fruits into the shell.

If you are feeling ambitious, use a watermelon rind to make pickled rinds, a delicious condiment for ham or poultry meals any time of the year or as a side dish when you are serving cold cuts and potato salad for dinner. And, the next time you are baking a ham, make a pleasant, pungent glaze from the juice of the pickled rinds by basting the ham with the syrup while baking.

Use your imagination and you will probably think of other uses for this delicious fruit.

CHECK VINEGAR LABELS CAREFULLY FOR ACIDITY WHEN MAKING PICKLES

Vinegar is vinegar. That's a wrong assumption many customers make When making pickles at home that assumption could lead to problems.

Homemade pickle products generate the most problems for the home canners. Some of these problems can be avoided from the start by choosing the recommended five per cent acidity strength of vinegar.

Next time you are buying vinegar, take time to read the labels – including the fine print. Vinegar is sold in different strengths of acidity – from four to six per cent; as white or regular vinegar; and in various sized containers and under "store" or nationally known labels.

Only a five per cent acidity vinegar is recommended by food scientists for making safe pickle products at home. White vinegar is the best to use in some recipes because it does not discolor light colored foods, such as pickled onions and some fruits.

With only two criteria for choosing vinegar for making pickles, it seems that choosing the right product should be an easy task. But you should be aware of the different acidity levels in vinegar sold and why.

Some vinegar processors and stores make a four per cent acidity vinegar available at lower cost – sometimes called "table vinegar" because it is suitable for other cooking uses. More recently, so-called salad vinegar having only three per-cent acidity is available in some food retail markets.

Price-conscious consumers used to comparing between nationally known and store brands or small versus large containers could be misled into buying a less expensive product but one which is not recommended for safe homemade pickles.

Read the labels carefully. The acidity strength usually appears in fine print. Do check prices and get the best buy, but be aware that the five per cent acidity strength of vinegar recommended for homemade pickles may cost you more money. However, the few pennies you'll spend will be worth it in a quality pickle product.

10 state delegates named to attend A.I.C. convention

UNIVERSITY PARK – Ten Pennsylvania young adults, who last week served as delegates to the Pennsylvania Association of Farmer Cooperatives Summer Youth Institute at Shippensburg State College, have been named to attend the annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation at Montana State University from July 30 to August 3.

Those named are Joseph Lehan, of Drums R1; Russell Redding, of Hilltown Road, Gettysburg; Maxine Messner, of 58 Meadow View Drive, Leola; Tony Eberly, of Denver R2; and David Sammons, of 21 Spring Lane, New Castle.

Eugene Weisbrod, of Lopez R1; Janet Latshaw, of 510 South Wall Street, Spring City; Roger Davidheiser, of Pottstown R2; Jeffrey DeLong, of Peach Bottom R2; and Nancy Yorlets, of Mechanicsburg R5.

Their selections climaxed the four-day institute in which 250 rural boys and girls participated in PAFC's youth education program.

Harold F. Doran, coordinator of farmer cooperative business programs at The Pennsylvania State University and institute consultant, said the 10 will receive expense-paid trips to the Montana State University convention.

They were chosen on the basis of a report covering local activities, a quiz on cooperative business functions, and participation in events at the institute.

At the Montana convention, the delegates will take part in various programs to increase their knowledge of farmer cooperatives and agribusiness. They will join with 900 young agricultural leaders from all parts of the United States, Canada, and Puerto Rico

Maxine Messner, Tony Eberly, and Jeffrey DeLong are representatives of the Lancaster Cooperative Council DeLong's trip is sponsored by Inter-State Milk Producers Cooperative. Nancy Yorlets is a representative of the Cumberland-Perry Cooperative Council and her trip is also being sponsored by Inter-State Milk Producers Cooperative

Joseph Lehan is a delegate of the Tri-County Cooperative Council; Russell Redding, the Adams-Franklin-York Cooperative Council; and David Sammons, the Blazing Star Cooperative Council.

Eugene Weisbrod is a representative of the Sulbra Cooperative Council; and Janet Latshaw and Roger Davidheiser, the Chester-Delaware Cooperative Council.

The PAFC youth institute was sponsored jointly by PAFC, local cooperative councils, and the Penn State College of Agriculture.

Grain reserve figures cited

WASHINGTON, D.C. – There were 542,017,622 bushels of feed grain and wheat in the grain reserve as of July 7, according to Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS). As of that date, the reserve held 25,255,464 bushels of barley, 107,767,075 bushels of corn, 27,971,776 bushels of oats, 15,685,229 bushels of sorghum (8,783,728 hundredweight), and 365,338,078 bushels of wheat.

The figures cited by administrator Fitzgerald were based on a telephone survey by ASCS.

The grain reserve takes wheat and other grains off the market for a period of up to three years, or until market prices reach stated levels.

At the same time Fitzgerald announced the telephone survey results, ASCS released its regular weekly price support loan activity report. The report includes figures on grains in the farmer-owned reserve and other data. The data in the weekly report lags behind the figures reported this week by the administrator because of the time taken to mail the data for the weekly report to Kansas City for processing.

More information on the regular weekly report by state and by farm and warehouse storage is avilable in the north lobby of USDA's Kansas City Commodity office, 2400 West 75th St, Prairie Village, Kan, and the Production Adjustment division in USDA's South building, here

Japanese beetles soon to reach peak

HARRISBURG -- Japanese beetle problems will reach a peak during the remainder of July and early August, and State Agriculture Secretary Kent Shelhamer is advising homeowners to prevent serious damage to their ornamental plants and gardens by application of several insecticides registered for use against the pest

Shelhamer said that carbaryl (Sevin), malathion, and methoxychlor can be used at intervals, perhaps weekly on susceptible plants He urged anyone using these insecticides to first read the label carefully and then follow all directions and precautions listed

According to Shelhamer, adults of the Japanese beetle have begun to emerge from the soil Upon emerging, the beetles feed on the leaves of numerous plants, with the foliage of roses and grapes as a prime target

Eventually, the beetles may move to nearly all kinds of plants where they feed on tissue between the veins, giving the leaves a skeletonized appearance. The coppery-green adult beetles are known to feed on more than 200 kinds of plants including many of our popular trees and shrubs. Shelhamer noted that at a distance, damaged foliage may look scorched.

The Japanese beetle, according to entomologists of the Department's Bureau of Plant Industry, is not native to North America. It was accidentally introduced into the country, first being detected in New Jersey in 1916 Since then it has spread nearly throughout the states east of the Mississippi River and scattered locations in our western states

Shelhamer said the Japanese beetle has a single generation in Pennsylvania Eggs laid in the soil hatch into white c-shaped grubs that feed on the roots of grasses In heavy festations, bare spots may appear in lawns Partly grown grubs overwinter below the frost line and resume feeding in the Spring. Pupation occurs in the soil, and the adults begin to emerge during late June in southern counties.

Japanese beetles have become a serious problem Due to federal and state quarantines, the movement of plant material from Pennsylvania, which could harbor the beetle, is restricted west of Ohio and south of North Carolina.

N.J. dairy goat assn. lists coming events

STOCKTON, N.J. – The Garden State Dairy Goat Association held its annual picnic on July 10 at the Hedgerow Dairy Goat Farm owned by the William Hartman Family of Stockton, N.J Fifty-three members and guests attended from all parts of new Jersey as well as Pennsylvania and Massachusetts

Paul Lawrence of Sussex, N.J., revealed his plans to open a milk processing plant this Fall. It will be the only plant of its kind presently in the state. Any persons raising dairy goats who hold a commercial license or are interested in obtaining one should contact Lawrence at R3, Box 177, Sussex, N.J. 07461.

Dr. John Meade, weed control specialist, Rutgers University, spoke on poisonous plants which pose a danger to goat breeders in the state. His talk was illustrated by actual specimens which he had gathered locally.

The GSDGA is compiling a questionnaire for dairy goat owners in the state. Anyone wishing to participate should contact Paul Lawrence or Anna M. Hartman.

The next open doe show sponsored by GSDGA and ADGA sanctioned will be held at the Augusta, N.J. showgrounds on August 6. Entries must be received by July 29. Judge will be Sam Whiteside, Bristol, Vt. September 10 is the date of the open doe show at the Trenton Fair with Wes Nordfelt, Ripon, Calif., judging. Information and entry blanks for both shows may be obtained by contacting Anna M. Hartman, R.D. 1, Box 486-G, Stockton, N.J. 08559.

Conservationists tour area farms

HARRISBURG – A group of agricultural and conservation representatives from Dauphin County recently participated in a tour of conservation practices in Dauphin and Lancaster Counties. Highlights of the tour included cropland terrace systems observed at the David Coble farm in Dauphin County and the Melvin Charles farm in Lancaster County.

Installation of the cropland terrace system at the David Coble Farm began this Spring. Approximately 2500 feet of underground drainage ranging from four inches to eight inches in diameter was installed in May. Actual terrace construction will be completed in the next several years. Completion of this system will allow for growing of continuous corn on sloping land while reducing erosion to acceptable levels.

A completed terrace system was observed at the Melvin Charles farm. This system was completed in the Spring Approximately 7800 feet of terrace with tile outlets were installed. Through the use of these terraces, entire fields were planted in corn with very little erosion occuring.

Also included in the tour was a newly installed manure management system at the Dale and Ray Kennedy Farm near Middletown. This system includes an earthen pond for manure storage in conjunction with a new dairy barn for a 150 cow herd. Also, several diversions have been installed to protect the area from surface water during periods of heavy rainfall.

Participating in the tour were Lynn Henninger of Berrysburg, chairman of the Dauphin County ASCS Committee; John Cassel of Hershey, vice-chairman of the committee; and Eugene Sweigard of Halifax, member. Representatives of the Dauphin County Conservation District and the Soil Conservation Service were also involved.

For further information on cropland terrace systems or manure management contact the Dauphin County Office of the Soil Conservation Service at 717-652-7035.

YORK--The Jefferson Community 4-H Club held a meeting on July 11 at the home of Michele and Brian Bankert. A livestock judging contest was held with the following winners: 1. Charla Janney, 2. Jon Janney, 3. Karen Dearmin, 4. Christine Shive, 5. Tracy Jo Tracy, 6. Ted Miller, 7. Dana Doll, 8. Michele Trimmer.

Following the judging a business meeting was held. The group will take a trip to Landis Valley, Lancaster County, on July 26. Anyone planning to attend was asked to notify club leaders and to have the 4-H insurance paid by or on the day of the trip. The club is also planning a sub sale in August.

Special guest for the meeting was Thomas Chien, 4-H Extension specialist in Taiwan.

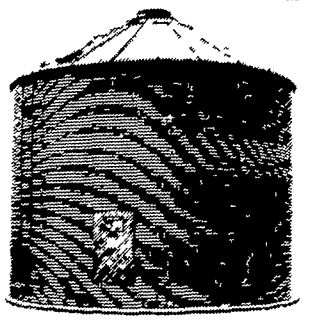
WHAT'S NEW



Grain Storage Bin

Baughman-Oster, Inc., Taylorville, Ill, has introduced a new line of farm grain storage bins. The new bins have been developed to meet the needs of farmers looking for premium materials and features for on-the-farm grain storage.

The new line includes sizes for just about any operation. Diameters range from 15 to 48 feet. Peaked capacities from 2,000 to 44,500 bushels are available.

Baughman Farm Grain Storage Bins are constructed of high-tensile-strength galvanized steel Heavy-gauge walls are assembled with Grade-8, high-carbon-alloy bolts using a maximum-strength hill-and-valley bolting pattern The new bins can be adapted for drying with Baughman foundation rings, channel lock perforated drying floors and steel floor supports. Stirring devices are also available.

Farm grain storage bins also feature the new Baughman high-strength roof made of one-piece panels· 20-gauge on bins 24 feet in diameter and larger; 22-gauge on smaller bins. A new shouldered-box rib design strengthens the roof. A truss system is standard on all bins 33 feet in diameter and larger. All bins 21 feet in diameter and larger are equipped with a big 36 inch center cap.

All Baughman farm grain storage bins also include a roof hatch, a roof ladder, and a Dutch door; a two-ring with auger opening is standard on bins under 10 rings in height; a one-ring door is standard on 10 ring bins.

For further information on the new farm grain storage bins, contact Al Wiegers, Baughman-Oster, Inc., Route 48 West, Taylorville, Ill. 62568, Phone 217/824-3305.

Ladies Day Out

been involved with farming, 4-H or FFA, and strongly promoted agriculture and its products.

Another topic of extreme interest was presented by Helen Moyer, astrologist. Mrs. Moyer warned her audience not to lean very heavily on astrology as a religion, but believes it has some value, explaining that she wouldn't have dwelled on it for so many years otherwise. The astrologist discussed all twelve signs of the zodiac, pointing out the major characteristics of each

Also addressing the gathering were William Myers, president of the Berks County Farmers Association, James Haldeman, Berks County Extension Agent, and State Chairladies, Mrs. Nellie Crawford, Mrs. Alice Adams, Mrs. June Burgert, and Mrs. Helen Wivell.

Cumberland Co. 4-H'ers to go to State Days competition

CARLISLE – Ten Cumberland County 4-H demonstrators competed recently at an eight county regional contest trying to qualify for the State 4-H Achievement Days to be held at Penn State University August 7, 8, and 9. Eight of the members qualified for the state contest Those individuals are Shirley Coyle, Douglas Fenton, Karen Kuntz, Brenda Negley, Donna Snyder, and Peggy Wentz, all of the Carlisle area; Edith Hemminger, Newville; and Alane Hunter, Mechanicsburg Tanyia Painter, Carlisle; and Colleen McGillvray, Newville were also contestants at the regional competition

4-H members in a junior division also presented their demonstrations but are not eligible for state competition because of their age Junior 4-H competitors were Sue Coyle, Kathleen Gaisler, Robin Snyder, Andrea Gutshall, Becky Wolf, all of Carlisle; and Dede King of Mechanicsburg

Any youth between the ages of 8 and 19 are invited to join 4-H Club activities. Information about the 4-H program can be gotten by visiting the Extension Office, 1100 Claremont Road, Carlisle, or calling 717-249-7220 or 717-697-0371.

Reduce tillage catching on

BLOOMINGTON, Ill – An eight-year study of more than 35,000 high yield corn growers indicates a continuation of the trend towards reduced tillage operations that began in the late 60's and early 70's

This information, released by the producers of Funk's G-Hybrids, was derived from data compiled in Project 200, Funk's nationwide corn growing program

Since the program began, many farmers have left the plow and turned to alternative methods of seedbed preparation

In 1970, 21 per cent of the program participants did not plow In 1977, 39 per cent did not plow, an 85 per cent increase in the number of farmers who have turned to minimum tillage practices

Dr Bill Craig, Funk s technical services manager, says that increasing production costs were largely responsible for the move to minimum tillage when it began

"However, conservation is becoming a bigger factor," Dr Craig says, adding, "There is good data available to indicate that farmers are doing a good job of conserving the soil"

Chisel plowing has become the most popular method of minimum tillage Last year 29 per cent said they chisel plowed compared to just seven per cent in 1970

Allis-Chalmers wins two at Buck

THE BUCK — Two Allis-Chalmers Model 180 tractors and an A-C D-21 showed their power at the Buck Tractor pulls last week. The A-C D-21, driven by Marlin Brubaker of Quarryville, won the 7000 pound super stock class, while the two 180 models took the first two places in the 5000 pound super stock class. Dale Smoker of Cochranville piloted the winning tractor for a full pull of 300 feet, edging runner-up Jim Brubaker of Quarryville by a distance of just over six feet

Rounding out the 5000 pound super stock class was Coleman Wheatley of Bethel, Del., who drove his John Deere 4010 for 285 feet, eight inches.

In the 7000 pound super stock class, Brubaker's D-21 outperformed Tony Stauffer's Deutz 9006 and Don Thomas' John Deere 4020. Stauffer, who hails from Ephrata, drove his machine for 267-9, while Thomas, from Boonesboro, Md., was stopped at 266-6.

In the 7000 pound modified class, Curt Stoltz of Myerstown registred a full pull. Placing second was Greg Manners of Ringoes, N.J. and Dick Zimmerman of Mt. Joy was third. Their respective disfances were 298-5 and 294-5

The sled stopped Eddie Horman of Frederick, Md. at 297 feet in the 9000 pound super stock class. He was aboard an IH 1466. Tony Stauffer was second with his Deutz, pulling for a disance of 273-5. The third position was taken by Don Thomas at 272-2.

In the 9000 pound open category, Galen Spickler of Elizabethtown charged for a full pull with his Allison-powered machine. Two 440 cubic inch Dodge engines brought Greg Manners of Ringoes to 293-8 and a second place. Elwood Flowers of Manheim was third at 289-7 with his 454 Chevy.

Gary Mills of Fallston, Md. was the winner in the 5000 pound modified class, keeping the sled in tow for 270-4. Gene Spickler of Elizabethtown placed second at 267-1 and Charles Brommer of Columbia was third at 258-11.

In the 12,000 pound class, Harry Griest of Coatesville piloted his IH 1456 for a winning distance of 271-1. Galen Spickler and his Allison were second at 266-8 and Don Thomas skidded in for a third place aboard his John Deere.

Del. farmers market considered

NEWARK, Del. – Direct farmer-to-consumer marketing is receiving more and more interest in many areas. In looking for ways to keep down food costs, both producers and consumers are discovering the advantages of direct marketing Roadside stands, pick-your-own operations, and farmers' markets all enable farmers to receive higher prices for their produce while allowing consumers to buy fresher produce at lower than retail prices.

While there are already numerous pick-your-own operations and roadside stands in Delaware, there are few farmers' markets - especially farmers' markets which sell nothing but produce. University of Delaware direct marketing assistant Mary Deckers feels that such a farmers' market could lend a country atmosphere - and perhaps even provide a novel form of recreation - to some suburban location in the state.

The Cooperative Extension Service at the University of Delaware is conducting a feasibility study on the possibility of establishing an open-air farmers' market for the 1979 season. Growers who are interested in the project or who desire more information should contact Mary Deckers at 230 Agricultural Hall, University of Delaware, Newark, 19711, or phone 302-738-2511.

Del. Field Day Aug. 4

NEWARK, Del. – Farmers will have a chance to look at current research and Extension efforts into improving the production of corn and soybeans at the upcoming Field Day at the University of Delaware's College of Agricultural Sciences The event will be held Friday morning, August 4, from 9:30 a.m. to noon at the University's experimental farm on Route 896 in Newark

The Field Day will consist of wagon tours of field demonstration plots, and will emphasize some of the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station's most recent and innovative research efforts on behalf of corn, soybean, and turfgrass production in the state. Researchers and Extension personnel will be on hand to discuss their work as well as to lead the tours of the experimental plots.
